- The Guardian view on a tale of two activists: Joshua Wong and Au Kam San should not be behind bars | Editorial (2026-11-08 17:30)

The latest vindictive prosecutions and harsh sentences in Hong Kong and Macau are further testimony to China's ruthless suppression of dissentOne is internationally famous – he was once dubbed "the Face of Protest" by Time magazine – and the other is little known outside his home town. What Joshua Wong and Au Kam San share, beyond the harsh sentences they received last week, is that they represent the spirit of dissent that Beijing is determined to crush.Mr Wong, who has been in prison for six years, should have walked free next January – not free to fight for Hong Kong's rights, which China has suppressed so decisively, but at least to walk the streets of the city he loves. Instead, a court last Thursday sentenced the 30-year-old, an activist from the age of 14, to another 10 years. He is the only person to have been prosecuted twice under the draconian national security law (NSL). The case's timing means that he will remain behind bars until he is 40 because so little of his sentences overlap. It also came one day after the city's annual summit for global financial leaders ended – avoiding awkward questions for companies such as Morgan Stanley and Goldman Sachs, which long ago decided that it is business as usual, even as China turns the screw. • Ukraine war briefing: Beijing confirms historic Xi-Trump-Putin meeting under discussion (2026-11-07 03:12)

Russia could use tri leader summit to nudge China and US closer to its position on Ukraine, experts say. What we know on day 1,718Beijing has confirmed that it is discussing a historic meeting between Chinese leader Xi Jinping, the US president, Donald Trump, and Russia’s Vladimir Putin. Mao Ning, a spokesperson for the Chinese foreign ministry, said at a press briefing this week in Beijing that China “is in communication with relevant parties regarding a meeting between the three heads of state”, which could take place on the sidelines of the Apec summit in the southern Chinese city of Shenzhen this month.Russia would probably use the summit to nudge China and the US closer to Moscow’s positions on Ukraine, said Sun Yun, director of the China program at the Stimson Center. However, Trump has been warned by his advisers to steer clear of Ukraine as a topic of the discussions, said Danny Russel, a former senior state department official who served in Barack Obama’s administration and who is now a distinguished fellow at the Asia Society Policy Institute.Ukraine again came under attack from Russia on Saturday, after President Volodymyr Zelenskyy repeated his calls for allies to supply Kyiv quickly with missiles for the US-made Patriot system to defend Ukrainian cities. Zelenskyy on Friday had warned that the Ukrainian military was bracing for new strikes by Russian forces against important infrastructure. “We have intelligence at this time that Russia is preparing new strikes on energy, on bridges across the Dnipro, on civilian infrastructure,” Zelenskyy said in his nightly video address. “The air force and the armed forces of Ukraine as a whole are preparing for defence. It will not be easy.” Kyiv, along with other Ukrainian cities, has been subjected to near-constant attacks for several weeks. A missile attack by Russian forces early on Saturday damaged a residential building in the Ukrainian capital, according to Mayor Vitali Klitschko. The city’s military administration, also writing on Telegram, said two people were injured and a building housing a kindergarten was damaged. Officials continued to warn residents of the potential for more strikes hours after the attack.President Zelenskyy says he wants specific guarantees from western allies on how postwar security support would function when the war with Russia finally ends. Zelenskyy’s comments in an interview aired late Thursday followed two days of discussions among allies in Brussels that focused on postwar security and reconstruction. They also came before planned three-way talks next week in Abu Dhabi between Ukraine, Russia and the United States, the first trilateral peace discussions since February. “What matters is that it’s clear on paper,” Zelenskyy said in an interview with Ukraine’s private 1+1 television broadcast late Thursday. “The question isn’t dozens of points, but simply an understanding of the outcome: If Russia starts [attacking] again, what will happen? Who will do what, with what means, and when?” The Brussels meetings brought together officials from the US, UK, France, Germany and the European Union, along with representatives from the World Bank and the US investment group BlackRock, Ukrainian lead negotiator Rustem Umerov wrote in an online post. “We separately discussed the threats from Russia to Ukraine and all of Europe, as well as joint steps to counter them,” Umerov wrote. - In jailing Joshua Wong, China is telling the world they'd crush every hope for democracy on its soil | Nathan Law (2026-11-06 14:53)

My friend was due to be released next January. Under draconian security laws, his sentence has been extended by 10 yearsTwo years ago, I wrote in this newspaper about the lengthy imprisonment of my friend Joshua Wong, who I spent years campaigning alongside for the advancement of Hong Kong’s democracy. He was given an unjust sentence meant to keep him behind bars until January 2027. He was supposed to be released in a few months, when I hoped he would finally be able to reunite with his friends and family and embark on a new chapter.But this hope was misplaced. The end of the tunnel isn’t next year; it’s late 2036. By then, he will be 40. On Thursday, Joshua was sentenced to another 10 years under Hong Kong’s national security law for colluding with foreign forces. He is the only political prisoner who’s been convicted twice under the national security law. The judge described Joshua and me as “two ringleaders or masterminds” urging foreign powers to impose sanctions and other hostile actions against the Chinese and Hong Kong governments. The judgment cited previous international advocacy work, media interviews, social media posts and the political activities of Demosistō, the youth-led democratic party we founded.Nathan Law is a pro-democracy activist and former legislator from Hong Kong. • Raise the Red Lantern review – Gong Li gives a decade-defining performance in an addictively ruthless masterpiece (2026-11-05 13:00)

Gong simmers with rage, loneliness and humiliation as the ‘fourth mistress’ navigating the intimate political savagery of her husband’s compound in Zhang Yimou’s 1991 dramaRevisiting Zhang Yimou’s grippingly addictive psychological drama from 1991, adapted from a novella by Su Tong, is a reminder of what a great impact this movie made on western audiences. They responded to its arguably westernised tale of a young woman’s desperate loneliness in a sinister environment that resembles something by Charlotte Brontë or Daphne du Maurier. Like Jung Chang’s memoir Wild Swans from the same year, Raise the Red Lantern opened our eyes to 20th-century China’s secret theatre of cruelty and misogyny; elaborate domestic rituals of submission and servitude coexisted with infinitely subtle plotting, resentful manoeuvring and covert denunciation, habits of thought that could so easily be absorbed into Maoism.Gong Li gives one of the great performances of the 1990s as Songlian, a beautiful, intelligent young woman in 1920s China who is forced to abandon her university studies after just six months because her father has died and there is no longer money for the fees. In the unforgettable opening scene, which unfolds with a single unbroken shot of Gong’s pale face, incandescent with shock and pain, Songlian announces to her callous stepmother (who remains off camera) that she is ready to accept marriage – and then her eyes brim with tears. Her suppressed rage, loneliness and humiliation are to simmer below the surface for the rest of the film. Continue reading...

• Choke of the century? Chengdu collapse sets up thrilling Chinese Super League climax (2026-11-04 08:00)

John Aloisi’s side need a point on the final day to seal their maiden title – but their form has dropped off a cliffWith four games of the Chinese Super League to go, Chengdu Rongcheng needed just a point to clinch their first title. With one game to go, they still need a point. What was a formality has become a formidable task. The biggest bottle job in Asian football history is very much on and it would be as popular as it would be dramatic.The coach of the Sichuan club, the former Portsmouth and Coventry striker John Aloisi, has seen a 12-point lead over Dalian Yingbo cut to just three before Sunday’s showdowns. Whatever happens, this is a positive and thrilling end to a season that started negatively – literally – with nine of the 16 top-tier clubs kicking off on minus points. They had been punished as part of a “special campaign to crack down on match-fixing, gambling and corruption in the football industry”, said a joint statement from the Chinese Football Association, the Ministry of Public Security and the General Administration of Sport at the time. A man in his 60s has died after being struck by a bus in Hong Kong's North Point. The fatal accident happened at the junction of King's Road and Tin Chong Street at around 8.17am, with police and ambulance personnel arriving at the scene after a report by the Citybus driver. Police said the victim suffered severe head injuries and was unconscious before being rushed to Pamela Youde Nethersole Eastern Hospital in Chai Wan, where he was certified dead at 8.54am. An investigation into the cause of...

• Child abuse cases rise in Malaysia, Indonesia, Singapore. Why? (2026-11-09 04:00)

Malaysia, Indonesia and Singapore have all recorded rising numbers of child abuse cases in recent years, but child welfare advocates say this may be a sign of progress rather than worsening violence, as greater awareness and improved reporting bring more cases to the attention of authorities. "The good news is that more people are reporting," said Hartini Zainuddin, a veteran advocate for abused children in Malaysia. Official figures show growing caseloads in all three countries, but differences...

• Is the PLA rehearsing operations to keep US forces out of a Taiwan conflict? (2026-11-09 03:59)

Recent mainland Chinese naval deployments in the western Pacific and South China Sea have raised questions over whether Beijing is rehearsing operations to stop US and allied forces from intervening in a Taiwan conflict, according to analysts. Beijing has not announced any large-scale drill in relation to recent People's Liberation Army (PLA) naval activities. But a November 6 assessment by US-based think tank the Institute for the Study of War (ISW) said the PLA could be conducting a major...

• Hong Kong wakes up to coolest morning so far this autumn at 23.2 degrees (2026-11-09 03:52)

Hong Kong recorded its coolest morning so far this autumn on Monday, with temperatures falling to 23.2 degrees Celsius (73.76 Fahrenheit) and forecast to reach as low as 16 degrees the next day. The Hong Kong Observatory said a cold front and a strong northeast monsoon kept Guangdong's coastal areas cool, adding that temperatures across the city were about two degrees lower than the day before. As of 7.40am, the Observatory had recorded a minimum temperature of 23.2 degrees. The mercury was...

• Stronger concrete needed to fix 'basic mistake' of defective MTR station columns: experts (2026-11-09 03:14)

Hong Kong's railway operator can use high-strength concrete to rectify the structure of dozens of defective columns at a station under construction, an engineer and a construction sector leader have said, describing the shoddy work as a "basic mistake". Their remarks came after the Buildings Department revealed on Saturday that about 30 columns at the Tung Chung West MTR station were defective because the concrete failed to reach the upper ceiling, leaving steel reinforcement bars...

• Pakistani farmers sue German firms for flood damage: 'no borders in sky' (2026-11-09 03:08)

In a Pakistani village nestled in rice fields, Abdul Hafeez Khoso remembers the vast industrial zones he saw in Germany when he visited to file a pioneering climate legal case. "They're spreading pollution: up in the sky there are no borders, it can affect anywhere," the 43-year-old said, describing areas far larger than his village of 800 people. "This is a problem for the whole world – that is why it should be resolved at the global level." Khoso and 38 other farmers from Pakistan's southern...

• Singapore minister says Cop31 has 'enough to work on' without new targets (2026-11-09 02:24)

Global climate talks starting on Monday are unlikely to yield new targets on curbing greenhouse gases, but negotiators have plenty to do to implement measures already agreed, according to Singapore's environment minister. "I think that we are not expecting a major upgrade in mitigation targets" at the annual UN talks in Turkey, Grace Fu told reporters. "But we have enough, even within the Paris Agreement, with what we have already agreed on. There is enough to work on." Delegations from nearly...

• China digital bed bug map lets travellers flag hotels nationwide upon spotting pests (2026-11-09 02:05)

A digital map of bed bug sightings has gained popularity in China but has also sparked controversy by allowing users to flag hotels where they claim to have found the insects with a single click. Since its launch on September 21, the app has attracted 200,000 users, who have marked more than 600 hotels across China. Any user can flag a hotel on the map after claiming to have spotted bed bugs there, and the marks are visible to all users. Some hotels have

• Low pay, fatigue and staff shortages put Hong Kong's aviation hub status at risk: unions (2026-11-09 02:00)

Unsatisfactory employment conditions in Hong Kong's aviation industry are threatening the sector's ability to attract and retain talent, potentially undermining the city's competitive edge as a global aviation hub, unions and a lawmaker have warned. Hong Kong International Airport retained its title as the world's busiest cargo airport in 2025, the 15th time it has taken the top spot. With the full operation of the three-runway system and Terminal 2, the city aims to strengthen its position as...

• AI pulls up the civil service ladder to Southeast Asia's middle class (2026-11-09 02:00)

Artificial intelligence promises to make government bureaucracies leaner across Asia, but its biggest effect on public-sector employment may not come from the widely feared wave of lay-offs. Instead, analysts say the technology is more likely to reshape existing jobs and narrow opportunities for young graduates hoping to enter the civil service, even as governments seek to improve efficiency without sacrificing job security. Unlike the Netherlands, which aims to cut an estimated 25,000 full-time...

• China's comfortable brain-reading device achieves 94% mind-typing accuracy in day-long use (2026-11-09 02:00)

Chinese researchers have created a comfortable electrode for non-invasive brain-computer interfaces (BCIs) that achieved over 94 per cent accuracy in visual mind-typing tests during day-long use. The gradient electrodes – designed to overcome the current trade-offs of conventional uniformly soft or rigid electrodes – were integrated into a commercial electroencephalogram (EEG) cap and tested during rest over the span of 14 hours. Furthermore, the electrodes enabled eight hours of stable EEG...

• To be Asia's events capital, Hong Kong must offer ticketing that works (2026-11-09 01:30)

Hong Kong has set its sights on becoming Asia's events capital. China's five-year plans support the city's role as an East-meets-West centre for international cultural exchange. The chief executive's latest policy address commits the Tourism Board to strengthening Hong Kong's reputation as the "events capital of Asia". The economic benefits could be huge. International events bring tourists and business for hotels, restaurants, shops and transport operators. The South China Morning Post...

• Philippines seeks bespoke BrahMos missiles from India for island defence (2026-11-09 01:13)

The Philippines wants to buy more of India's BrahMos missiles and have them adapted to its terrain, in a move analysts say signals Manila's search for alternative arms suppliers as the US remains entangled in its Middle East conflict. Philippine Defence Secretary Gilberto Teodoro Jnr told a security summit in New Delhi last week that his country hoped to expand on its 2022purchase of the supersonic cruise arsenal to strengthen its external deterrence. Indian sourceslater told Reuters that...

• Thousands flock to South Korean border park for rare view of North Korean weapon (2026-11-09 00:58)

More than 13,000 people visited South Korea's Aegibong Peace Ecopark in Gimpo, Gyeonggi province, over a 10-day period to catch a rare glimpse of a North Korean self-propelled howitzer visible from the observatory. Despite the heightened tensions between the two Koreas, a total of 13,243 people visited the park from October 26 to Wednesday, up 7.5 per cent from 12,321 during the same period last year, according to Gimpo city on Sunday. The increase came after images published by local media...

• Trump says 'only kidding' about naming UFC's Dana White as press secretary (2026-11-09 00:38)

US President Donald Trump on Sunday said he was "only kidding" when he suggested UFC CEO Dana White could become his next White House press secretary, after a social media post a day earlier stirred speculation about recruiting his feisty ally and signalled a combative approach to dealing with Democrats as they prepare to take control of Congress. Trump said White, a prominent supporter, "loves the idea" of taking the job but insisted he had not been serious about the prospect, describing the...

• Hong Kong VTC courses touted as short cut to residency for babies of mainland mothers (2026-11-09 00:30)

Agencies are promoting Vocational Training Council (VTC) courses to pregnant women in mainland China, touting packages cheaper than HK$100,000 (US$12,600) including commission as the lowest-cost route for the women to secure Hong Kong passports for their newborns, the South China Morning Post has found. The path would enable their children to get into top-tier mainland universities more easily and could even secure them a job as a civil servant in the future, the agencies claimed. But critics...

• Why Indonesia's death penalty lives on, even with executions halted (2026-11-09 00:00)

Indonesia has not executed anyone for over a decade, with its new Criminal Code designed to make capital punishment a "last resort" – yet the number of prisoners on death row continues to climb. A new report on the persistent use of capital punishment by the country's courts has raised questions about such rulings, handed down despite an unofficial moratorium on executions. There were 639 people on death row as of April this year, an increase from 596 as of August 2025, according to a report by...

• Hong Kong records nearly 18% rise in ransomware cases amid drop in tech crime (2026-11-08 23:00)

Hong Kong has recorded a nearly 18 per cent rise in ransomware cases in the first three quarters of this year despite an overall drop in technology crime, with police attributing the rise to artificial intelligence-aided attacks. Chief Superintendent Raymond Lam Cheuk-ho of the cybersecurity and technology crime bureau said police had recorded cases of AI agents and other forms of artificial intelligence being used in cyberattacks as recently as last month. “We understand that the use of AI...

- Israel’s President Herzog gives Gadi Eisenkot the first chance to form the next government (2026-11-08 22:47)

Israeli President Isaac Herzog formally gave opposition politician Gadi Eisenkot the first chance to form the next government on Sunday evening. Complex coalition negotiations still lie ahead, but it marked a significant step in the former military chief’s effort to oust Israel’s longest-serving prime minister, Benjamin Netanyahu, after elections held in a deeply divided country. Israel remains scarred by the Hamas-led attacks of October 7, 2023, and the multifront wars they triggered. “I hope...

- Attack on Iraq gas complex disrupts supply to region’s power plants, authorities say (2026-11-08 22:09)

An Emirati-owned gas complex in Iraq’s autonomous Kurdistan region was attacked on Sunday, disrupting the gas supply to the region’s power plants, local Kurdish authorities said. “At 11pm, the Khor Mor gas field came under a terrorist attack,” the regional natural resources and electricity authorities said in a statement, without elaborating. A Kurdish security source told Agence France-Presse that an “explosive-laden drone” hit the field. The Khor Mor complex, which supplies most of Kurdistan’s...

- Hong Kong must retain the talent its world-class universities nurture (2026-11-08 21:30)

We can count on this administration to be quick to take credit. It took just one day for Chief Secretary Eric Chan Kwok-ki to claim credit on behalf of the Hong Kong government for the impressive results of the city’s universities in the latest Quacquarelli Symonds (QS) Asia University Rankings. All 11 of Hong Kong’s ranked institutions made it into Asia’s top 500 for the first time. Five of the 11 are ranked among Asia’s top 10. The University of Hong Kong took the crown as Asia’s top...

