Security Analysis Report: Indonesia (October 25 - November 01, 2026)

Executive Summary

Indonesia experienced a dynamic security landscape between October 25 and November 01, 2026, marked by significant domestic unrest and active international defense engagements. Widespread protests erupted across several cities, driven by public dissatisfaction with the government's handling of forest fires and broader policies, leading to substantial security deployments and some clashes. Concurrently, Indonesia deepened its military cooperation through joint exercises with China ("Sharp Knife 2026") and India ("Garud Shakti 2026"), while also forging a new four-nation defense pact with Turkey, Qatar, and Pakistan. A landmark Constitutional Court ruling mandated civilian trials for military personnel accused of crimes against civilians, signaling a significant shift in defense policy. Cybersecurity remained a prominent concern, addressed through a major conference and ongoing legislative efforts, amidst reports of unverified data exposure claims.

Key Security Developments

- Widespread Protests and Civil Unrest

From October 20-24, 2026, coordinated student and civil-society protests demanding the forest-and-land-fire crisis be declared a national disaster occurred in at least nine major cities, including Jakarta, Bandung, Jambi, Pontianak, and Gorontalo. Security forces deployed approximately 9,500 officers in Jakarta alone, using tear gas, water cannons, and batons against demonstrators, with isolated reports of property damage and vehicle attacks. These demonstrations continued through late October, reflecting public criticism of President Prabowo Subianto's government's response to the environmental crisis and other policies. The trajectory indicates sustained civil unrest, anchored to accountability for fire response and government performance.

- Joint Counter-Terrorism Exercise with China ("Sharp Knife 2026")

China and Indonesia commenced the "Sharp Knife 2026" joint military training in Guangdong Province, China, from late October to early November 2026. This third iteration of the joint training series focuses on mountain counter-terrorism rescue operations, incorporating techniques such as mountain climbing, vehicle driving, helicopter rappelling, close-quarters assault drills, and manned-unmanned coordination exercises. The exercise aims to deepen cooperation and improve combined operational capabilities in response to modern security threats.

- Joint Special Forces Exercise with India ("Garud Shakti 2026")

The India-Indonesia Joint Special Forces Exercise "Garud Shakti 2026" began in Banyuwangi, Indonesia, and is scheduled to run until November 6. The training involves special forces from both nations in jungle warfare operations, focusing on combat tracking, drone surveillance for reconnaissance and situational awareness, obstacle crossing, combat marksmanship, mountaineering, and air assault training. This exercise strengthens mutual understanding, cooperation, and interoperability between the special forces of India and Indonesia.

- New Four-Nation Defense Pact (Badr MOU)

On October 27, 2026, Indonesia signed the Badr Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) in Doha with Turkey, Qatar, and Pakistan. This agreement outlines a framework for defense "cooperation and integration" across joint research and development, training exchanges, and industrial capability building. Analysts view this pact as a logical step for Indonesia to gain critical defense technology, investment, and export opportunities, aligning with its goals to diversify defense partnerships and increase domestic production capabilities.

- Constitutional Court Ruling on Military Justice

On October 15, 2026, Indonesia's Constitutional Court unanimously ruled that the 1997 Military Justice Law is conditionally unconstitutional, giving the government a two-year deadline (until October 2028) to amend it. This landmark decision recognizes that military courts are not capable of impartially trying crimes against civilians and mandates that military personnel accused of such crimes can be tried in civilian courts. This ruling is a significant step towards ensuring accountability for abuses by security forces and professionalizing the Indonesian military.

- Cybersecurity Conference (AICX 2026)

Indonesia hosted AICX 2026 in Bali on October 29, 2026, as part of Bali Tech Week. The conference, co-hosted by ITSEC Asia and Indonesia's Ministry of Communication and Digital Affairs, focused on "AI, Cyber & Quantum: Indonesia's Next Chapter," addressing digital sovereignty, cyber resilience, and the impact of emerging technologies on public institutions and businesses. Discussions emphasized the need for sustained investment in people, infrastructure, and technology, and closer collaboration between government, industry, academia, and civil society to strengthen Indonesia's digital talent pool and cyber resilience.

- Unverified Cyber Threat Claims

A weekly cyber threat newsletter covering October 12-18, 2026, highlighted continued risks of China-linked cyber-espionage activity in Southeast Asia, though no new APT attacks against Indonesia were confirmed during the reporting period. The report also noted unverified leak-site listings claiming data exposure involving Indonesian coastal shipping, port agency, logistics operations, a banking customer database, and sensitive public assistance and pharmaceutical records. These claims, if genuine, could increase risks of identity theft, phishing, fraud, and misuse of personal information.