- King Charles and Prince Harry mark Remembrance Day separately (2026-11-08 20:05)

Prince Harry attended a Remembrance Sunday event in a small English town, far away from Britain’s main ceremony to honour the country’s war dead led by his father, King Charles. Ceremonies are held at war memorials across Britain on the Sunday closest to Armistice Day, November 11, which marks the peace agreement that ended World War I. The Sun and the Daily Mail tabloid newspapers posted photographs online of former British Army captain Harry, in a dark suit with military medals, chatting to...

• Police make arrest in deadly shooting at North Carolina university (2026-11-08 18:59)

Authorities on Sunday arrested a man in a shooting during homecoming weekend at a historically black college in North Carolina that left one person dead and at least one other person injured. Assistant Police Chief Jason Swaim of the Winston-Salem Police Department said officers responded after hearing gunshots on Saturday night. They found a 19-year-old man with a gunshot wound but life-saving measures were unsuccessful. Officers also found a 22-year-old woman at the scene who appeared to have...

• Media industry still has a problem with sexual abuse, UK culture minister says (2026-11-08 18:35)

Britain's culture minister, Lisa Nandy, said on Sunday there was still a problem with sexual abuse in the media industry after Russell Brand, once a high-profile comedian and actor, was convicted of raping a woman and sexually assaulting three more. Brand's conviction on Thursday renewed scrutiny of how Britain's entertainment industry has treated well-known performers accused of abusing their power, with some women saying they feared speaking out could harm their careers. Asked whether...

• Pope Leo leaves Uruguay and heads to most fraught stop of his tour in Milei's Argentina (2026-11-08 17:53)

Pope Leo XIV wrapped up his visit to Uruguay on Sunday by praising the women who have passed the Catholic faith on to younger generations, as he highlighted the role the church has played since the founding of Latin America's most secular country. The pope travelled to the city of Florida, north of Montevideo, to mark an important Catholic feast day before heading to Argentina for the second leg of his South American tour. It is expected to be the most politically delicate stop, given the...

• Iran executes 3 more men over January protests, judiciary says (2026-11-08 17:06)

Iranian authorities executed three men on Sunday on charges linked to January 2026 protests, the judiciary said, after what rights groups described as an unfair trial. Norway-based Iran Human Rights (IHR) said the hangings at dawn of Hassan Divband, Hamid Kazemi and Reza Zanganeh in the city of Karaj outside Tehran brought the number of men hanged over the January protests to at least 39 and warned many more were at risk. The judiciary's Mizan news agency said the three had been convicted of...

• Tens of thousands of Dutch protesters take to Amsterdam streets to support Palestinians (2026-11-08 16:35)

Tens of thousands of people dressed in red thronged the streets of Amsterdam on Sunday to denounce ongoing violence against Palestinians in Gaza, carrying signs reading "Stop the Genocide". Organisers said some 20,000 people attended the "red line" protest, demanding that the Dutch government take action against Israel. "Stop sending weapons to Israel," one of the protesters, Steven Eisinger, a 33-year-old robotics engineer originally from the United States, told Agence France-Presse, wearing a...

• Will China's slow and steady moon landing plan be a safer bet than the US's? (2026-11-08 15:00)

China's full dress rehearsal for its crewed moon landing would be tougher on schedule but safer than Nasa's cheaper bet on commercial landers, a US space policy analyst said after the rival powers updated their lunar plans within a week of each other. Wang Xiang, deputy chief designer of China's crewed space programme, said in Beijing on October 31 that, before sending any astronauts, China would dock the Lanyue lander and Mengzhou spacecraft in lunar orbit, and Lanyue would touch down, lift off...

• Train collision in Egypt kills 4, injures 88 (2026-11-08 14:56)

Two trains collided south of the Egyptian capital on Sunday, derailing several carriages, killing four and injuring dozens, according to the authorities. Egypt's railway authority said a train travelling from Giza to Fayoum crashed into the rear of another service heading south from Cairo to the city of Aswan. The health ministry said an initial count put the toll from the crash at four passengers killed, with 88 others currently being treated for injuries in hospitals around the Giza...

• Indonesian firefighting helicopter crash in Borneo kills 1 (2026-11-08 14:37)

A crew member of a helicopter battling Indonesian wildfires was killed on Sunday when the aircraft crashed into a river as it scooped up water for an airborne drop, a local disaster agency said. The crash in Borneo Island's South Kalimantan province was the second in days involving a firefighting aircraft, after a military helicopter plunged into the waters off Borneo on Wednesday, killing three people. Two Australian pilots survived Sunday's crash and were "safe", Berton Panjaitan, a spokesman...

• The US must stop blaming China for problems at home: former envoy Cui Tiankai (2026-11-08 14:30)

The United States should not blame China's rise for its own problems and should not expect that these can be solved by changing presidents, China's longest-serving former ambassador to Washington has said. "China's development has never aimed to replace or challenge the US – it never has. Naturally, I also hope the US can resolve its own issues and that its future development will not come at the expense of China's interests," Cui Tiankai, who served as ambassador to the US from 2013 to 2021,...

• Is China getting faster at integrating new nuclear missiles into its forces? (2026-11-08 13:00)

China's newest land-based intercontinental ballistic missile, the DF-61, has made its way into routine military training much faster than earlier ICBMs, according to state broadcaster CCTV. That raises the question of whether the People's Liberation Army is becoming more efficient at integrating new strategic missiles into its nuclear forces. Shao Yongling, who has worked as a researcher with the PLA Rocket Force, told CCTV on Thursday that the DF-61's progression from its public debut at a...

• Defects at Hong Kong MTR station 'unimaginable', engineers and lawmakers say (2026-11-08 12:49)

Mistakes that left about 30 columns defective at a Hong Kong railway station under construction were “unimaginable”, lawmakers and engineers said on Sunday, adding that the repairs were expected to be straightforward and unlikely to delay the project. The MTR Corporation was also urged to set up a reporting mechanism that would allow frontline workers to flag problems during construction. The comments came a day after the Buildings Department revealed that about 30 columns at the MTR’s Tung...

• China eyes gig workers and influencers as delegates for Communist Party congress (2026-11-08 12:30)

For the first time, delivery couriers, ride-hailing drivers and influencers could become delegates to the Communist Party’s five-yearly national congress, as Beijing seeks to keep the group close to the official ideology. Guidelines on selecting delegates for the meeting, to be held in the second half of next year, were issued on Saturday. The 21st party congress is expected to bring together 2,360 delegates, according to Xinhua. They will vote to elect more than 300 full and alternate members...

• China’s focus on getting its house in order offers lessons in governance (2026-11-08 12:30)

The Communist Party’s call for “self-revolution” may be rooted in the pursuit of internal discipline, but its implications extend well beyond China. As the global order faces mounting challenges, Beijing’s emphasis on internal renewal raises a fundamental question: can countries hope to contribute to global stability without first putting their own houses in order? China’s fifth plenum placed considerable emphasis on combating corruption. Beijing has relentlessly pursued its campaign against...

• Chinese engineers reduce cargo ship fuel use by 5% with high-speed torpedo tech (2026-11-08 12:00)

Supercavitating torpedoes can reach extreme underwater speeds by travelling inside a gas-filled cavity that sharply reduces their contact with water. Beyond torpedoes, supercavitating projectiles can streak through the water at blistering speeds to intercept naval mines, incoming torpedoes and unmanned underwater vehicles, and even combat divers. Now, Chinese engineers are applying a related drag-reduction principle to commercial shipping, with a bubble-lubrication system cutting net energy...

• Saudi Aramco building in Riyadh damaged in attempted attack (2026-11-08 11:34)

An administrative building belonging to state oil giant Saudi Aramco in Riyadh was damaged by falling debris following an attempted attack on Sunday, with no injuries or fatalities reported, the kingdom’s Energy Ministry said. A Reuters witness saw blown-out windows across several floors of the Aramco Tower, one of the tallest buildings in the capital’s King Abdullah Financial District. The incident, which the ministry said caused limited damage, came after the Saudi-led coalition said it...

• ‘Can’t be inaccurate’: how 2 tiny robot arms could halve digestive cancer surgery time (2026-11-08 11:00)

In the final instalment of a four-part Health Matters wellness series on frontier medicine in Hong Kong, Elizabeth Cheung examines a dual-arm surgical robot that could remove gastrointestinal tumours in about half the usual time, and the hurdles between its first human trials and wider patient access. Ho Man-wai underwent a colonoscopy in late August, during which doctors identified three polyps that needed to be removed before they could develop into cancer. Two were removed during the initial...

• AI will soon master biology, unleashing new safety risks, Tencent AI chief warns (2026-11-08 10:22)

Artificial intelligence models will soon be powerful enough to master biology, presenting both benefits and serious risks, Tencent Holdings’ chief AI scientist and former OpenAI star researcher Vinces Yao Shunyu said during a rare public appearance on Saturday. The assessment comes as frontier AI systems are increasingly being applied to medicine and biology, which could accelerate discovery of new drugs and other treatments. However, experts also warn that malicious actors could use AI to...

• Chinese dad whose daughter died in crash visits junction daily to catch traffic violators (2026-11-08 10:00)

A grieving father in southeastern China became a citizen watchdog after a collision killed his nine-year-old daughter. On August 1, Wu Zhisheng’s wife was riding an electric bike with their two young daughters through an intersection in Jiangxi province when a turning tipper truck struck them. Their elder daughter, Zijin, died at the scene, while her mother and five-year-old sister were injured. When Wu rushed to the scene, he found the driver standing beside the vehicle in flip-flops. Nearby,...

• Plugged in, not locked in: middle powers navigate US-China AI rivalry (2026-11-08 09:09)

Middle powers navigating the US-China competition in artificial intelligence (AI) favour flexible partnerships over closed alliances, demanding a “plugged in, not locked in” approach, an AI governance panel heard on Saturday. Alejandro Reyes, adjunct professor in the department of politics and public administration at the University of Hong Kong, said that middle powers were exercising agency in the AI era, selectively partnering with both Beijing and Washington “issue by issue” rather than...

• China’s Pudu Robotics, which makes 80% of its sales abroad, takes on Tesla in humanoids (2026-11-08 09:00)

Humanoid robots represent the next frontier for Pudu Robotics, according to founder and CEO Felix Zhang Tao, as the global commercial robotics leader takes on Elon Musk’s Tesla in the growing sector and explores manufacturing in Europe, its largest overseas market. “It’s definitely a competitor, but a long-term one,” Zhang told the South China Morning Post in arecent interview, adding that Tesla was a “very good” rival whose high profile had driveninnovation and broadened market awareness in...

• Winter’s knocking? Cold front to slash Hong Kong temperatures to 16 degrees (2026-11-08 08:23)

Temperatures in Hong Kong are forecast to plunge to as low as 16 degrees Celsius (61 Fahrenheit) on Tuesday, a further drop from an earlier prediction, as a cold front is expected to hit the city early this week. The Hong Kong Observatory on Sunday revised its forecast for the coming week, saying it expected an intense northeast monsoon to bring cool, very dry weather to the city. An earlier forecast had put this week’s lowest temperature at 18 degrees. “A cold front will move across the coast...

• 52% of Hong Kong’s underprivileged children spend over 2 hours a day on devices (2026-11-08 08:19)

More than half of Hong Kong’s underprivileged children spend over two hours a day on electronic devices, often turning to screens for cheap entertainment despite problems with their eyesight, attention, sleep and addiction, a survey has found. The Society for Community Organisation (SoCO), which released the findings on Sunday, urged authorities to keep students on campus for longer, introduce full-day kindergartens and subsidise more extracurricular activities for underprivileged pupils. Wong...

• 3 hikers injured after being hit by landing paraglider in Hong Kong country park (2026-11-08 08:18)

Three hikers have been injured in Hong Kong after being hit by a paraglider landing at the Ngong Ping campsite in Ma On Shan Country Park. Police received a report at 12.36pm on Sunday that three people, including two teenagers, had been injured at the campsite after being hit by a landing paraglider. The Government Flying Service deployed a helicopter to transport the trio to Ruttonjee Hospital in Wan Chai for treatment. A 42-year-old woman, surnamed Zheng, sustained a head injury while her...

• India questions US ‘double standards’ as Pakistan secures F-16 upgrade deal (2026-11-08 08:00)

Washington’s decision to upgrade Pakistan’s F-16 fighter jets has drawn accusations of double standards from critics in India, who question why the United States is strengthening a nuclear-armed ally while waging war against Iran over its nuclear programme. Although the US$686 million military modernisation package does not include nuclear weapons, analysts say that improvements to the fighter jets’ navigation, communications and survivability could boost Pakistan’s existing nuclear strike...

• Demerit system for contractors ‘not ruled out’, Hong Kong development chief says (2026-11-08 07:18)

Hong Kong authorities have not ruled out introducing a demerit points system for contractors, the development chief has said, after an independent inquiry into last year’s deadly Tai Po fire identified unscrupulous consultants and building professionals as the main culprits of the tragedy. Secretary for Development Bernadette Linn Hon-ho said on Sunday that the government was also considering introducing new conditions for homeowners who applied for its building maintenance subsidy scheme,...

• Will Democrats sway ‘unshackled’ Trump’s Russia-Ukraine stance after midterm rout? (2026-11-08 07:00)

The Republicans’ defeat in the US midterm elections was watched closely in Russia, where some observers are predicting it could herald more support for Ukraine when the Democrats take over Congress in January. But if the Kremlin is hearing the ticking of a clock on its nearly five-year-old full-scale invasion of its neighbour, it seemingly remains unperturbed. Asked if the election’s outcome could stymie US attempts to help negotiate a settlement between Moscow and Kyiv, Kremlin spokesperson...

• Who is Eisenkot, the former Israeli general expected to replace Netanyahu? (2026-11-08 05:33)

Gadi Eisenkot, an unassuming former army chief of staff, has a pathway to Israel’s top job after President Isaac Herzog tapped him to form the next government. Should he succeed, he would take over as prime minister from Benjamin Netanyahu, Israel’s longest-serving leader whose inflammatory style has earned him as much admiration as it has outright hatred. Eisenkot, by contrast, is a reserved man, and some voters tired of Netanyahu see his rival’s relative lack of charisma as one of his greatest...

• Why raising prices in Japan amid ‘insanely high’ inflation backfires on firms (2026-11-08 05:30)

When Japan’s “symbol of affordability” Uniqlo decided to increase the price of its basic socks last month, it sparked a backlash before the clothing titan made an immediate U-turn. That came after Italian-style family restaurant chain Saizeriya issued an almost grovelling apology as it decided to add 20 yen (US$0.13) to the price of its trademark Milanese Doria, lamenting its “lack of effort”. The very public angst, including in one of the world’s most recognisable clothing brands, highlights...

• Hong Kong must build ‘reassuring’ environment amid political criticism: Paul Lam (2026-11-08 04:36)

Hong Kong must focus on the “practical work” of building a safe and convenient environment and reassurring the international community amid criticism of its legal system, the justice minister has said, after 10 countries issued a joint statement decrying the latest jail sentence on opposition activist Joshua Wong Chi-fung. “It is inevitable that their criticism will continue…Political realities have to be dealt with, but I do not think we should allow them to distract usfrom our focus,”...

• Hong Kong makes further in-roads in AI, aviation at mainland Chinese expo (2026-11-08 04:00)

Hong Kong is forging deeper ties with the mainland across artificial intelligence (AI), aviation and professional services, industry insiders at China’s global import expo have said. Tech executives and accounting veterans discussed how to leverage Hong Kong’s strategic position, such as through the Northern Metropolis megaproject near the mainland Chinese border, while the city’s flag carrier introduced its refrigerated sea logistics link to Dongguan, Guangdong province. These were signs of a...

• Only a fraction of World Heritage sites are in Africa. China wants to fix that (2026-11-08 04:00)

Africa is home to ancient cities, rock art and striking natural landscapes, yet its sites are sorely under-represented on Unesco’s World Heritage List. According to data released by the UN body, of the 1,273 sites on the list – which are formally protected under the World Heritage Convention treaty – just 115 are in Africa. But as Beijing seeks closer cultural ties with the continent, it is offering help to change this through funding, guidance on how to navigate the nomination process and...

• Southeast Asia’s green push brings solar power, but who pays to keep it on? (2026-11-08 04:00)

For most of his life, Osman Uki lived in a world dictated by the sun, relying on kerosene and leftover cooking oil to light his home in a remote indigenous village in Malaysia. That changed in April when solar power finally reached Kampung Bertang in the state of Pahang, allowing families to power electric lights, refrigerators and rice cookers. For Osman, one of the biggest changes is what happens after sunset. “We are happy with the light we have at night. The kids can read at night now. We...

• Indonesians furious as Batam data centres drain taps: ‘we cannot cook without water’ (2026-11-08 03:51)

Cooking and bathing became difficult when taps ran dry in Batam, an Indonesian island where residents are protesting against data centres springing up to power the global artificial intelligence boom. The area had suffered a “long drought” caused by low rainfall, the local water utility operator said, as a strong El Nino cycle exacerbates dry weather. But, as in other countries, anger has been directed at the data centres, warehouse-like facilities that keep apps and AI tools running, with water...

• Hong Kong's Margaret Chan voted to lead World Health Organization in 2006 – SCMP archive (2026-11-08 03:00)

This article was first published on November 9, 2006. Margaret Chan wins WHO race in coup for China, HK by Mary Ann Benitez Hong Kong's former director of health Margaret Chan Fung Fu-chun made history yesterday (November 8, 2006) when she was nominated World Health Organisation director-general in a resounding victory that saw her lead all the way in four rounds of voting. Dr Chan, 59, is expected to be endorsed today by the 193-member World Health Assembly, making her the first Chinese to lead...

• China US$300 dating app 'marriage-or-refund' guarantee sparks intense online buzz (2026-11-08 02:00)

In China's competitive dating market, a new matchmaking start-up is staking its revenue on a bold wager: find true love, or get every penny back. Launched in July, Liangpei AI charges an annual membership fee of 2,000 yuan (US$300), which is fully refundable if a user remains unmarried after three years. The offer is an audacious challenge to a conventional business model built on keeping singles hooked. China's online dating market reached 22.6 billion yuan (US$3.4 billion) in 2024, serving...

• Hong Kong must show real remorse for the Tai Po fire tragedy (2026-11-08 01:30)

When Chief Executive John Lee Ka-chiu and seven principal officials bowed deeply before the cameras on October 29, Hong Kong witnessed something rare: a collective government apology. It came 11 months after the Wang Fuk Court fire claimed 168 lives and uprooted 1,984 households. A minister has resigned. Many reforms have been promised. Yet public reaction remains divided. That division reveals what people expect an apology to achieve, and how differently they understand political...

• Hong Kong firefighters get HK$8.4 million tracking upgrade after Tai Po fire (2026-11-08 01:00)

Some 2,000 Hong Kong firefighters have been issued upgraded tracking devices after an independent inquiry into last year's deadly Tai Po fire exposed technical limitations in the previous system, the South China Morning Post has learned. The Fire Services Department spent HK$8.4 million (US$1.1 million) on the new Firefighter Tracking Devices (FTDs), which cost more than HK$4,000 each, to help find personnel in distress more effectively. The November 1 roll-out came about a year after the Wang...

• Japan rethinks its stalking laws after Pokemon store murder (2026-11-08 01:00)

Long before Moe Harukawa was killed, she lived in fear. The 21-year-old shop assistant had reported her ex-boyfriend to police and a court had ordered him to stay away from her. Yet weeks later, Taiki Hirokawa, 26, walked into Harukawa's workplace – a packed Pokemon store in Tokyo's Ikebukuro district – and stabbed her repeatedly in the neck and torso before turning the knife he was carrying on himself. Both later died in hospital. Harukawa's gruesome murder in March at the hands of a man who...

• Grief in China as rare snow leopard cub Ling Xiaohan loses 26-day fight for life (2026-11-08 01:00)

Millions of Chinese internet users grieved after beloved snow leopard cub Ling Xiaohan died last Sunday, following 26 days of medical treatment after he was found weak, injured and unable to move in the Qinghai Lake reserve on the Qinghai-Tibet Plateau. Despite intensive treatment efforts, the five-month-old cub died from complications arising from a severe brain injury, the cause of which is unknown, according to a statement by the Qinghai Wildlife Rescue and Breeding Centre. “The centre deeply...

• In Malaysia, a shadow trade in DIY weight-loss jabs takes hold (2026-11-08 00:00)

When her prescription for Mounjaro became too expensive, Bey* did what a growing number of Malaysians are doing: she found a cheaper vial online. The 34-year-old from Kuala Lumpur started on the weight-loss drug about a year ago and hasn’t looked back since. “I didn’t feel like eating, I didn’t feel hungry,” she said, recalling flying to Jakarta for a “food trip” recently during which she barely ate. Reviews on Threads and TikTok led her to online sellers offering “tirzepatide”, Mounjaro’s...

• Want to fly to the moon? Nasa is looking for new astronauts for the Artemis programme (2026-11-07 23:53)

Want to fly to the moon and help build a permanent lunar base? Nasa is accepting applications for a new astronaut class that will help grow the Artemis programme. Officials announced the news on Saturday during a Kennedy Space Centre air show promoting lunar exploration as well as advances in aviation and technology. Nasa’s last call for new astronauts was two years ago. More than 8,000 applied, with 10 making the final cut in September 2025. With only 32 active astronauts, the space agency...

• In China’s fierce race for success, mental health struggles are starting earlier (2026-11-07 22:00)

Moon Chen stared down at her textbook, struggling to make sense of the words on the page. The 15-year-old felt a suffocating weight press into her chest, while her heart fluttered erratically. Chen’s mother rushed her to a cardiologist – only to be told that she should see a psychiatrist instead. Chen, now in higher secondary school in the southwestern Chinese city of Chongqing, vividly recalls the period before she was diagnosed with depression and anxiety. At the time, she did not know that...

• Israel’s president taps Eisenkot to form government, in setback for Netanyahu (2026-11-07 20:05)

Israeli President Isaac Herzog said on Saturday night that he was giving opposition candidate Gadi Eisenkot the first opportunity to form a governing coalition following elections on October

27. Eisenkot, a former military chief who ran as the main challenger to Prime Minister BenjaminNetanyahu, is now a step closer to ousting Israel's longest-serving premier. "This is the timeto establish a national emergency government. I will do anything possible to prove us worthy," Eisenkot posted on...

• Trump asks UFC chief Dana White to be his new press secretary: 'please take the job' (2026-11-07 19:44)

US President Donald Trump said Saturday that he has offered the job of White House press secretary to his friend and UFC boss Dana White, an announcement unconventional even for the norm-busting leader and one that nobody in the White House immediately confirmed. Trump, while he was at his golf club in Florida, posted on social media that he made the offer to "the Great Dana White, a violent Fighter and Warrior" to become the Republican president's chief spokesman. Trump said he requested that...

• Clashes in Paris after new French protests (2026-11-07 18:05)

Thousands of people protested across France on Saturday in a new show of anger against the government with clashes erupting between police and some protesters in Paris despite a lower turnout than in previous weeks. The protests marked the fourth consecutive weekend of demonstrations against the rising cost of living which have erupted as the country heads to presidential elections in five months' time where the far-right sees its best chance yet to win power. A total of 146,000 people took part...

• 5 killed in shooting in tourist heart of Krakow, Poland (2026-11-07 16:33)

A shooting in the tourist heart of Poland's second city of Krakow on Saturday left five people dead and around a dozen wounded, police said. "A man drove a car onto Krakow's main square and began shooting at random people," a Krakow police spokesman said. "As a result of the incident, five people were killed and around a dozen others were wounded." He said the gunman was "neutralised and shot" by police officers and transported to hospital. The police service for the Lesser Poland region said on...

• Woman hurt in flat fire suspected to have been caused by aromatherapy items (2026-11-07 15:12)

Hong Kong firefighters have rescued a 67-year-old woman from a flat in Tin Shui Wai after a blaze broke out, prompting about 100 people to flee. A preliminary investigation suggested aromatherapy items ignited objects in the flat. Police said officers were alerted at 5.39pm on Saturday after smoke was seen billowing from a flat at Locwood Court in the Kingswood Villas private estate. Firefighters forced entry into the flat, where they found the woman, and extinguished the fire, police said. The...

• Guatemalan lawmaker, 3 police officers killed in armed attack (2026-11-07 15:01)

A Guatemalan lawmaker and three police officers were killed in an armed attack in the eastern department of Zacapa, President Bernardo Arevalo said, condemning the violence and ordering security forces to help identify those responsible. Lawmaker Julio Cesar Portillo Paz was attacked on Friday in Rio Hondo, Zacapa, and initially taken to a hospital with serious injuries. His death was later confirmed by the National Unity of Hope party, or UNE, to which he belonged. Arevalo said the three...

• History repeats in Shenzhen? China hosts another lame-duck US president (2026-11-07 14:00)

A decade after hosting a politically hobbled Barack Obama at a Group of 20 (G20) summit in Hangzhou, China is preparing to welcome another "lame-duck" US president for a multilateral gathering: Donald Trump. Following the Republicans' loss of both chambers of the US Congress in the midterm elections on Tuesday – a drubbing that reached deep into historically red states – Trump is expected to meet Chinese President Xi Jinping in two weeks on the sidelines of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation...

• Tarmo Peltokoski begins HK Phil tenure with Mahler's monumental Symphony No 8 (2026-11-07 13:31)

Gustav Mahler's rarely performed Symphony No 8, a work requiring such a large orchestra and choir it is known as "Symphony of a Thousand", finally received its Hong Kong Philharmonic Orchestra premiere on Saturday, heralding an ambitious new chapter as the 26-year-old Finnish conductor Tarmo Peltokoski officially took the podium as music director. The 5pm performance at the Hong Kong Cultural Centre involved nearly 600 musicians and singers from six choirs: the Hong Kong Philharmonic Chorus; the...

• China vows 'zero tolerance' for election meddling ahead of 21st party congress (2026-11-07 13:23)

China's ruling Communist Party has warned of "zero tolerance" for bribery and other attempts at election interference as delegate selection begins for next year's national congress, which is expected to feature a major leadership reshuffle. The party issued guidelines on selecting the delegates, a process that would be overseen by its Organisation Department, state news agency Xinhua reported on Saturday. The 21st national party congress, to be held in the second half of next year, will select a...

• New Zealand election first count ends with 2 main parties nearly deadlocked (2026-11-07 13:12)

New Zealand's ruling centre-right National Party and main opposition Labour were nearly deadlocked in the popular vote after initial counting in the nationwide general election on Saturday. Results from the Electoral Commission show that with more than 95 per cent of the ballots counted, both parties were polling just short of 30 per cent of the popular vote, with just a few thousand votes separating the two. A projection from New Zealand's Electoral Commission showed the current three-party...

• China-Switzerland trade partnership offers a model amid fraught EU ties (2026-11-07 12:30)

China has framed its relationship with Switzerland as a model of practical, mutually beneficial cooperation at a time when its broader ties with the European Union remain more complicated and politically charged. Just before Swiss President Guy Parmelin's recent visit to Beijing, a Chinese foreign ministry spokesman noted that 2026 marks the 10th anniversary of the China-Switzerland innovative strategic partnership, with adherence to free trade singled out as its principal...

• Canadian plan to clear Hongkonger migration backlog welcomed but questions remain (2026-11-07 12:22)

A Canadian goal of clearing a backlog of more than 30,000 applications from Hongkongers awaiting permanent residency is "encouraging" but questions remain about whether it can be achieved by 2027, advocates and immigration experts have said. Experts and Canadian parliamentarians said on Saturday that Ottawa's new one-off measure to add more quota spaces to clear the Hong Kong immigration pathways backlog would help address the uncertainty facing tens of thousands from the city still waiting for...

• Top China university stops using AI to spot absent-minded students after backlash (2026-11-07 12:00)

A top university in China's eastern Jiangsu province has rolled back a controversial feature of its AI-powered classroom tracking system following fierce public backlash. Students at Nanjing University were recently notified by the university that it would begin using its "smart classroom" system – upgraded over the summer – to record full attendance rates over a one-week period, Chinese media reported on Wednesday. Outrage flared when leaked screenshots purportedly revealed the AI-powered...

• Manila weighs second South China Sea legal case against Beijing: analyst (2026-11-07 11:10)

Manila is preparing for a potential second legal case against Beijing over the South China Sea, according to a Philippines-based security analyst. "Indeed, the Philippines is considering filing another case against China, and authorities are already preparing the necessary legal documentation," said Rommel Banlaoi, president of the Philippine Society for International Security Studies, on Saturday. He made the remarks at a South China Sea symposium in the southern Chinese city of Sanya,...

• Trump's war secretary Hegseth and Pacific Command chief Paparo may 'soon visit China' (2026-11-07 11:06)

Pentagon chief Pete Hegseth and US Pacific Command head Admiral Samuel Paparo may visit China “soon”, according to a veteran China hand. Stephen Orlins, president of the non-profit organisation National Committee on United States-China Relations (NCUSCR), disclosed the potential visit during a video address at a conference on Friday in Sanya, in southern China’s Hainan province. More than 400 Chinese officials, foreign diplomats and legal experts have gathered in the South China Sea resort city...

- China ‘Goddess of Mercy’ drone send-off reveals modern shift in funeral services (2026-11-07 10:00)

Videos showing a glowing Guanyin, or Goddess of Mercy, carried by a drone and another similar device disguised as a crane have attracted significant attention on Chinese social media. Together, the two devices recreate the traditional funeral send-off in which the deceased is said to “ascend to heaven.” In China, a common euphemism for someone who has died is that they have “ridden a crane to the Western Paradise,” or simply “gone west.” In the viral clips, released in early November, dozens of...

- MTR Corporation orders halt to unauthorised work at station after column concerns (2026-11-07 09:20)

Hong Kong’s rail giant, the MTR Corporation, has ordered a contractor to fix substandard columns erected on the platform of a station under construction after discovering unauthorised remedial works to fill gaps of up to 30cm to the ceiling. The corporation said on Saturday that routine inspections last month uncovered the incomplete works and that it had immediately instructed the main contractor, Bouygues-Dragages Joint Venture, to suspend the remedial works. “During routine inspections of...

- US and China must join hands to measure rising AI tide (2026-11-07 08:30)

The next US-China talk on artificial intelligence should begin with a simple question: do the two governments actually understand how rapidly AI’s capabilities are improving? Before deciding what to do about the technology, Washington and Beijing need a common way to measure its progress. Chinese President Xi Jinping and US President Donald Trump are expected to meet in Shenzhen soon, and AI is set to remain high on their agenda. Their continued exchanges on this transformative technology are a...

- Why China is investing heavily in African push to bring mineral processing home (2026-11-07 08:00)

Chinese investors have backed mineral processing and manufacturing projects worth more than US$16 billion across Africa, a new report has concluded, amid an increasing push by countries to secure a greater share of the earnings from their natural resources. The continent is a major international supplier of key minerals such as copper, cobalt and iron ore, and countries such as the Democratic Republic of Congo, Guinea and Zimbabwe have previously introduced mineral export bans or restrictions to...

• Malaysia’s king warns against challenging Najib’s house arrest (2026-11-07 07:32)

Malaysia’s king warned on Saturday that any attempt to challenge his order letting former prime minister Najib Razak go from jail to house arrest could amount to defying his decree, a day after authorities delayed Najib’s transfer. Najib has been in jail since 2022 after being found guilty of corruption and money laundering in a case linked to a multibillion-dollar scandal at state fund 1Malaysia Development Berhad. He has consistently denied wrongdoing. He was due to be transferred home on...

• Ex-husband’s DNA found on hammer allegedly used to kill Abby Choi, prosecution says (2026-11-07 07:00)

Warning: graphic content follows. Slain Hong Kong socialite Abby Choi Tin-fung could have been fatally struck with a hammer that contained her ex-husband’s DNA when it was seized from a rural village flat where her dismembered remains were found, a court has heard. Wrapping up their case as the murder trial entered its sixth week, prosecutors highlighted forensic findings and surveillance camera footage showing the movements of Choi and three of her former in-laws before and after her alleged...

• Chinese consulate in Melbourne demands justice after fatal stabbing of delivery worker (2026-11-07 06:44)

The Chinese consulate in Melbourne has urged local authorities to “severely punish” the person responsible for killing a Chinese delivery rider on Friday evening – a tragedy that has sparked mounting online outrage over delivery platform safety standards. A 47-year-old delivery man from China’s northwestern Shaanxi province was stabbed to death while on the job and another rider was injured in downtown Melbourne on Friday evening, after the two confronted a man who was “tampering” with their...

• ‘Hypocritical’: Hong Kong hits back at criticism of Joshua Wong’s sentence (2026-11-07 06:31)

Hong Kong has hit back at a joint statement from 10 countries over the latest sentencing of opposition activist Joshua Wong Chi-fung, accusing them of distorting facts and smearing the city’s national security law. The rebuttal came after the US, Australia, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, New Zealand and the UK issued a joint statement on Friday saying the sentencing of Wong, together with the earlier jailing of many others, showed how the city’s national security law was...

• Air in India’s capital ranked world’s most polluted on eve of Diwali (2026-11-07 06:01)

New Delhi ranked as the world’s most polluted major city on Saturday morning, according to Swiss group IQAir, as the Indian capital faced severe pollution forecasts a day before Diwali, the Hindu festival of lights. India has ordered schools in and around Delhi to offer online classes and encouraged people to work from home ahead of Diwali on Sunday, which is usually marked by the widespread use of firecrackers that further worsen the air quality.IQAir ranked Delhi first for air pollution...

• Financial leaders tiptoe around Beijing's asset scrutiny, hail Hong Kong's wealth boom (2026-11-07 06:00)

Global financial leaders who gathered in Hong Kong this week largely sidestepped Beijing's offshore trust tax crackdown, a lingering near-term hurdle for the city's otherwise expanding wealth management industry. Beijing's move earlier this year to step up scrutiny of wealthy families' overseas assets was barely discussed openly at a series of financial industry events, including the Global Financial Leaders' Investment Summit and the PWMA Wealth Management Industry Summit 2026, even as it...

• Hong Kong paediatrician urges parents to vaccinate children as temperatures fall (2026-11-07 05:33)

A Hong Kong paediatric expert has called on parents to arrange influenza vaccinations for their children ahead of cooler temperatures next week, warning of a double whammy of overlapping summer and winter flu seasons. The city has recorded 29 cases of severe paediatric influenza infection this flu season, two of which were fatal. Dr Mike Kwan Yat-wah, former president of the Asian Society for Paediatric Infectious Diseases, warned on Saturday that the city could see a longer flu season with the...

• 'There could be anarchy': Bangladesh's garment sector unrest threatens economic disaster (2026-11-07 05:00)

Garment workers in Bangladesh, the world's second-largest clothing exporter after China, are demanding that their wages more than double – and their protests have brought a halt to production in factories supplying global brands including H&M, Zara and Walmart. Tens of thousands of workers have marched through Dhaka and the key industrial towns of Gazipur, Ashulia and Narayanganj in recent days demanding higher pay. Protests turned violent in several hubs, with factories vandalised and roads...

• Test of trust for Hong Kong's new housing checks unit after Wang Fuk Court blaze (2026-11-07 04:25)

For former Wang Fuk Court resident Dorz Cheung, seeing will be believing when it comes to reforms initiated after the deadly inferno in Hong Kong's Tai Po district. The 34-year-old questioned whether the new oversight bodies would prevent another disaster, saying systemic reforms to tackle shoddy building maintenance and bid-rigging could be undermined by poor implementation. "No matter how well the system is reformed, it is people who put it into practice. Even the best system will achieve...

• Trump confirms fresh Iran strikes days after voters punish war at polls (2026-11-07 04:25)

US President Donald Trump said the American military on Friday carried out new limited strikes on Iran, targeting an Iranian air defence system. Iranian state media reported the sound of two explosions in the Suza area of Qeshm Island, which is in a crucial waterway for oil shipments. Trump in an exchange with reporters described the military action as “minor”. “They knocked out – they built a little bit of an anti-aircraft device and we knocked it out in about 15 minutes, maybe five,” he told...