- Maritime Safety Inspections for Year-End Holidays

Indonesia's Transportation Ministry announced that it would inspect 2,140 vessels from November 1 to 30, 2026, ahead of the Christmas and New Year holiday period. These inspections cover vessel safety, pollution prevention, crew qualifications, cargo loading, and safety equipment across various types of ships, including passenger, Ro-Ro, traditional, and tourist vessels. The initiative aims to ensure maritime safety and readiness, particularly on routes expected to experience heavy traffic.

- Diplomatic Engagements with Singapore

On October 29, 2026, Singapore's Foreign Minister Balakrishnan met with newly appointed Indonesian Foreign Minister Arrmanatha Nasir in Jakarta. Both ministers reaffirmed the strength of bilateral relations and stressed the importance of open dialogue and mutual respect. They also agreed to build on the outcomes of the Singapore-Indonesia Leaders' Retreat in July, which included 26 agreements spanning economic, energy, defense, digital, and environmental cooperation.

- Illegal Gold Export Foiled

Throughout October 2026, the Directorate General of Customs and Excise (DJBC) at the Finance Ministry foiled attempts to illegally export 25.88 kilograms of gold, valued at Rp61.95 billion. The seizures were made at five international airports: Soekarno-Hatta (Tangerang), Juanda (East Java), Yogyakarta International Airport (YIA), I Gusti Ngurah Rai (Bali), and Kertajati (West Java). This highlights ongoing efforts to combat illicit financial flows and border security challenges.

- Chinese Rocket Debris Incident

On October 19, 2026, a car-sized charred object, suspected to be Chinese rocket debris, impacted an oil-palm plantation near populated areas in East Kotawaringin, Central Kalimantan. No casualties or damage were reported. This incident raises concerns about space debris management and potential risks to populated areas.

Geopolitical Impact and Regional Dynamics

Indonesia's security developments during this period underscore its active and balancing role in regional and global geopolitics. The joint military exercises with both China ("Sharp Knife 2026") and India ("Garud Shakti 2026") demonstrate Indonesia's commitment to diversifying its defense partnerships and enhancing interoperability with various powers, rather than aligning exclusively with one bloc. This aligns with Indonesia's long-standing "free and active" foreign policy, which seeks to avoid involvement in major power conflicts while playing a significant regional role. The "Sharp Knife 2026" exercise with China, focusing on counter-terrorism, highlights a pragmatic approach to security cooperation with Beijing, despite underlying tensions in areas like the North Natuna Sea.

The new Badr defense pact with Turkey, Qatar, and Pakistan represents a strategic move to broaden Indonesia's defense industry base and access technology from non-traditional partners. This diversification reduces reliance on any single supplier and enhances Indonesia's self-reliance in defense manufacturing, a key objective of its modernization programs. Such initiatives contribute to Indonesia's ambition to become a "global maritime fulcrum" by strengthening its defense capabilities and influence in the Indo-Pacific. The ongoing diplomatic engagements with Singapore, including discussions on defense cooperation, further solidify regional stability within ASEAN.

However, the postponement of the D-8 Summit to 2027 due to escalating Middle East tensions indicates how broader global instability can impact Indonesia's diplomatic agenda, even as it maintains its chairmanship momentum. The persistent geopolitical rivalry in the North Natuna Sea, with China's continued claims and vessel activity, remains a critical flashpoint for Indonesia's maritime sovereignty and regional stability. Indonesia's ability to navigate these complex relationships while addressing domestic challenges like civil unrest and economic pressures will be crucial for its continued influence and the broader strategic landscape of Southeast Asia.

Military and Defense Analysis

Indonesia's military and defense posture during this period reflects a sustained commitment to modernization and capability development, guided by its Perisai Trisula Nusantara (PTN) doctrine. The ongoing acquisition of advanced primary weapons systems (alutsista) from diverse international suppliers, including Rafale fighter aircraft from France, KAAN fighters from Turkey, and various naval assets, underscores a strategy to build a robust and self-reliant defense system. While significant progress has been made in procurement, a report from October 13, 2026, indicated that PTN fulfillment has risen only 1 percentage point since 2021, and current systems reach only 27% of the Minimum Essential Force (MEF) phase III targets that were supposed to be achieved by 2024. This suggests that despite increased defense spending, there are still gaps in translating acquisitions into fully realized force structure requirements.