• China to narrow scope of contentious detention and surveillance measure (2026-11-07 04:00)

Chinese lawmakers are proposing to restrict a contentious form of detention and police surveillance measure, among other changes to the country’s Criminal Procedure Law. Known as residential surveillance at a designated location (RSDL), the measure was originally intended as a mild restriction of personal freedoms to lower the rate of detention and arrest. Since RSDL’s introduction in 1996 and expansion in 2012, it has become the harshest form of detention used in state security cases, including...

• US regulator investigates tumour risk in children given Novartis gene therapy (2026-11-07 03:35)

The US Food and Drug Administration said on Friday it was investigating a risk of neoplasia, or tumour formation including malignancy, associated with Novartis’ gene therapy Zolgensma. The Swiss drug maker earlier in the day disclosed two cases in which tumours in children showed evidence of being linked to its gene therapy drug used to treat patients less than two years old with spinal muscular atrophy. Novartis said that it had received nine reports overall of tumours in patients...

• Domestic helper arrested after allegedly spitting into 4-year-old girl’s food (2026-11-07 03:25)

A foreign domestic helper in Hong Kong has been arrested on suspicion of ill-treating a child after she allegedly spat into the food of a girl under her care, according to police. The mother of the four-year-old girl filed a police report at 9.28am on Friday, saying her 37-year-old Filipino helper had treated her daughter inappropriately. Initial police investigations at the family’s flat at The Belcher’s, a private residential estate in Kennedy Town, indicated that the helper had spat into the...

• How North Korea turns child prodigies into crypto thieves (2026-11-07 03:01)

North Korea rewards its top hackers, tasked with heists like the Binance crypto hack that netted a cool US$6.3 billion, with perks such as spacious apartments in the capital and huge hard currency awards in return for gruelling hours of work. Leader Kim Jong-un has assembled an army of world-class hackers using such incentives in a programme more than a decade old that picks 200 of the smartest middle school students each year to study computer engineering, defectors and analysts say. A...

• HKUST president Nancy Ip wins Unesco prize for Alzheimer’s research (2026-11-07 02:54)

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology (HKUST) president Nancy Ip Yuk-yu has been awarded a United Nations prize for her “outstanding contributions” in neuroscience, which have enabled the earlier diagnosis and better monitoring of Alzheimer’s disease. Ip was presented with the Unesco-Equatorial Guinea International Prize for Research in the Life Sciences on Friday in Paris. “Dr Nancy Yuk-yu Ip, president of the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology, is a world-renowned...

• Iran’s nuclear programme: US offers US$20 million reward for information (2026-11-07 02:04)

Washington is offering a US$20 million reward “and possible relocation” for information about Iran’s nuclear programme, the US military has said, as President Donald Trump reiterated that Tehran wants to make a deal to end the war. A State Department programme, Rewards for Justice, “is offering a reward of up to US$20 million and possible relocation for information about Iran’s nuclear programme, including its facilities, equipment and associated personnel, such as those in the scientific...

• AI-generated cats showcasing rural life, Chinese cuisine land major brand sponsorships (2026-11-07 02:00)

China’s pet scene has found its digital answer to cottagecore icon Li Ziqi – “Meow Ziqi,” a social media account featuring three AI-generated cats that cook traditional Chinese dishes and practise heritage crafts. Since bursting onto the scene in April, the account has amassed over 1.76 million followers and more than 500 million views. The parallels with Sichuan-born cultural influencer Li Ziqi are unmistakable. Li captivated over 56 million fans worldwide with her cinematic depictions of...

• Myanmar’s will to fight money laundering questioned as tougher curbs loom (2026-11-07 02:00)

Myanmar’s military-backed government may find its reluctance to address the international community’s concerns a greater obstacle to economic recovery than the threat of tougher international financial restrictions, according to analysts. The Financial Action Task Force (FATF), the global money-laundering and terrorist-financing watchdog, warned on October 30 that it could consider further measures against Myanmar if it failed to remedy shortcomings in its financial safeguards by...

• In the Pacific century, Chinatowns in the US deserve more than preservation (2026-11-07 01:30)

I was sitting in my car in Oakland’s Chinatown with Desta, my dog, while my wife visited her Chinese-American doctor. Across the street stood the Shoong Family Chinese Cultural Centre. On the pavements, older shoppers carrying bags of greens paused to greet acquaintances.

People threaded between produce displays, fish counters and shopfronts crowded witheveryday necessities. There was a rhythm to the morning: deliveries, conversations, theexchange of money and news, the small acts of...

• Is Russia's seizure of Japan Tobacco assets the last straw for Tokyo amid frosty ties? (2026-11-07 01:00)

Russia's seizure of the assets of a Japanese company could prove to be Tokyo's red line after a series of bitter exchanges between both nations and ties that continue to spiral. The Japanese government on Friday lodged a formal complaint with Russia and demanded that Moscow immediately reverse a decree announced the previous day that transferred the assets of Japan Tobacco International (JTI) to Russian control. Analysts say the decree, signed by Russian President Vladimir Putin, is likely a...

• Sanae Takaichi slammed online for praising calligraphy without mentioning China (2026-11-07 01:00)

Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi has faced backlash online after writing a social media post celebrating Japan's shodo calligraphy without mentioning its Chinese roots. On Thursday, Unesco released this year's nominations for inclusion on its Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity. The 59 nominations submitted for consideration for the UN cultural body's list include Chinese cuisine, Spain's traditional jota music and dance genre and Japan's shodo...

• Hong Kong draws growing interest from Irish firms seeking expansion across Asia (2026-11-07 01:00)

More Irish companies are considering Hong Kong as a base for expansion across Asia, according to the head of the country's chamber of commerce in the city, who described the two as "natural partners". Padraig Seif, president of the Irish Chamber of Commerce in Hong Kong, said momentum was building ahead of the Asia-Pacific Irish Business Forum as Irish firms increasingly looked to Asia amid Washington's tariff policy and the lingering effects of Brexit. "What we've seen is ⋯ Asia and Hong Kong...

• By all memes: why Asia's Gen Z are revolting (2026-11-07 00:00)

All across Asia, anti-establishment protests have been flaring up, led by a generation that came of age in the digital era. Memes are mobilising a young, permanently online cohort against specific government policies, insults and injustices – its many members determined to seize their own destinies before the future they fear takes root. Asia is home to 60 per cent of the world's adolescents and young people, or some 1 billion in total, according to UN estimates. Gen Z, roughly defined as those...

• Paraguay's President Pena impeached over Ueno banking crisis, placed under house arrest (2026-11-06 23:41)

Paraguayan President Santiago Pena was placed under house arrest on Friday on suspicion of breach of trust, shortly after the Senate removed him from office over the collapse of a major bank tied to his government. Pena had offered his resignation over the disaster, but lawmakers pressed ahead with impeachment proceedings that would strip him of immunity granted to former presidents. He did not attend the trial in the Senate despite earlier pledging to defend himself. The president “is declared...

• Cornell faculty vote no-confidence in leadership after gang rape case (2026-11-06 23:06)

Faculty members at Cornell University on Friday passed a no-confidence resolution against the elite college’s leadership over its handling of an alleged gang rape that has sparked outcry in the US. The vote is not binding but marks a strong symbolic rebuke of administrators at the Ivy League college in New York state. According to a lawsuit, a female student was assaulted by seven male students at a fraternity house on campus. Following her initial allegations in 2024, Cornell shut down the...

• Ted Lieu seeks Congress leadership post, aiming to break another glass ceiling (2026-11-06 23:01)

California Democratic Congressman Ted Lieu is seeking to become the next chairman of the House Democratic Caucus, one of the top leadership jobs in the US Congress, and potentially making history again as the highest-ranking Asian-American on Capitol Hill. He announced his caucus chair candidacy in a letter to fellow Democrats on Thursday. He’s currently the most high-profile Asian and Chinese-American in Congress, serving as vice-chairman of the caucus, the fourth-ranking position in the House...

• Will the US midterm ‘blue tsunami’ erode China’s faith in Trump and Xi’s relationship? (2026-11-06 22:00)

China may start looking for ways to make its deals with the United States less dependent on the personal relationship between presidents Xi Jinping and Donald Trump after the midterm elections left the US leader in a weaker position to deliver results, analysts have said. Some observers believe Beijing will start paying closer attention to what the White House can achieve without support in Congress, while others say it may seek closer engagement with the Democrats given their ability to...

• Can China champion the Global South without speaking for it? (2026-11-06 21:30)

Travelling through South America earlier this year, I was repeatedly reminded of China’s growing importance. At Ezeiza International Airport in Buenos Aires, I spotted the logo of the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China. ICBC acquired an 80 per cent stake in Standard Bank Argentina in 2012, establishing a significant presence. In Buenos Aires, my friend Diego García, a publisher, offered a useful perspective: Argentina does not have to choose between China and the United States. It should...

• California's first Asian lieutenant governor traces roots to esteemed family in China (2026-11-06 21:02)

Amid a national Democratic wave in the midterm elections, a California Democrat has made history as the first Asian-American elected to the state's second-highest executive office, with roots tracing back to a prominent military and political clan in China. Fiona Ma, 60, a Chinese-American and the state's current treasurer, was elected lieutenant governor, marking a milestone for Asian-American representation in California politics. "I am deeply humbled and honoured to be elected California's...

• Pope Leo in Uruguay to kick off South America tour just weeks after lung surgery (2026-11-06 20:30)

Pope Leo began an emotionally charged tour of South America on Friday, returning to a continent that helped shape his priesthood just three weeks after undergoing lung cancer surgery. The 71-year-old head of the Catholic Church will visit Uruguay, Argentina and Peru over 12 days in one of the most intense papal foreign trips in decades, meeting political leaders, prisoners, the poor, as well as old friends. "I'm very happy to be here," Leo told reporters on the plane before landing in Uruguay,...

• Trump names Stephen Miller chief of staff, replacing Susie Wiles after midterm losses (2026-11-06 19:23)

US President Donald Trump said on Friday that Stephen Miller would replace Susie Wiles as White House chief of staff, elevating a long-time loyalist and architect of his immigration crackdown days after Republicans lost control of Congress. Miller, currently a deputy chief of staff, will take over on Monday. Wiles will move to Trump's political operation, the president said in a post on social media. The change puts one of Trump's staunchest ideological allies in charge of the White House staff...

• US, China trade chiefs hold call ahead of Trump-Xi summit in Shenzhen (2026-11-06 18:34)

US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent and Trade Representative Jamieson Greer held a video call with Chinese Vice-Premier He Lifeng on Friday, as both sides moved to finalise preparations for President Donald Trump's planned meeting with Chinese leader Xi Jinping in Shenzhen later this month. "Secretary Bessent emphasised the importance of China fully and immediately implementing its commitments made in Busan and raised concerns about recent Chinese actions," a statement from the Treasury...

• Panda fans flock to Zoo Atlanta for the debut of Ping Ping and Fu Shuang (2026-11-06 18:26)

Zoo Atlanta's newest pandas munched bamboo and lounged on Friday during their public debut as smiling visitors lined up to welcome them. Ping Ping, a male, and Fu Shuang, a female, arrived in September from China under a 10-year loan agreement, bringing the cuddly black-and-white bears back to the zoo after a two-year absence. After spending the past weeks getting acclimated to their habitat, the six-year-old pandas greeted visitors in the newlyrenovated Arthur M. Blank Panda...

• Call to end ‘unjust’ national security cases as Hong Kong slams ‘malicious attacks’ (2026-11-06 16:12)

Ten countries – including the “Five Eyes” allies – have called for an immediate end to “unjust prosecutions” under Hong Kong’s national security law after opposition activist Joshua Wong Chi-fung was jailed for 10 years, while the government has urged foreign forces to stop their “baseless malicious attacks”. The foreign ministers of the 10 countries issued a joint statement on Friday, a day after the High Court sentenced Wong over his role in a global campaign to instigate sanctions against...

• US and EU’s China talks channel comes back to life after stalling since Trump’s return (2026-11-06 16:05)

The European Union and the United States plan to revive talks about China after a two-year hiatus, according to multiple people familiar with the planning. The dialogue had stalled since Donald Trump’s return to the White House, but after being approached by Washington, talks are expected in the first week of December, despite the deterioration in transatlantic relations in the meantime. The once-regular forum was used to discuss areas of shared concern with regard to Beijing. During Joe Biden’s...

• Meghan’s father Thomas Markle arrested in US on child sex abuse material charges (2026-11-06 16:02)

Thomas Markle, the father of Prince Harry’s wife Meghan, was arrested on Friday morning by federal agents in Florida on charges related to child sexual abuse material, people familiar with the matter said. The people who confirmed his arrest were not authorised to publicly discuss the investigation and spoke on the condition of anonymity. Markle, 82, was taken into custody at the retirement home where he lives near Tampa. The arrest comes after a stash of child porn was allegedly found at...

• ‘Clock is ticking’: European TV channels targeted in wave of hoax bomb threats (2026-11-06 15:31)

Bomb threats warning “the clock is ticking” were sent to TV stations across Europe on Friday, prompting evacuations and programming to be suspended. Warnings were sent to Irish broadcaster RTE, Britain’s Sky, Bulgarian private station Nova TV and others, the companies said. No bombs were found at any affected site. RTE programmes were replaced by music and a pre-recorded message, some for as long as three hours. The alerts follow a string of hoax bomb threats that has disrupted passenger...

• Hong Kong’s yacht industry eyes mainland China buyers but challenges remain (2026-11-06 15:08)

Hong Kong's yacht industry is seeking to attract more buyers and visitors from mainland China under a new cross-boundary travel scheme, but relatively high berthing costs could pose a challenge, industry representatives have said. Industry leaders, exhibitors and visitors gathered in Discovery Bay on Friday for the fourth edition of the Lantau Yacht Club Boat Show, which runs until Sunday. The show featured more than 30 vessels, including superyachts and models from international brands such as...

- US adds 165,000 jobs in October as labour market beats expectations (2026-11-06 14:52)

Employment in the United States grew by 165,000 jobs in October, far exceeding analysts' expectations, with the unemployment rate dipping to 4.1 per cent, government data showed on Friday. The relatively stable labour market has allowed the US Federal Reserve – which has a dual mandate to maintain inflation at a long-term 2 per cent target while ensuring maximum employment – to make fighting stubbornly high prices its priority. The strong October data could add to pressure for further rate...

- What's next after airlines? Asia data breach raises wider cyber fears (2026-11-06 14:30)

A massive data breach that affected several airlines across Asia has underscored the need for industries in the region to revisit their reliance on third-party suppliers, analysts have said, warning that more critical infrastructure may soon be affected. Last week, a wave of airlines reported that customer information was accessed in a data security breach involving Spanish software provider Amadeus. Several of these breaches involved information found in booking details, including flight data,...

- Iran war revives Bahrain's conflict with Shiite Muslim majority (2026-11-06 14:13)

Shaken by the accuracy of Iran's attacks on Bahrain and support for them among some Bahrainis, authorities in the Gulf island nation have launched a crackdown on Shiite Muslim clerics they accuse of fostering allegiance to Tehran at home. Bahraini officials have framed the move in existential terms, saying Iran seeks to undermine and ultimately topple the leadership of the only Gulf country that is ruled by a Sunni Muslim family but populated mostly by Shiites. Critics, including rights...

- After midterms upheaval, US ag exporters call for stability in China trade (2026-11-06 14:00)

As the midterm "blue wave" threatens to further complicate US-China relations, American agricultural exporters are calling on Washington to focus on delivering the trade deals already agreed with Beijing and ending a period of damaging policy uncertainty. With shipments of key products such as soybeans needing to be planned months – or sometimes an entire year – ahead, US farmers are in need of stability after last year's trade war. "Agriculture is ... an industry with long production cycles, so...

• Democratic Congress to guard US' Taiwan policy and press Trump on arms sales (2026-11-06 14:00)

The Democratic US Congress may push for faster arms sales to Taiwan following the party's resounding midterm election victories, but there will be no fundamental shifts in broader US policy towards the island, according to analysts. And if the likely next House speaker, Hakeem Jeffries – a long-time supporter of Taiwan – "crosses the red line" on the issue, Beijing was expected to take strong countermeasures, one analyst said. "A Democratic-controlled Congress will ramp up pressure on Trump to...

• More funding could be sought if HK$10b university town loan scheme falls short (2026-11-06 13:41)

Hong Kong's education secretary has said she will seek additional funding if a HK$10 billion loan scheme falls short of the needs of institutions setting foot in the Northern Metropolis' first university town, while warning that their financial plans must be feasible and they must not "take chances". A task force jointly established by the Hong Kong Monetary Authority and the Hong Kong Association of Banks will designate 11 tertiary institutions as public sector entities to help them secure bank...

• Tesla's Musk pulls plug on Cybertruck for robotaxi push after years of poor sales (2026-11-06 13:31)

Tesla would wind down Cybertruck production at its Texas gigafactory around mid-2027, CEO Elon Musk said on Friday, after years of persistently weak sales for a futuristic model once touted as a rival to legacy pickup trucks that ultimately only sold in just a handful of markets because of its heavy, angular design. Musk said in an X post the production wind-down would enable the carmaker to accommodate increased output of its newly launched Cybercab model, which the billionaire has made central...

• Trump left with 'no good options' to end Iran war after crushing US midterms defeat (2026-11-06 13:12)

As Republican losses in the US midterm elections highlight how unpopular the war in Iran is, all eyes are on Washington's next moves and whether the election results could set the stage for a quicker end to the conflict. However, experts remain sceptical, arguing that while the results will cripple the Trump administration and force it to rethink its strategy, they leave the broader US position unchanged, making a protracted war far more likely than diplomatic talks. Democrats seized full...

• A kill switch for epilepsy? China cuts seizures by 92.6% in first human chemogenetic trial (2026-11-06 13:00)

For people living with refractory epilepsy, the brain is like a city that can suffer a blackout any time lightning strikes. Without warning, an abnormal neural discharge can sweep through the intracranial circuits, leaving behind convulsions, loss of consciousness and years of lingering panic. Around one-third of epilepsy patients worldwide are completely unresponsive to existingmedications, while traditional craniotomy resection surgery often carries the risk of irreversibleneurological...

• Kenyan doomsday cult leader jailed for 200 years for murdering 191 followers (2026-11-06 12:55)

The leader of a Kenyan doomsday cult linked to the deaths of more than 400 people was sentenced on Friday to 200 years in prison for the murders of 191 people. The High Court in Kenya's coastal city of Mombasa issued the sentence for Pastor Paul Mackenzie. He was convicted of murdering 190 children and one adult after he ordered his followers to starve themselves to death to meet Jesus. Justice Diana Kavedza said that Mackenzie, leader of the Good News International Church, bore the "primary...

• Family Business Summit day 2 tackles US-China ties, Asean and geopolitical shifts (2026-11-06 12:36)

The Family Business Summit wrapped up on Friday with delegates weighing China-US relations, Southeast Asia's growth trajectory and the Russian economy, against a backdrop of geopolitical flux shaped by Washington's post-midterm political landscape and expected high-level diplomacy at this month's Apec forum. The South China Morning Post and Blue Pool Capital co-hosted the fourth edition of the summit, with UBS as the presenting partner. The two-day closed-door event in Hong Kong served as a...

• Midterm swing won't change trajectory of US-China rivalry (2026-11-06 12:30)

American voters have spoken. In the midterm elections, Democrats won both the House and Senate in a sweeping rebuttal of US President Donald Trump's erratic management of domestic and foreign affairs. Despite this, the trajectory of US-China geopolitical rivalry will remain unchanged for decades, with every chance of escalation. Foreign Affairs re-examines "The Delusions of American Power" in its latest issue. The lead article, "The Limits of American Power", concludes that even with the...

• Hong Kong firms must innovate to compete in mainland China, trade chief says (2026-11-06 12:24)

Hong Kong companies can survive intense competition in mainland China by being innovative and maintaining high standards, the head of the city's trade promotion body has said. Hong Kong Trade Development Council chairman Frederick Ma Si-hang said on Friday that the city was also tapping into emerging markets in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Africa to counter global trade uncertainties. "I feel that Hong Kong manufacturers need to be more innovative; think of ways to use our strengths to...

• EU investigates fraud in Spain rail funds after fatal Madrid crash (2026-11-06 12:16)

The European Union is investigating the possible misuse of EU funds earmarked for the renovation of a Spanish railway line where a train crash killed 69 people, prosecutors said on Friday. The October accident on the Madrid-Seville high-speed line was one of the worst railway disasters in Europe this century, overshadowing Spain's coming general election this month. A similar investigation into the same stretch of track had already been opened in March in the wake of another accident that...

- Signs of Prabowo-Widodo rift grow as Indonesian lawmakers target VP Gibran's credentials (2026-11-06 11:25)

A growing push among Indonesian lawmakers to investigate Vice-President Gibran Rakabuming Raka's academic credentials is raising questions about the influence of his father, former leader Joko Widodo, as signs of a rift within the country's ruling elite grow. The challenge comes from within President Prabowo Subianto's own coalition, underscoring how the political alliance that helped propel him to power in 2024 may be unravelling, analysts have said. It also follows the arrest of a prominent...

- Tokyo still 'dodging the issue' a year on from Takaichi row, Beijing says (2026-11-06 11:22)

Beijing has said responsibility for the "serious difficulties in China-Japan relations lay entirely with Tokyo" one year on from Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi's controversial comments about Taiwan. Takaichi is planning to visit China this month for the Apec summit, but on Friday foreign ministry spokesman Guo Jiakun accused the Japanese authorities of continuing to evade the issue and showing no willingness to correct her remarks. "A year ago, the Japanese leader made erroneous remarks on...

- Beijing approves giant Long March 9 rocket for deep-space and lunar base runs (2026-11-06 11:04)

Beijing has given the go-ahead for the Long March 9, a super heavy rocket often seen as China's answer to SpaceX's Starship, weeks after the American megarocket first reached orbit, according to a lecture slide circulating online. The stainless-steel giant received official approval last month, according to the slide. At 110 metres (361 feet) tall and 10.6 metres wide, it will be the most powerful and expensive launcher China has ever built. The slide, presented in the northwestern city of Xian...

- Hong Kong authorities arrest 28 in crackdown on bid-rigging after Tai Po fire (2026-11-06 10:59)

Hong Kong authorities have cracked down on a bid-rigging syndicate and arrested 28 people, including directors of contractors and consultancy firms as well as some with triad backgrounds, in the first operation by a joint task force after the devastating Wang Fuk Court fire. Secretary for Security Chris Tang Ping-keung said on Friday that the task force, formed to combat bid-rigging, had also set up a 24-hour hotline for the public to report any suspected bid-rigging activities and would offer...

• China's AI chipmakers report first profits, but will the trend continue? (2026-11-06 10:30)

China's pure-play artificial intelligence chipmakers crossed an important milestone in the third quarter as several firms swung into profit, but severe supply chain hurdles and soaring memory costs cloud their long-term growth prospects. Domestic graphics processing unit (GPU) developers including Moore Threads, MetaX and Iluvatar CoreX are racing to fill the market void left by Nvidia, whose high-end processors face strict US export controls. These home-grown firms are competing fiercely to win...

• China puts DF missiles on display as flight bans fuel speculation about ICBM test (2026-11-06 10:18)

Chinese state media showcased several Dongfeng-series missiles on Thursday to mark a key anniversary, including the nuclear-capable DF-61 intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) and the rarely seen DF-100 long-range supersonic cruise missile. The coverage coincided with social media reports suggesting that the PLA Rocket Force might have conducted an inland ICBM test, potentially involving a ground-based mid-course missile interception, although neither activity has been officially...

• Viral Chinese app lets strangers vote on purchases to stop impulse buying (2026-11-06 10:00)

Ahead of China's Double 11 shopping spree, a viral WeChat mini-programme called "Wallet, Please Wait" is helping consumers curb impulse purchases. The free tool borrows from corporate finance workflows, outsourcing approval of everyday purchases to the crowd. Users can submit purchase requests detailing the item, its price, their reasons for wanting it and any cheaper alternatives. Shoppers can share requests with family members or post them to a public "plaza," where purchases are approved or...

• Japan deploys AI, specialist teams to counter cyberattack wave (2026-11-06 09:37)

Japan's government on Friday compiled a package of emergency measures to address a spate of recent personal data breaches caused by unauthorised access, amid growing public concerns over cybersecurity. Among the measures are promoting the use of artificial intelligence to identify vulnerabilities in computer systems and creating several teams of highly skilled experts. The package was announced at a meeting of Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi and relevant ministers on Friday. Takaichi instructed...

• Why Malaysia may still face trade uncertainty after US midterms (2026-11-06 09:00)

Malaysia's hope for a shift in US trade policy is unlikely to be realised for some time, experts warn, as the new Democratic-led Congress will face strong opposition from US President Donald Trump in its attempt to reverse some of his tariff measures. Trump's Republicans suffered their worst rout in recent times in the US midterm elections on Tuesday, losing control of both Congress and the Senate by wide margins as voters made clear their anger at Trump oversurging living costs caused by the...

• Hong Kong temperatures to fall to 18 degrees next week as cold front hits (2026-11-06 08:57)

Temperatures in Hong Kong are expected to drop to as low as 18 degrees Celsius (64.4 Fahrenheit) on Tuesday as a cold front hits the city early next week. According to the Hong Kong Observatory, a strong monsoon over the weekend will bring cooler weather. “A strong northeast monsoon will affect the coast of Guangdong over the weekend. A cold front is expected to move across the coast of southern China at first on Monday,” the forecaster said on Friday. “Under the influence of the associated...

• Indonesia doubles down on climate goals despite surging wildfire emissions (2026-11-06 08:54)

Indonesia’s climate ambitions are being undermined by devastating wildfires that contradict its emissions-cutting strategy, casting a shadow over Jakarta’s push for a greener economy ahead of the 31st UN Climate Change Conference (Cop31). However, Environment Minister Jumhur Hidayat has doubled down, arguing that his country’s climate goals should not come at the expense of national development and that emissions reduction efforts must be fair. On Wednesday, he outlined six priority areas for...

• Democrats’ blue wave means rough waters ahead for US-China relations (2026-11-06 08:42)

Comedian Patton Oswalt once joked about the United States electing a KKK president after the progressive years of Barack Obama. The joke is worth retelling, not just because it’s funny but because it captures the swing between extremes in US politics. That’s worth keeping in mind in light of the so-called Democratic blue wave sweeping the country. It goes: “We will have a woman president, probably sooner than later … but just keep in mind that after she serves her term, the choices will very...

• Chinese space firm builds wooden rocket nose cone for cheaper, frequent launches (2026-11-06 08:00)

Chinese commercial space firm Light Year Explorer has manufactured a rocket fairing with a wooden outer skin as part of the company’s push for lower-cost, mass-produced launch vehicles. The design of the protective shell uses low-density plywood formed into a smooth aerodynamic curve, supported by an internal metal framework to bear loads, according to the Jiangsu-based company. “This configuration matches traditional composite fairings in key performance areas such as weight, structural...

• Ex-Miss Thailand arrested over claims charity donations funded luxury lifestyle (2026-11-06 07:25)

A former Miss Thailand and well-known social activist was arrested on Friday alongside her husband, accused of siphoning off money from her charity to buy luxury homes as police examine an estimated 1 billion baht (US$30 million) in donations. Panadda “Boom” Wongphudee, 50, was detained at her Bangkok home early on Friday morning after the Criminal Court issued arrest warrants accusing the couple of public fraud and money laundering. Her husband, fitness influencer and businessman Atip...

• Why Democratic Congress may enhance US-Philippines alliance, pivot to Asia (2026-11-06 07:12)

The Democratic Party’s sweep of both houses of the US Congress could stabilise Washington’s commitment to the Philippines, bringing relief to allies rattled by President Donald Trump’s Iran war and his shifting foreign policy. Analysts expect bipartisan support for Manila to endure, with Democratic oversight set to rein in Trump’s unpredictability. But they warn that Washington could still turn inward to deal with domestic challenges, diverting attention from the Indo-Pacific. The rebuke of...

• The new anti-corruption law arming Beijing with wide global enforcement powers (2026-11-06 06:57)

China’s top legislature has passed a landmark law targeting cross-border corruption, equipping Beijing with expansive new tools to pursue illicit offshore assets while countering foreign attempts to investigate wrongdoing in China. The Anti-Cross-Border Corruption Law was approved at the close of the 25th session of the 14th National People’s Congress Standing Committee on Friday and took effect immediately, according to state news agency Xinhua. The statute establishes formal mechanisms for...

• Is EU’s Southeast Asia push facing a funding crunch as China widens lead? (2026-11-06 06:30)

An EU funding crunch is threatening to stifle the bloc’s ambitions to expand its influence in Southeast Asia, as Brussels grapples with a budget deadlock that could slow infrastructure investments across the fast-growing region. The funding squeeze could hinder the green transition and regional connectivity goals of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, even as Brussels seeks greater strategic autonomy amid competition with Beijing’s economic clout. Analysts expect the European Union to...

• US military expands Pacific cyber hub to counter risks to undersea cable networks (2026-11-06 06:00)

The US military has expanded its cybersecurity presence in Hawaii and set up a regional centre to better detect threats and disruptions to its Pacific communications networks. The new initiatives come amid US accusations of Chinese cyber operations targeting critical infrastructure, including on Guam, and concerns about the security of undersea cables linking the Pacific to the US mainland. Neither initiative has been explicitly linked to China. Brigadier General Michael Smith, US Pacific...

• Does the Democratic midterm victory spell the end of US AI data centre boom? (2026-11-06 06:00)

The sweeping midterm election victory by US Democrats has triggered warnings from analysts that an impending regulatory clampdown could derail the nation's multi-trillion-dollar artificial intelligence data centre buildout. Wall Street forecasters slashed their projections for Big Tech infrastructure spending hours after the vote, cautioning that a wave of proposed project moratoria and tighter oversight could stall up to 30 per cent of planned US facilities and force developers to downscale...

• US accuses trio of using AI to impersonate CEOs and lawyers to steal US$129 million (2026-11-06 05:43)

Three people accused of using artificial intelligence to impersonate corporate executives and lawyers to steal about US$129 million have been indicted on charges of wire fraud and aggravated identity theft, prosecutors said Thursday. Over more than a year and a half, Jacob Soall, 41, Sharon Hazan, 54, and Guy Sheetrit, 42, targeted thousands of companies across the world in their AI scheme, according to the indictment filed in a US District Court in New York. Their victims included hospital...

• Hong Kong's Exchange Fund earnings tumble 74% as HKMA warns of more market turbulence (2026-11-06 05:35)

Hong Kong's Exchange Fund, the war chest used to defend the local currency, reported a 74 per cent tumble in third-quarter earnings amid pervasive market uncertainty, the Hong Kong Monetary Authority (HKMA) said on Friday. Earnings totalled HK$18.6 billion (US$2.4 billion) in the quarter, plunging from HK$70.8 billion a year earlier. For the first nine months of 2026, total earnings slid 39.6 per cent from a year earlier to HK$171.9 billion. The Exchange Fund's Hong Kong equities portfolio...

• 5 months' jail for helper convicted of molesting employer's 12-year-old daughter (2026-11-06 05:30)

A Hong Kong court has sentenced a domestic helper to five months in jail for molesting her former employer's daughter in the family home. Lady Jay Santos Flores, 45, did not submit any mitigation to Kowloon City Court on Friday before she was sentenced on three counts of indecent assault. She sobbed occasionally during the hearing. Flores was convicted last month of molesting the child, who said the Filipino helper had touched her genitals on several occasions between May and June 2025. The...

• Malaysia's Najib closer to house arrest as Umno pays US$12.3 million fine (2026-11-06 05:25)

Malaysia’s Umno said on Friday it had settled the court payment needed to move disgraced former prime minister Najib Razak to house arrest, after a public fundraising campaign reached its target to cover his 50 million ringgit (US$12.3 million) fine. The penalty was a condition of a royal pardon granted in September allowing Najib to serve the remainder of his sentence in a corruption case linked to sovereign wealth fund 1Malaysia Development Berhad (1MDB) at home until August 2028, after more...

• Hong Kong privacy watchdog backs tighter rules on access to land records (2026-11-06 05:19)

Hong Kong’s privacy watchdog has backed a proposed overhaul of rules to tighten access to land records, warning that journalists have no exemption when collecting data as complaints over information misuse appear to be worsening. Privacy Commissioner Ada Chung Lai-ling said on Friday that journalists do not enjoy an exemption under the Privacy Ordinance when gathering information, even though certain safeguards apply to how the data is subsequently used. “The Privacy Ordinance does provide an...

• Trump’s Israel aid cut reveals push to trade grants for tech cooperation (2026-11-06 05:00)

The close defence relationship between the United States and Israel is set to be restructured over the coming two years, with billions of dollars in direct annual military aid being phased out in favour of joint weapons technology programmes. US President Donald Trump shocked Israelis and Americans alike on Tuesday by suddenly announcing that the roughly US$4 billion a year in direct military funding received by Israel would be cut off by the end of the year. Speaking to Fox News on the morning...

• Malaysia’s Sarawak locks election date amid autonomy, resource control push (2026-11-06 04:41)

Malaysia’s Sarawak will hold a state election on December 12 as the incumbent government seeks a fresh mandate to press demands over autonomy and control of the territory’s natural resources. The filing of nominations will begin on November 28 and early voting will be on December 8, Election Commission chairman Ramlan Harun told reporters on Friday. The 14-day election campaign involving more than 2.05 million eligible voters choosing 82 members will end on December 11, the commission said in a...

• EU-China truce under strain as both sides brace for potential trade war (2026-11-06 04:37)

Weeks after the European Union and China struck a deal aimed at averting a looming trade war, the two sides remain at loggerheads over what is wrong with their relationship, how to fix it and who is to blame. At an event in Brussels this week, threats were exchanged and differences rose to the surface. With the ink barely dry on their fragile trade peace, the dynamic made clear that both are still preparing for a trade war. “If the EU insists on adopting restrictive and discriminatory measures...

• Growing Vietnam ties test Japan’s commitment to rules-based regional order (2026-11-06 04:00)

Japan’s growing strategic partnership with Vietnam is putting Tokyo’s commitment to a rules-based regional order under scrutiny, as Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi faces calls to press Hanoi over its failure to honour labour rights commitments. The issue is expected to surface during Vietnamese President To Lam’s four-day visit to Tokyo from Sunday, raising questions about how far Japan is prepared to defend the principles underpinning a major Pacific trade agreement when its economic and security...

• Canada budget charts ‘economic independence’ in decisive shift from US (2026-11-06 03:20)

Canada unveiled a budget on Thursday that calls for “economic independence” and says that while reducing its reliance on the United States will take time, “the shift is under way”. Prime Minister Mark Carney’s second budget since taking office last year was presented to parliament just two days after President Donald Trump suffered a sweeping midterm election rebuke. While Democrats, who will take control of the US House and Senate next year, have already voiced a desire to ease Trump’s trade...

• 12½ years’ jail for ex-Macau lawmaker Au Kam-san in city’s first national security trial (2026-11-06 03:08)

Former Macau lawmaker Au Kam-san has been convicted on five out of seven charges in the city’s first national security trial, with the court handing him a 12½-year prison sentence. The Court of First Instance in Macau on Friday found the 69-year-old guilty on four counts under the city’s national security law – subversion of state power and establishing links with foreign groups or individuals to commit activities endangering national security – as well as a fifth count of violation of...

• US and Brazil deliver double blow to the populist right. Will Europe feel the impact? (2026-11-06 03:00)

In the space of roughly 10 days, the two largest democracies in the Americas delivered setbacks to the populist right. In Brazil, Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva staged a narrow but remarkable comeback, defeating Flavio Bolsonaro, the son of former president Jair Bolsonaro, in a run-offelection after trailing in the first round. This week, American voters handed control of bothchambers of the US Congress to Democrats in a sharp rebuke of candidates riding on USPresident Donald Trump's "Make America...