Defense spending for 2026 was allocated at Rp 337 trillion, with the Defense Ministry's ceiling at Rp 187.1 trillion, including approximately Rp 83 trillion designated for weapons upgrades. This substantial investment aims to enhance capabilities across all branches of the Indonesian National Armed Forces (TNI), including the Army, Navy, and Air Force, with a focus on areas like surface combatants, submarines, naval aviation, and marine armor where shortfalls persist. The establishment of new TNI units, including six Regional Military Commands (Kodam) and numerous Territorial Development Battalions, as inaugurated by President Prabowo Subianto on October 5, 2026, indicates an effort to strengthen territorial development and internal security.

The joint exercises, such as "Sharp Knife 2026" and "Garud Shakti 2026," are vital for improving tactical response, refining counter-terrorism techniques, and enhancing interoperability with partner nations. These drills, alongside the upcoming Indo Defence Expo & Forum in November 2026, serve as platforms for technology transfer, industrial collaboration, and international partnerships, which are crucial for advancing Indonesia's domestic defense industry. The new defense pact with Turkey, Qatar, and Pakistan further supports these goals by fostering joint research and development and industrial capability building. The Constitutional Court's ruling on military justice, while impacting internal accountability, is also a step towards building a more professional and credible military institution.

Outlook and Forecast

Short-term trends (1-3 months):

In the immediate future, Indonesia is likely to continue experiencing civil unrest, particularly related to environmental issues like forest fires and public dissatisfaction with government policies. Security forces will remain on high alert, especially in major cities and fire-affected regions, leading to continued deployments and potential for localized clashes. The government's response to these protests and its efforts to address the underlying grievances will be critical in determining the intensity and spread of future demonstrations. On the diplomatic and defense fronts, Indonesia will actively participate in the Indo Defence Expo & Forum in Jakarta from November 18-21, 2026, which is expected to showcase new defense acquisitions and foster further international partnerships and arms deals. Maritime safety inspections will be a key focus in November, ensuring readiness for year-end holidays.

Critical flashpoints and risk areas:

The North Natuna Sea remains a critical flashpoint due to China's persistent claims and the presence of its vessels, posing a continuous challenge to Indonesia's maritime sovereignty. Any escalation or increased assertiveness in this area could heighten regional tensions. Domestically, the ongoing forest and land fires in Sumatra and Kalimantan, coupled with public anger, could trigger more widespread and intense protests, potentially leading to greater instability and demands for government accountability. The implementation of the Constitutional Court's ruling on military justice, particularly the amendment of the 1997 Military Justice Law by October 2028, will be a sensitive process that could face internal resistance or public scrutiny. Cybersecurity threats, including potential state-sponsored cyber-espionage and data breaches, remain a persistent risk to government and critical infrastructure.

Indicators to monitor:

Key indicators to monitor include the frequency and scale of public protests and the government's response, including any policy adjustments or declarations regarding the environmental crisis. Developments in the North Natuna Sea, such as reports of foreign vessel incursions or Indonesian naval deployments, should be closely watched. Progress on the Cybersecurity and Resilience Bill and the government's efforts to enhance digital talent and infrastructure will indicate its commitment to addressing cyber threats. The outcomes of the Indo Defence Expo & Forum will provide insights into future defense acquisitions and industry collaborations. Finally, the pace and nature of reforms to the military justice system following the Constitutional Court's ruling will be important for assessing human rights and rule of law advancements.

Strategic recommendations:

Indonesia should prioritize a multi-pronged approach to address civil unrest, combining effective disaster response for forest fires with transparent communication and genuine engagement with civil society to rebuild public trust. Diplomatically, Indonesia should continue its "free and active" foreign policy by balancing relations with major powers, leveraging joint exercises for capability building without committing to exclusive blocs. Strengthening maritime domain awareness and enforcement capabilities in the North Natuna Sea is crucial to assert sovereignty and deter illegal activities. Accelerating the development and implementation of the Cybersecurity and Resilience Bill and investing in national cybersecurity infrastructure and talent are essential to counter evolving cyber threats. Furthermore, the government should ensure a transparent and inclusive process for amending the Military Justice Law, consulting with victims and human rights groups to strengthen accountability and uphold human rights within the armed forces.