• China MMA champion Zhang Weili faces family pressure to find a partner, go on blind dates (2026-11-06 02:36)

China's first UFC champion recently shared that her family has been pressuring her to get married, but she is afraid to use her real name on dating websites for fear of revealing her identity. Thirty-six-year-old mixed martial arts (MMA) fighter Zhang Weili discussed her difficulties finding a boyfriend during an interview with mainland influencer Papi Jiang (known in English as Pepi Sauce) in late October. The interview has received a total of 230,000 likes and more than 10,000 comments across...

• Post-US midterms AI worries pummel shares in Japan, South Korea (2026-11-06 02:31)

Japanese and South Korean shares plunged on Friday after US shares tumbled overnight on worries that midterm election results could slow or derail the artificial intelligence data centre investment boom. Tokyo's benchmark Nikkei 225 index fell 5.1 per cent to 56,930 points in early trade. Seoul's Kospi index dived 8.5 per cent to 4,923, triggering a circuit breaker which suspended trading for 20 minutes. Investors had initially cheered Tuesday's Democratic drubbing of US President Donald Trump's...

• Philippines' project budget allocations spur accusations of pork barrel politics (2026-11-06 02:30)

A road project with coordinates pointing to Nigeria. A government building apparently located in the Sahara Desert. Another road mapped to a sea near Brunei. These are among the unlikely locations listed for infrastructure projects in the Philippines' proposed 2027 national budget, according to independent watchdogs that have discovered the discrepancies, highlighting problems with government transparency and accountability. Their scrutiny of Manila's proposed 7.2 trillion pesos (US$114 billion)...

• Netanyahu rival Eisenkot tipped to seek Israeli government with backing of Arab lists (2026-11-06 02:10)

Israeli President Isaac Herzog said he will announce on Sunday whom he will task with trying to form a new government, after the opposition's Gadi Eisenkot secured a commanding number of recommendations to replace Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu. Herzog held a second day of consultations with political parties on Thursday after the October 27 election, in which neither Netanyahu - a polarising right-winger who has led Israel through three years of war - nor Eisenkot - a former military chief...

• A son in prison, a daughter gone: Singapore parents face heartbreak (2026-11-06 01:59)

When Huang Baoying was growing up, her older brother helped look after her, their parents recalled. Huang Bocan would tutor his younger sister at night and help her with her studies, their mother said. To his parents, he was a responsible son whom they trusted to help care for Baoying while they worked long hours. Years later, he would be sentenced to life imprisonment for murdering her. “We never imagined that things could become so serious,” their father said after Bocan, 34, was sentenced on...

- ‘Mindful’ of AI exposure: wealth managers at Hong Kong summit urge balance in portfolios (2026-11-06 01:46)

Before tech stocks plummeted in the US overnight, executives at a private wealth conference in Hong Kong have highlighted AI infrastructure as a versatile “defence plus growth” investment opportunity, while cautioning investors against portfolios that are overreliant on artificial intelligence. “Infrastructure opportunities now really lie at the bottleneck of solving [AI’s] demands within structural growth,” the head of managed investments and Hong Kong wealth solutions at Standard Chartered...

- How Japan’s 660 most wanted stay hidden: slums, day labour and forged IDs (2026-11-06 01:30)

A month-long police campaign in Japan to track down hundreds of suspects sought over the nation’s most notorious crimes, some dating back decades, underscores what analysts describe as the surprising ease with which individuals can vanish, even in the country’s highly bureaucratic society. The nationwide drive, officially designated the “Month for Strengthening Investigations into Wanted Suspects”, began on November 1. Through official websites and social media appeals, authorities are urging...

- Chances are, US-China truce will be extended at Shenzhen Apec summit (2026-11-06 01:30)

At their October meeting in South Korea last year, US President Donald Trump and Chinese President Xi Jinping, recognising mutual vulnerability to export restrictions, agreed to suspend some of the most draconian measures they had imposed on each other: US port fees on Chinese-built vessels and Chinese export controls on rare earths. They also announced further summit-level talks. The leaders have since met twice: Trump visited Beijing in May, Xi visited Washington in September. They are...

- China’s new PLA theatre chiefs identified as anti-corruption drive clears ranks (2026-11-06 01:00)

Beijing has hinted at the new leadership line-up in its military theatre commands, with fresh faces emerging during last week’s party conclave in the seating area reserved for key commanders, filling vacancies left by China’s anti-corruption drive. The fifth plenum of the Communist Party’s 20th Central Committee, which concluded last Thursday, focused on party discipline and political loyalty, confirming the expulsion of 33 full and alternate Central Committee members, including 16 senior...

• South Korea apologises for classing gay teens as delinquents (2026-11-06 01:00)

South Korea's government has announced it will revise a youth counselling manual that categorised homosexuality as a form of juvenile delinquency, after facing a backlash sparked by local media reports earlier this week. Homosexuality was grouped alongside sexual violence, theft and drug abuse under "delinquency-related issues" in the manual, the Korea JoongAng Daily reported. Published by the Korea Youth Counselling and Welfare Institute – a body affiliated with the Ministry of Gender Equality...

• Overseas institutions keen on Hong Kong university towns, happy to help local peers (2026-11-06 00:30)

Leaders of overseas institutions have expressed keen interest in taking part in Hong Kong's planned university towns in the Northern Metropolis megaproject and stress that while financing remains a challenge, they will collaborate on activities to help ensure projects are financially viable. The university heads also called on the Hong Kong government to provide affordable housing in the new university towns, roll out policy incentives to retain top global talent and clearly define what success...

• Beyond the Exhibition Hall: AWE's Waterfront Debut Offers a Glimpse of What's Next (2026-11-06 00:00)

[The content of this article has been produced by our advertising partner.] From private jewellery viewings to stepping aboard a yacht, the Festival of Connoisseurs took visitors beyond the conventional exhibition hall. This luxury festival is the first exhibition supported by a HK$100 million government fund, spearheaded by the Commerce and Economic Development Bureau to attract large-scale, distinctive international exhibitions to Hong Kong. It brought yachts, prestige cars, jewellery and art...

• Trump's first move after midterms? Ensuring future presidents can't change his Oval Office (2026-11-05 23:59)

US President Donald Trump on Thursday signed a proclamation that he says will prevent future changes to the Oval Office and Cabinet Room, throwing up a potential barrier to future presidents who might want to restyle the iconic office that Trump has gradually filled with gold flourishes. The proclamation was Trump's first official action after his party was swept aside in midterm elections on Tuesday. Sitting on the Resolute Desk as he signed the document was a red baseball cap with "VETO" on...

• How Singapore confronts AI fears of 'broken' career ladder, no pause button (2026-11-05 23:30)

Singapore is seeking to flip the script by turning its land and manpower constraints into reasons to embrace AI instead of fearing it, even as the technology carries the spectre of job losses and cyberthreats in the wrong hands, a senior official has said. Minister for Digital Development and Information Josephine Teo argued that pragmatism would give her resource-scarce country anedge without becoming overly reliant on any single power or AI provider. At the Family BusinessSummit in Hong Kong...

- Hong Kong police to enable AI facial recognition on CCTV network this month (2026-11-05 23:00)

Hong Kong police will enable artificial intelligence-powered facial recognition technology across their expanding smart surveillance network this month to improve the tracking of missing persons or suspects, with plans to save the data it generates for up to 180 days. The force said the facial recognition technology was widely used by law enforcement agencies around the world and stressed that residents' privacy rights would be protected. "Leveraging AI [facial recognition] would cut the time we...

- Hong Kong developer Hysan's Lee Garden Eight draws law firm out of Central: sources (2026-11-05 23:00)

Hong Kong law firm Woo Kwan Lee & Lo is reportedly relocating to Causeway Bay after more than five decades in Central's Jardine House, reserving about 39,000 square feet in Hysan Development's Lee Garden Eight in a major lease for the new commercial complex. Market sources identified the firm as the incoming tenant at Lee Garden Eight, which is scheduled for completion this quarter. The firm will occupy an entire low to middle floor, according to local media reports. The firm declined to...

- Scott Wiener set to replace Nancy Pelosi in San Francisco, as Connie Chan concedes (2026-11-05 22:39)

California state lawmaker Scott Wiener appears to have defeated congresswoman Nancy Pelosi's hand-picked successor in her San Francisco congressional district. Democrat Connie Chan said she does not have a "clear path to victory" in California's 11th Congressional District, conceding defeat in a post on social media. "I congratulate Scott Wiener on his election," she said. Pelosi, the 86-year-old former House speaker, is retiring from Congress when her term ends in early January. "San...

- California Governor Newsom granting clemency to all 548 death row inmates in state (2026-11-05 22:28)

California Governor Gavin Newsom said on Thursday he would commute the death sentences of all 548 inmates currently condemned to execution in his state, the largest death row in the western hemisphere. The announcement, in a three-page letter addressed to "all Californians", came as Newsom, a Democrat who is expected to seek his party's presidential nomination in 2028, neared the end of his second and final four-year term as governor. Newsom, who previously served as mayor of San Francisco...

- Is Lula's upset win also a victory for Chinese firms in Brazil? (2026-11-05 22:00)

With domestic profits narrowing and production capacity expanding, China's firms are continuing to widen their overseas footprints in search of new, more lucrative markets. In this series, we examine China Inc.'s next phase of "going global" and the complex, challenging international environment its companies have chosen to enter. A presidential election in Brazil, a country thousands of miles away, might seem like just another headline to many in China. But for Chinese companies doing business...

- Defiant Hegseth tells US Democrats their impeachment push 'won't work' (2026-11-05 21:31)

US Secretary of Defence Pete Hegseth said he will "not back down" against a "lame duck" US Congress, and that the calls for his impeachment will "not work" in his first reaction after the Democrats' landslide victory in Tuesday's midterm elections. In a video uploaded by the Pentagon on Thursday, Hegseth said that "a disgruntled, defeated congressman, along with all his Democrat allies", have been submitting "sham" bills for his impeachment, resembling that of the similar attempt against US...

- AI storm dooms tech stocks to US$2 trillion decline on darkest day since 2025 (2026-11-05 21:19)

Big tech stocks slumped on Thursday in their biggest decline since the "Liberation Day" rout last year, extending what has been a punishing autumn for the AI trade. The Nasdaq 100 index was set for market value declines exceeding US$2 trillion on investor fears that the Democratic Party's sweeping midterm victory could stall AI infrastructure expansion and force a chaotic reckoning for smaller firms whose capacity to raise funds has already been limited by higher interest rates and tighter...

- India-born democratic socialist Nithya Raman becomes LA mayor, ousting Karen Bass (2026-11-05 21:01)

India-born democratic socialist Nithya Raman ousted incumbent Democrat Karen Bass to become the next mayor of Los Angeles, ending a heated race that saw the one-time allies spar over frustration with the status quo. Bass conceded to Raman in a phone call on Thursday, after the latest numbers showed Raman with 52 per cent of the vote against the outgoing mayor's 48 per cent, with three-quarters of votes counted. Raman, 45, campaigned in the nation's second-largest city on a platform of "pothole...

- Mass protests sweep France again, as workers strike and march for 'dignified wage' (2026-11-05 20:23)

Hundreds of thousands of striking workers protested across France on Thursday against the rising cost of living following weeks of youth-led demonstrations, with police firing tear gas as clashes broke out in some cities. The marches come as the euro zone's second-largest economy battles to redress its dire finances, six months ahead of elections to replace President Emmanuel Macron, with the far-right leading in the opinion polls. While the CGT union put Thursday's turnout at 1.6 million across...

• US sanctions Chinese firms over alleged military supplies to Cuba (2026-11-05 20:13)

The United States has imposed sanctions on two Chinese companies it accuses of supplying equipment and components to Cuba's military, as Washington intensifies pressure on Havana's foreign suppliers and expands its authority to target businesses operating on the island. The US State Department said on Thursday that China National Electronic Import and Export Company, or CEIEC, and Beijing H&C Technologies had worked with Cuban arms procurement company Sociedad Mercantil Duna to supply...

• Cuba detains award-winning journalist Yoani Sanchez (2026-11-05 19:19)

Cuban State Security agents detained Yoani Sanchez, the award-winning founder and director of the independent news outlet 14ymedio, in Havana on Thursday morning amid the latest government crackdown on independent journalists. It was the third detention of an independent journalist in the Cuban capital this week. "Yoani Sanchez has been detained by State Security today in Havana," journalist Reinaldo Escobar, Sanchez's husband, who is currently in Madrid, announced on social media. Sanchez left...

• Chinese scientists chill atoms to record low on Tiangong space station (2026-11-05 19:00)

Chinese scientists have chilled atoms aboard the Tiangong space station to the lowest temperature ever measured, smashing US and German records and paving the way for ultra-precise space sensors that could find hidden minerals, track climate change and test Einstein's theory of gravity. Researchers from Peking University and the Chinese Academy of Sciences brought thousands of rubidium atoms, packed into a cloud smaller than a grain of sand, to less than 10 trillionths of a degree above absolute...

• 'J.D., habibi': Arabs celebrate as Michigan's El-Sayed mocks foes with term of affection (2026-11-05 18:18)

From Michigan to the Middle East, Arabs are celebrating Abdul El-Sayed's Senate win and delighting in his introduction of Arabic terms like "habibi" and "inshallah" to the American political lexicon. After being the target of Islamophobic rhetoric on the campaign trail, the rising political star, who will be the first Muslim-American US senator, has mocked his critics on the right while championing the Palestinian cause and leaning into his faith and Egyptian heritage. "J.D., habibi," El-Sayed...

• Melania Trump hosts Ukraine, Russia officials, calls for 'more enduring' truce (2026-11-05 17:25)

Melania Trump, US President Donald Trump's wife, joined representatives from Russia and Ukraine on Thursday at a White House event to recognise a recent six-day ceasefire she helped broker in the Russian-controlled city of Oleshky. The event followed US officials' ramped-up efforts to secure a deal to end the conflict between Russia and Ukraine, which began when Russian forces invaded Ukraine in early 2022. A trilateral meeting with officialsfrom the US, Ukraine and Russia is planned for...

• Paraguay's President Pena resigns under mounting pressure from bank collapse (2026-11-05 17:03)

Paraguayan President Santiago Pena resigned on Thursday as calls for his removal swelled following the collapse of digital lender Ueno that left millions of customers unable to access their accounts. "I do so with the stability of our country, social peace, and the need to preserve our democratic institutions in mind," he said in a video recorded address on Thursday. Pena, an ally of US President Donald Trump, is stepping down after the opposition called an extraordinary session to begin the...

• Hong Kong police arrest operator of prisoner support group over allegedly seditious books (2026-11-05 15:45)

Hong Kong national security police have arrested an operator of a local prisoner support group on suspicion of importing seditious publications, days after the group revealed that customs had seized dozens of books it had ordered from Taiwan. Police said officers carried out an enforcement operation in Mong Kok on Thursday morning, arresting a local man, 34, on suspicion of "importing a publication that has a seditious intention", an offence under the Safeguarding National Security...

• Iran says 5 tankers catch fire after striking naval mines in Strait of Hormuz (2026-11-05 15:35)

Five oil tankers and a tugboat caught fire in the Strait of Hormuz, Iran's Revolutionary Guards and army said in separate statements, according to local media on Thursday. Since the outbreak of the Iran war in late February, Tehran has severely restricted traffic through the strategic waterway, which normally carries about one-fifth of global oil consumption. It regularly attacks ships it accuses of transiting without its authorisation. The United States military has in response imposed a...

• After US$474m gamble flops, what happens now to Elon Musk's Tesla, SpaceX and China ties? (2026-11-05 15:00)

Elon Musk bet nearly half a billion dollars that political spending could keep Washington friendly to his sprawling business empire. On Tuesday, that bet came up short. As Democrats recaptured control of the US Congress in the midterm elections, the world's richest man found himself facing an abruptly altered political landscape. After pouring a record-breaking US$474 million into political groups – overwhelmingly backing Republicans – Musk now faces a divided Washington keen to examine his...

• British actor Russell Brand faces prison after rape, sexual assault conviction (2026-11-05 14:54)

Russell Brand was convicted on Thursday of rape and sexual assault charges on allegations dating back more than 20 years. Judge Joel Bennathan said Brand would receive a prison term when he is sentenced on Monday. He was taken into custody. A prosecutor said the British actor-comedian was a ruthless, calculating, manipulative “sexual predator”. The 51-year-old denied the charges and testified that he was obsessed with sex as a young man and once led a promiscuous life but had never forced anyone...

• Domestic helper arrested after 5-month-old baby found unconscious at Yuen Long home (2026-11-05 14:41)

Hong Kong police have arrested a domestic helper for suspected child abuse after a five-month-old baby girl was found unconscious at her Yuen Long home. The force received a report from the girl’s mother at about 7.20pm on Thursday that the infant was unconscious at a residence at Ha San Wai along Castle Peak Road. Paramedics rushed to the scene and transported the baby girl to Pok Oi Hospital in Yuen Long for emergency resuscitation. She was subsequently transferred to Tuen Mun Hospital for...

• US labour market holds firm as weekly lay-offs tumble to 57-year low (2026-11-05 14:31)

The number of Americans filing new claims for unemployment slipped to a 57-year last week as lay-offs remained low against the backdrop of a resilient labour market. Initial claims for state unemployment benefits fell 6,000 to a seasonally adjusted 189,000 for the week ended October 31, the Labour Department said on Thursday. Economists had forecast 196,000 claims for the latest week. Claims matched the 189,000 level touched in mid-July, which was the lowest reading since 1969. They have stayed...

• Why the next US House speaker won’t follow Nancy Pelosi’s Taiwan playbook (2026-11-05 14:00)

The Democrat expected to become US House speaker has met Taiwan’s former leader and backed legislation supporting the island, yet is unlikely to follow Nancy Pelosi’s example in pursuing high-profile engagement with Taipei, analysts said. Hakeem Jeffries, the House’s top-ranking Democrat, announced his bid for the speakership on Wednesday after Democrats won a majority of seats in the US midterm elections. He is poised to officially become House speaker following a floor vote on the first day of...

• Indonesian wiretapping scandal exposes widening Prabowo-Jokowi rift (2026-11-05 13:56)

An Indonesian police inquiry into the wiretapping of President Prabowo Subianto’s phone was a matter for law enforcement, the country’s police chief said on Thursday, as the scandal exposed the deepening cracks between Prabowo and his former backer and predecessor, Joko Widodo. “We assure you that this is purely law enforcement and has nothing to do with rivalries or anything else,” police chief Suyudi Ario Seto told reporters without elaborating, adding that the arrests must serve as a lesson...

• Chinese chipmaker Hua Hong bets big on silicon photonics amid AI boom (2026-11-05 13:27)

China’s second-largest contract chipmaker, Hua Hong Grace Semiconductor, is aggressively expanding into silicon photonics, as the company looks to capture the next wave of the global artificial intelligence infrastructure boom. Speaking on an earnings call with analysts on Thursday, Hua Hong chairman and president Bai Peng said the company planned to significantly expand its footprint in silicon photonics – a critical technology used in AI optical modules – during its next major capacity...

• Boy George hailed ‘hero’ for defying cultural boycott to perform in Israel (2026-11-05 13:26)

When cheers erupted at a packed Tel Aviv stadium for Boy George, it was not only a sign of the 65-year-old singer’s enduring fame. It was the sound of national delight at an international pop star willing to perform in an increasingly isolated Israel. A smattering of Israeli flags dotted the crowd as the flamboyant Culture Club frontman took the stage in a sequinned jacket for Wednesday’s sold-out performance with a simple greeting of “Shalom!” The British singer is one of the few international...

• Lithuania builds world’s biggest ultra-fast laser factory amid China tensions (2026-11-05 13:00)

Amid tensions with China, a small European country is anchoring itself at the centre of the global semiconductor and artificial intelligence (AI) hardware supply chain as a laser powerhouse. The latest sign of Lithuania’s growing footprint in the sector came last month, when laser maker Litilit launched a new factory in the capital, Vilnius. The company’s expansion unfolds as the Baltic nation of fewer than 3 million people navigates fraught ties with Beijing, which has targeted Lithuania with a...

• US borrowing outlook steadies after midterms, but Treasury yields face new tests: analysts (2026-11-05 13:00)

After the Democrats swept the US midterm elections, a divided government may help restrain future Treasury borrowing and prevent fresh deficit blowouts, though it will not necessarily bring down elevated bond yields, analysts say. The US Treasury Department unveiled its quarterly refunding statement on Wednesday, with market participants describing the overall borrowing outlook as largely neutral. Based on its projected financing needs, the Treasury said it expected to keep note and bond auction...

• Finland jails Russian cargo ship captain over Baltic Sea cable sabotage (2026-11-05 12:30)

A Finnish court on Thursday jailed the Russian captain and an Azerbaijani crew member of the cargo ship Fitburg for aggravated sabotage over damage to two subsea telecommunications cables in the Gulf of Finland last year. Finland on December 31 seized the vessel in the Gulf of Finland while it was en route from Russia to Israel, on suspicion that it had damaged cables running from Helsinki to Estonia. The Helsinki District Court sentenced the captain to threeyears and six months in prison and...

• The US-China tech contest has moved – to the gatekeeping product testers (2026-11-05 12:30)

The latest front in the US-China technology contest is not advanced chips, artificial intelligence (AI) or telecommunications equipment. It is the laboratories that certify whether an electronic product may enter the American market. On October 29, the US Federal Communications Commission (FCC) voted to stop recognising testing laboratories, telecoms certification bodies and accreditation organisations in China and in other economies that lack a "mutual recognition agreement" or comparable...

• Hong Kong grandmother gets 20 days for slapping 5-year-old girl at play area (2026-11-05 12:17)

A Hong Kong grandmother has been sentenced to 20 days in jail for slapping a five-year-old girl who squabbled over a basketball with her grandson in a play area at the atrium of APM shopping centre in Kwun Tong. Leung Lai-ha, 68, on Thursday pleaded guilty to assaulting the girl on August 26, admitting that she hit the girl on impulse. A video of the brawl showed three adults were involved – Leung, her 34-year-old daughter Ng Ka-wun and Xu Yang, 34, the girl's mother. The physical altercation...

• China ready to expand US agricultural imports if Board of Trade tariff cuts take effect (2026-11-05 12:00)

Beijing says it remains open to buying more agricultural products from the United States, but wants reciprocal tariff cuts covering US$30 billion worth of products on each side to be implemented first under the US-China Board of Trade. "China has always maintained an open attitude towards expanding agricultural imports from the United States, provided that the agreed-upon reciprocal tariff reduction arrangement – covering $30 billion on each side – is implemented," Huang Ling, a spokeswoman for...

• Hong Kong medical watchdog to hold by-election after member quits over conflict risk (2026-11-05 11:55)

Hong Kong's medical watchdog will hold a by-election after a prominent patients' rights advocate resigned from the body amid concerns over a potential conflict of interest in his plan to represent the father of a child who died following an alleged medical blunder at an inquest into her death. The Medical Council announced on Thursday that it will process matters related to the by-election for the vacancy created by the departure of Alex Lam Chi-yau, who submitted his written resignation as a...

- Singapore denies power cut caused causeway jam, blames maintenance, breakdowns (2026-11-05 11:44)

Singapore's Immigration and Checkpoints Authority (ICA) on Thursday rejected a report that a power outage at Woodlands Checkpoint caused traffic congestion along the causeway and on several roads in Johor Bahru on Wednesday. In its account of Wednesday's events, ICA said a build-up of Singapore-bound traffic occurred amid planned electrical maintenance works, while two vehicle breakdowns on the Malaysian side of the causeway subsequently contributed to traffic tailing back into...

- Abby Choi could have been hit on head 7 times with hammer, murder trial told (2026-11-05 11:32)

Warning: graphic content follows. Slain Hong Kong socialite Abby Choi Tin-fung could have been struck on the head seven times with a hammer when she was allegedly murdered three years ago, a court has heard. Forensic pathologist Dr Kwok Ka-ki said on Thursday that Choi was fatally struck on the head with a blunt object, leaving a large hole on the right side of her head and causing extensive bleeding in her brain and skull. Testifying in the High Court as the murder trial entered its sixth week,...

- Facing 2 years as a lame duck, what can Trump do to stay in control? (2026-11-05 11:18)

Following disastrous midterm elections that cost Republicans congressional control, President Donald Trump faces serving the rest of his term as a "lame duck" and battling constant resistance to his agenda. The loss is expected to steer the White House towards a more aggressive foreign policy and even greater reliance on executive orders. Trump has already suggested he could brandish his veto pen for "a month or two" before negotiating agreements with Democratic leaders. Here, we explain how...

- Powered by GPT-6, Unitree humanoid robots master painting, chess without training, says CEO (2026-11-05 11:00)

Robots developed by Chinese humanoid maker Unitree Robotics can now paint pictures and play chess without any prior training, relying on frontier AI models to navigate complex physical tasks, according to founder and CEO Wang Xingxing. Speaking on Thursday at the China International Import Expo (CIIE) in Shanghai, Wang said Unitree's machines, powered by OpenAI's GPT-6, were capable of executing intricate robotic sequences, such as dynamically replacing brush water and blending pigments, guided...

• Vietnam seeks Russia’s help for its nuclear ambition. Will sanctions stall it? (2026-11-05 10:59)

Vietnam’s growing nuclear partnership with Russia could help Hanoi gain the expertise needed to fuel its ambitious nuclear programme amid doubts over Western sanctions against Moscow and financing challenges complicating the plans. The Vietnam Atomic Energy Institute (Vinatom) and a subsidiary of Russia’s state nuclear corporation Rosatom, which is leading the development of the MBIR International Research Centre, announced on Tuesday that they had signed a memorandum of understanding to...

• Burnt-out Chinese youth wear laid-back emperor’s robe to resist overtime (2026-11-05 10:30)

Burnt out by the relentless grind, some young people in China have rallied around an unlikely patron saint: a famously indolent Ming dynasty (1368–1644) emperor. This autumn, across office towers, universities, and streets in China’s tier-one cities, young people have begun sporting black Taoist robes modelled on the garment worn by the Jiajing Emperor in the classic historical drama Ming Dynasty in 1566. In the drama, actor Chen Baoguo portrays the Jiajing Emperor as an unkempt, robe-clad...

• Malaysia Hindu rites row: live stream of Muslim youth’s repentance fuels fury (2026-11-05 10:23)

A young Malaysian Muslim who took part in Hindu rituals to pray for his ailing mother publicly repented on Thursday in a ceremony live-streamed by state religious authorities, a day after a sharia court ordered him to undergo three months of faith rehabilitation. The spectacle has raised questions about the enforcement of Islamic orthodoxy in Muslim-majority Malaysia, where state religious departments wield significant influence to police the personal conduct and religious beliefs of...

• AI disruption, geopolitics and partnerships in focus at Hong Kong business summit (2026-11-05 10:10)

Technology-driven disruptions, superpower rivalry and global partnerships were among the topics that dominated a closed-door summit in Hong Kong, as countries and tech giants seek to boost growth and lead the race in artificial intelligence. About 100 business owners, executives and academics from the United States, mainland China, Hong Kong, Southeast Asia and the Middle East attended the fourth edition of the Family Business Summit, co-hosted by the South China Morning Post and Blue Pool...

• European flights diverted again after wave of hoax bomb threats (2026-11-05 10:07)

Multiple flights in Europe made emergency landings on Thursday after being diverted because of bomb threats, authorities said. The incidents followed hoax bomb threats earlier this week that prompted searches, diversions and in one case a military escort. More than a dozen flights from cities including Copenhagen, Dublin, Helsinki, Madrid, Milan and Warsaw were confirmedto have been targeted with bomb threats, most diverted to other airports for emergencylandings while others landed safely at...

• China proves a cut above with world-first precision laser experiment in space (2026-11-05 09:59)

China's space scientists have become the first to carry out precision laser cutting in orbit, slicing a piece of "large-scale equipment" with a robotic arm fixed to the outside the Tiangong space station. The official Science and Technology Daily reported on Wednesday that millimetre-scale cuts were made by a laser maintenance device operated remotely from "hundreds of kilometres away". Precision laser cutting involves focusing a beam of light to slice or melt material with extreme accuracy, a...

• Mainland Chinese firm, director admit fraud in HK$52.9m Hong Kong bottled water scandal (2026-11-05 09:53)

A mainland Chinese company and its director have pleaded guilty to fraud after submitting falsified certificates to win a HK$52.9 million (US$6.78 million) contract to supply drinking water to civil servants in Hong Kong. The high-profile procurement scandal came to light in August last year after civil servants raised concerns about the quality of products supplied by Xin Ding Xin Trade, which held a three-year contract to provide XinLe-brand bottled water to government offices on Hong Kong...

• Cathay Pacific Airways to give eligible Hong Kong staff bonus worth a month's pay (2026-11-05 09:52)

Cathay Pacific Airways will award eligible Hong Kong-based employees a discretionary bonus equivalent to one month's pay for 2026, marking the fourth consecutive year it has offered the payout. The bonus will be paid on January 7 next year, according to an internal staff announcement seen by the South China Morning Post. The airline credited employees for helping it achieve successive years of solid financial performance. "You are at the heart of Cathay's success, and we remain committed to...

• China's Yutong Bus expands overseas as new-energy bus exports surge (2026-11-05 09:29)

China's Yutong Bus, the world's largest electric bus manufacturer, is seeing its overseas shipments climb steadily, with demand growing rapidly in countries such as Australia, Malaysia, Saudi Arabia and Morocco. Based in Zhengzhou in central China's Henan province, the company now generates more than half of its total revenue from overseas sales. New-energy models – comprising pure-electric and hybrid vehicles – have made up 25 per cent of its bus exports so far this year, a sharp increase from...

• Exiled Thai critic mocks authorities after textbook banned on national security grounds (2026-11-05 09:25)

Thailand has banned a textbook about the country on national security grounds, with the tome's exiled editor saying on Thursday it was outlawed over its content on the Thai monarchy. The royal family holds revered status in Thai society and is shielded from criticism by a strict defamation law that critics say is used to muzzle dissent. The book, a second edition of the Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Thailand published in English in August, was edited by Pavin Chachavalpongpun, a prominent...

• Hong Kong working carers shun family-friendly measures amid stigma fears: study (2026-11-05 09:22)

More than half of working carers in Hong Kong have never used the family-friendly measures offered by their companies, a study has found, sparking calls from experts to change workplace cultures to prevent carers being stigmatised. The findings came even as the study, released on Thursday, also showed carers benefited from measures such as flexible working hours and working from home, which led to fewer symptoms of depression and reduced the burden of caregiving. Bobo Lau Hi-po, a professor at...

• Chinese and North Korean officials step up diplomatic drive in wake of Kim Jong-un visit (2026-11-05 09:01)

Senior Chinese and North Korean officials met on Thursday in the wake of Kim Jong-un's recent cross-border visit and a renewed drive by the two sides to deepen their relationship. China's top diplomat Wang Yi struck an upbeat tone on the relationship between the two countries when he hosted a visiting delegation led by Kim Song-nam, the international affairs chief of the Workers' Party of Korea, in Beijing. "China is ready to work with the DPRK [Democratic People's Republic of Korea] to...

• Thai conservationists hunt for dugong poop in race to save endangered marine mammal (2026-11-05 08:50)

Thai conservationists are sleuthing for clues to help save the country's last herd of dugongs by testing the mammal's poop for stress hormones, its microbiome and other health indicators to prevent the extinction of this beloved yet critically endangered sea creature. But first they have to find the faeces – a green fist-sized ball consisting of the seagrass the gentle dugongs graze on daily in the coastal shallows of the Andaman Sea. It is literally drop-in-the-ocean work for the teams using...

• Philippine police investigate Meghan's brother as Markle child abuse inquiry widens (2026-11-05 08:37)

Philippine investigators are examining whether Thomas Markle Jnr, the half-brother of Meghan, the Duchess of Sussex, was involved in alleged child sexual abuse offences as an investigation into their father widens, according to the country's interior secretary on Thursday. Interior

Secretary Juanito Victor Remulla said witnesses had alleged that underage girls were brought tothe younger Markle's home. Markle Jnr was being treated as a "person of interest", not asuspect, Remulla told reporters...

• How Trump's weakened grip on Congress complicates talks with China (2026-11-05 08:30)

The Democratic sweep of the US midterm elections has transformed the political balance in Washington, but it has not transferred control of foreign policy from the White House to Congress. When the new Congress convenes in January, Democrats will control both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Their victories reflected widespread frustration with the Iran war, rising living costs and US President Donald Trump's leadership. Reuters reported that 70 per cent of voters wanted Congress to...

• Hong Kong needs 'forward-looking' plans amid changes in industrial chains: John Lee (2026-11-05 08:09)

Hong Kong should proactively plan and implement forward-looking strategies amid rapid changes in global industrial chains and the rapid development of technology and artificial intelligence, the city's leader has said at an economic forum. Speaking at the Hongqiao International Economic Forum in Shanghai, Chief Executive John Lee Ka-chiu said on Thursday that the government's GoGlobal task force had helped more than 360 mainland Chinese firms establish or expand their businesses in Hong Kong...

• Philippine envoy says US immigration detention rules may change after midterms (2026-11-05 07:49)

The Philippines on Thursday voiced optimism that the Democratic Party's resounding midterm election win would prompt the United States to adopt "a different approach" to President Donald Trump's hardening immigration crackdown that has ensnared many Filipinos. Trump's Republican Party was routed in Tuesday's polls, with the Democrats taking control of both houses of the US Congress and gaining legislative power to check his policies. The drubbing has given hope to Jose Manuel Romualdez, Manila's...

• Starved, beaten: Singaporean gets life imprisonment for murdering sister (2026-11-05 07:31)

A man was sentenced to life imprisonment on Thursday for murder after being part of a group that abused his 19-year-old younger sister until she died. Huang Bocan, who joined his girlfriend and another man in starving the victim and chaining her to a toilet, was first charged in 2021 with common intention of committing murder by causing bodily injury to Huang Baoying. Huang, a 34-year-old Singaporean, was convicted on Thursday of committing murder by causing his younger sister's death. The...

• Centuries-old UK parliament risks ‘catastrophic failure’ over delayed revamp (2026-11-05 07:28)

Britain’s centuries-old parliament is at risk of a “Notre Dame-like” fire or other catastrophe if lawmakers continue to put off a major restoration project, MPs warned on Wednesday. Crumbling masonry, ageing electrics, frequent leaks and high asbestos levels are some of the problems besetting the Palace of Westminster, parts of which are more than 900 years old. Billions of pounds are required to renovate the estate, which sits within a Unesco World Heritage site, but parliamentarians have been...

• North Korea digs in for US stand-off as Democratic midterm wins dim summit hopes (2026-11-05 07:15)

North Korea is bracing for a prolonged confrontation with the United States, analysts say, after sweeping Democratic gains in the US midterm elections diminished the likelihood of renewed diplomacy between Kim Jong-un and President Donald Trump. As Americans cast their ballots on Tuesday, Pyongyang test-fired a new surface-to-air missile system and carried out a strike drill with long-range strategic cruise missiles early on Wednesday, Korean time – its fourth weapons test in a week. The...

• South Korea investigates 580 finance firms over data leaks, issues warning (2026-11-05 07:08)

South Korea is investigating hundreds of financial institutions after more than 470,000 data records were leaked from 37 firms over the past month, according to the country’s financial regulator. The Financial Services Commission (FSC) revealed the scale of the breaches on Thursday as authorities vowed to strengthen cybersecurity measures following a string of similar cases affecting the financial sector and government agencies. The FSC detailed the incidents at a meeting with officials from...

• US asset manager Federated Hermes opens Hong Kong office to tap China’s tech rise (2026-11-05 07:00)

US asset manager Federated Hermes has opened its office in Hong Kong, after two years of preparation, joining a wave of international financial giants competing for growth in the Asia-Pacific region. The company, which managed US$884 billion worth of assets as of September, considered a Hong Kong office two years ago and its board approved a plan a year later. Its office in the Nexxus Building in Central adds to its Asia-Pacific footprint in Singapore, Tokyo and Sydney. “Hong Kong is a premier...

• Ex-Politburo member Ma Xingrui’s corruption charges extend to end of last century (2026-11-05 06:50)

Former Politburo member and Xinjiang Communist Party chief Ma Xingrui has been indicted on bribery charges dating back to the late 1990s, Chinese state media reported on Thursday. As one of the 24 members of one of the party’s innermost circles, the 67-year-old Ma is among the most senior Chinese officials investigated in the country’s sweeping anti-corruption campaign. He is also the fourth Politburo member to have faced corruption charges since President Xi Jinping came to power in late...

• Ex-armed police chief Wang Ning ousted from China’s top advisory body (2026-11-05 06:10)

A former commander of China’s paramilitary force has been stripped of his senior political advisory roles, becoming the third consecutive head of the People’s Armed Police to fall from grace over the past 15 years. General Wang Ning, 71, was formally removed as a standing committee member of the Chinese People’s Political Consultative Conference (CPPCC) and vice-chairman of its foreign affairs committee on Wednesday. The top political advisory body revoked his membership during its closing...

• Hong Kong government doctor found guilty of misconduct over driving conviction (2026-11-05 06:00)

A senior government doctor has been found guilty of professional misconduct over a dangerous driving conviction and his failure to report it promptly to Hong Kong’s medical watchdog. The Medical Council of Hong Kong ordered that a warning letter be issued to Dr Edmond Ma Siu-keung, head of the Infection Control Branch at the Department of Health’s Centre for Health Protection, following a disciplinary inquiry on Thursday. The inquiry heard that Ma was convicted of dangerous driving at Sha Tin...

• Hong Kong Primary Three pupils’ maths competency hits all-time low (2026-11-05 05:52)

The mathematics competency level of Hong Kong’s Primary Three pupils has hit an all-time low in a citywide assessment by authorities, while their English performance reached a record high. Results for this year’s Territory-wide System Assessment (TSA), released on Thursday, showed passing rate for mathematics for Primary Three students fell to 84.7 per cent, down 0.7 percentage points from a year earlier. The latest result was a record low since the assessment began in 2004. The mathematics...

• Russia’s ‘eastward pivot’ gains steam as Putin confirms new China border railway (2026-11-05 04:00)

Russian President Vladimir Putin has signed into law a deal to build a second standard-gauge railway track at a key border crossing with China, as Moscow looks to accelerate its eastward pivot and boost ties with Beijing ahead of the Apec summit. According to a document posted on Russia’s official legislative information portal on Monday, Putin has now signed a law ratifying the railway deal reached with Beijing during the Russian leader’s visit to China in May. The two sides have agreed to...

• Concorde lands in Hong Kong’s Kai Tak for the first time in 1976 – from the SCMP archive (2026-11-05 03:15)

This article was first published on November 6, 1976. Concorde arrives, softly, softly by Mark Giles The supersonic age hit Hongkong yesterday (November 5, 1976) – not with a bang, as many expected, but with a whisper. Concorde, the Anglo-French airliner, arrived from Manila on a demonstration flight with Mrs Imelda Marcos, wife of the Philippine President, as special guest. While the aircraft stopped over before returning to the Philippines, the First Lady and her party found time to do some...

• Joshua Wong jailed for 10 years over bid to instigate sanctions on Beijing, Hong Kong (2026-11-05 03:13)

Jailed Hong Kong opposition activist Joshua Wong Chi-fung has been sentenced to 10 years behind bars for his role in a global campaign to instigate sanctions against mainland China and the city in the aftermath of the 2019 anti-government protests. The High Court on Thursday sentenced Wong for conspiring with fugitive ex-lawmaker Nathan Law Kwun-chung and other activists to collude with foreign forces after Beijing imposed the national security law on Hong Kong on June 30, 2020. Wong, who turned...

• Will New Zealand’s election reshape its ‘softly-softly’ approach to Trump? (2026-11-05 02:30)

Cost of living issues are expected to dominate this weekend’s election in New Zealand, but the outcome could also determine whether Wellington maintains its cautious approach to US President Donald Trump or pursues a more independent foreign policy, analysts have said. With the major parties locked in a close contest ahead of Saturday’s vote, the next government’s approach to Washington, as well as its defence priorities, could hinge on the smaller parties needed to form a coalition. Robert...

• 200 strangers pack wedding banquet of shunned Chinese man, bringing roast pigs, private chefs (2026-11-05 02:00)

A groom in southwestern China who feared an empty wedding reception found himself surrounded by hundreds of supportive strangers after his online appeal went viral. Twenty-four-year-old Xu, from Zhaotong in Yunnan province, recently posted a video on Douyin inviting internet users to his wedding banquet on October 31. In the clip, Xu explained that he had grown up facing stigma and bullying in his rural community for being an “orphan,” a label associated with low social status. He hoped a few...

• Chinese banks explore local e-CNY wallets for foreign firms via upgraded platform (2026-11-05 02:00)

Beijing is expanding its central bank-backed digital currency network to offshore institutions, including Hong Kong branches, while banks are also exploring local e-CNY wallets for foreign firms to deepen cross-border integration. “We currently have 30 domestic banks as e-CNY operators. Right now we’re working to extend this capability to offshore banks,” Lu Yuan, deputy head of the People’s Bank of China’s digital currency research institute, said on a panel at Hong Kong’s Fintech Week. “We...

• Why Hong Kong wealth managers want broader access to mainland China’s Nasdaq-style markets (2026-11-05 01:00)

Most asset managers in Hong Kong expect broader access to mainland China’s two Nasdaq-style stock markets to strengthen the city’s private wealth business, an industry survey shows, as hard-tech firms continue to attract investors despite a recent pullback. The report, released by the Private Wealth Management Association (PWMA) and KPMG China, surveyed most of the association’s 44 institutional members, ranging from Agricultural Bank of China (Hong Kong) to UBS, as well as asset managers and...

• Star mathematician Ma Xiao leaves the US for China – and a career pivot to AI (2026-11-05 01:00)

Two years ago, Chinese mathematician Ma Xiao helped crack a century-old puzzle known as Hilbert’s sixth problem. The problem – which has baffled generations of mathematical physicists – centres on an elusive bridge connecting the chaotic frenzy of microscopic atoms with the predictable laws of fluid motion. The breakthrough, published in the Annals of Mathematics, helped propel Ma’s collaborator Deng Yu to the 2026 Fields Medal – the discipline’s highest honour – and secured Ma a coveted faculty...

• UK man charged over hidden camera in toilet on Japan-Singapore flight (2026-11-05 00:52)

A man who allegedly hid a camera in a toilet on a Scoot flight from Japan to Singapore was charged on Thursday. Hugh Lutley, a 52-year-old British national, was handed one charge each of voyeurism and obstruction of justice by deleting evidence. He is accused of operating a camera at about 5.10pm on October 7 with the intention of observing passengers performing a private act. The alleged offence took place on board Scoot flight TR821, which was travelling from Osaka, Japan, to Singapore,...

• Hong Kong helps mainland Chinese firms go global – but can they really win now? (2026-11-05 00:36)

When Shenzhen-listed digital infrastructure provider Runjian Corporation expanded into the Middle East and Southeast Asia through Hong Kong, adapting meant more than translating software interfaces or navigating local data privacy laws. It also meant changing the company’s working practices and abandoning the expectation, carried over from its domestic operations, that one mainland Chinese employee could match the output of three local hires. “When expanding overseas, companies must do more than...

• South Korea wants a cyber tsar, but can it beat complacency? (2026-11-05 00:00)

South Korean President Lee Jae Myung’s push for a centralised cybersecurity agency after his passport details were leaked could face widespread inertia despite what he considers a national security priority. Tech experts warn that creating a new organisation alone will do little to address the deeper problem of complacency, with businesses and government agencies viewing tighter cybersecurity as an unnecessary expense until a serious breach occurs. Lee’s proposal comes amid growing scrutiny of...

• Nasa’s 22-year-old Swift satellite telescope falls from orbit in fiery finale (2026-11-04 23:46)

Nasa’s Swift satellite telescope, which spent two decades studying the most powerful known blasts of energy in the cosmos, tumbled out of orbit as expected on Wednesday and burned up in Earth’s atmosphere over Indonesia, the space agency reported. The fiery demise of the Neil Gehrels Swift Observatory, weighing roughly 3,200 pounds (1,452kg), came less than three months after a rescue spacecraft failed its mission to boost the satellite to higher orbit and extend its life. The US Space Force...

• What’s the message for China as Japan weighs US$500 billion defence surge? (2026-11-04 23:00)

China could face a substantially more capable Japanese military over the coming years as Tokyo considers nearly doubling its five-year defence spending to as much as 80 trillion yen (US$508 billion), according to media reports in Japan. Observers said such a build-up could strengthen Japan’s ability to deter or respond to People’s Liberation Army operations around Taiwan and the East China Sea, as well as withstand attacks and sustain prolonged operations in a regional conflict. The reported...

• Data centre dissent: why American voters aren't buying Trump's China AI pitch (2026-11-04 22:56)

Strong voter backlash in the US midterm elections against AI infrastructure projects, including data centres, indicates that framing the domestic buildout as key to competing with China failed to convince Americans and underscores the need to address local concerns, according to analysts. "The argument that we need to build more data centres to win in AI against China no longer seems to have the kind of resonance it did before, if it ever did, frankly," said Kyle Chan, a fellow at the Brookings...

• China, US defence officials agree to improve 'communication' to reduce risks (2026-11-04 22:08)

US and Chinese defence officials met in Washington for the first meeting of a Crisis Communications and Prevention Working Group established under an agreement announced in September when leaders of the two nations met. The two sides agreed on the importance of "advancing practical communication measures" to reduce risks between the US and China, according to a Pentagon readout of the meeting released Tuesday. Delegates also discussed "additional channels" to promote "effective" crisis...

• Zelensky honours Melania Trump with Ukraine award for brokering Oleshky truce (2026-11-04 21:44)

Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky on Wednesday awarded US first lady Melania Trump a national honour for her role in brokering a partial ceasefire that allowed the evacuation of civilians from a Russian-occupied town. "I hereby decree that the Order of Princess Olga, First Class, be awarded to Melania Trump, first lady of the United States of America," a decree read on the Ukrainian presidential website. The text acknowledged her "significant personal contribution to humanitarian support...

• Asian-American voters, younger turnout fuel blue wave for Democrats in midterms (2026-11-04 21:31)

Democrats scored a sweeping victory in Tuesday's midterm elections, with Asian-Americans and other voters of colour playing a key role, according to a new voter poll released on Wednesday. The 2026 Midterm Election Voter Poll surveyed 10,141 voters, including 2,130 Asian-American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) voters, between October 20 and November 3. It offers insights into voting trends across racial groups. Taeku Lee, a Harvard professor of government and a researcher for the poll, said...

• 5 takeaways from US midterms as Democrats sweep Congress and Trump faces Iran reckoning (2026-11-04 21:24)

A Democratic victory that reached from Texas to Kansas changed the terms of Donald Trump's final two years in office. When the new US Congress convenes in January, Democrats will control both chambers. They can block his legislation, challenge spending on the war in Iran and scrutinise the deals he strikes with Beijing. The day after his party lost control of Congress, Trump invited reporters to the construction site of his new White House ballroom to watch workers raise the final steel...

• Canada to curb reliance on US despite Trump team's crushing midterm loss, minister says (2026-11-04 21:10)

Canada's push to reduce economic dependence on the US will not change after President Donald Trump's Republican Party suffered a crushing midterm election defeat, an official said on Wednesday. Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney has maintained that trade with the US, a cornerstone of the Canadian economy, will not return to a pre-Trump normal and that his country must urgently diversify its trading relationships. US Democratic Party leaders have been critical of Trump's trade war with Canada...

• Bob Dylan comes knockin' on pope's door as Leo welcomes legend to Vatican (2026-11-04 20:47)

Bob Dylan came knockin' on Pope Leo's door on Wednesday, as the American singer-songwriter and poet visited the American pope at the Vatican during a break between concert dates in Italy. The Vatican said the encounter was brief, with Leo giving Dylan a rosary and Dylan presenting the pope with a copy of his autobiography, Chronicles: Volume One. Leo had quoted from an unpublished protest song Dylan penned in 1963, "Go Away You Bomb", in his 2026 book Disarmed and Disarming: Peace Is a Gift. Leo...

• Ex-prince Andrew becomes first UK royal in 156 years to get witness summons (2026-11-04 20:23)

The former prince Andrew has been called to testify as a witness in a civil fraud trial, marking what is believed to be the first time in more than 150 years that a member of the royal family has received a witness summons, British media reported on Wednesday. The summons comes after a judge at the High Court in London gave the green light last month for the former prince, now known as Andrew Mountbatten-Windsor, to be called to testify about payments he allegedly received from the parties in...

• Chinese scientists make a toothbrush that uses mild electric shocks to reduce plaque (2026-11-04 19:00)

No matter how thoroughly you brush your teeth in the morning and evening, the battle against bacteria is almost certain to be lost. Within a few hours of brushing, it will return in force and rebuild a solid defence line on the surface of your teeth. From ancient times to now, humanity has essentially had only one way of dealing with it, whether it was using twigs and sticks or the first bristled toothbrushes, which date back to 10th century China. But even today's most advanced electric brushes...

• Who won in China? In the US midterms, Susan Collins and the local firefighters (2026-11-04 18:59)

Republican Senator Susan Collins won in China on Tuesday. So did the volunteer firefighters. Voters in several small American communities with China in their names cast ballots in Tuesday's US midterm elections. Their local contests had little to do with Beijing and a great deal to do with fire engines, budgets and paving. In China, a lakeside town in northeastern Maine, Collins outpolled Democrat Troy Jackson by 1,333 votes to 871, according to the town's general election return. Statewide,...

• US Congress welcomes record number of lawmakers of Chinese descent (2026-11-04 16:01)

The incoming US Congress is set to include a record six lawmakers of Chinese descent after Democrat Richard Pan won a California House race. Pan defeated incumbent Kevin Kiley in California's 6th Congressional District by 15 percentage points, according to the latest results on Wednesday morning, adding another Chinese-American member to the House when the 120th Congress convenes in January. "I'm proud to be part of the growing Asian-American representation in Congress," Pan said in a statement...

• Traffic gridlock at Malaysia-Singapore causeway after Woodlands blackout (2026-11-04 15:41)

A massive power outage at the Woodlands checkpoint in Singapore caused a heavy traffic jam on most major roads leading to the Malaysian checkpoint in Johor Bahru on Wednesday. Although all counters were operating at optimum level at the Bangunan Sultan Iskandar Customs, Immigration and Quarantine complex in the southern state of Johor, the jam lasted for many hours due to a build-up of vehicles from the Singapore side. It is learnt that the issue started at about noon on the Singapore side. A...

• How Democratic sweep could slow AI growth in US – and help China's ambitions (2026-11-04 15:00)

The Democratic Party's sweeping midterm election victory and takeover of both houses of Congress could slow down the pace of artificial intelligence development in the US, with implications for both the global AI trade and the technology rivalry between Washington and Beijing, analysts said. The assessment comes as concerns about AI and the data centres that power it proved to be a contributing factor in the backlash against the Republican Party and US President Donald Trump, a vocal supporter...

• Danish students join European wave of youth strikes over education cuts (2026-11-04 14:27)

Thousands of young Danes took to the streets on Wednesday to protest over a government plan to cut student allowances, adding to a wave of European youth anger. Under the banner “Enough is Enough”, 11 high school and university student associations marched from Copenhagen’s City Hall Square to parliament over the proposed cuts to free up funds for defence spending. Student protests that started in France have spread in recent weeks to other European countries. Some 40,000 students were on strike...

• Republicans face prospect of ‘civil war’ as Trump’s air of invincibility starts to fade (2026-11-04 14:00)

In the weeks leading up to the midterm elections, US President Donald Trump displayed unwavering confidence in his star power, urging supporters to close their eyes and “pretend I’m on the ballot”. But Tuesday night’s disastrous results for the Republicans – the first time in 20 years both houses of Congress have changed hands at the same time – have punctured the aura of invincibility that once shielded Trump and allowed him to keep potential critics in line with the threat that opposing him...

• What will the US midterms mean for trade policy on China? (2026-11-04 14:00)

The Democrats’ comprehensive victory in the US midterm elections could embolden Congress to assert greater authority over trade policy and scrutinise the deals President Donald Trump made with China, analysts say, though a dramatic shift in Washington’s trade policy is unlikely. “Congress, including pro-free trade Republicans who have been intimidated into standing down, might be inclined to reassert some degree of congressional authority on trade,” said Stephen Olson, a former US trade...

• Can or not? 2 migrant workers in Singapore using recycling machine sparks debate (2026-11-04 13:45)

The refund is small – 10 Singapore cents (8 US cents) per bottle – for each return under Singapore’s Beverage Container Return Scheme (BCRS). But the uproar is big. Since BCRS reverse vending machines became fully operational on October 1, Singapore’s social media has been flooded with videos and posts criticising people for raiding bins and holding up others by returning containers by the bag-load. A recent controversy was sparked by a post on October 28 showing two town council workers...

• Needles, nails, pins found in Halloween sweets across Austria, Germany (2026-11-04 13:34)

Austrian police have launched an investigation after small metal objects such as nails, needles and pins were found in Halloween sweets at several locations across the country. Police received 13 reports of metal objects found in sweets collected by children at Halloween, federal criminal police said in a statement on Wednesday. Although no reported cases have required medical treatment, police urged parents and children to “carefully check … all Halloween sweets before they are eaten”. “Any...

• India vows to dig its way out of China machinery curbs (2026-11-04 13:30)

India’s ambitious plans to construct high-speed railways, metro networks and strategic roads through the Himalayas could be hampered by China’s proposed restrictions on tunnel-boring machines, exposing a dependence on foreign technology that New Delhi may find difficult to overcome. Experts say while the curbs are unlikely to halt construction, they could slow major projects and have intensified calls for India to develop its own advanced tunnelling equipment. The restrictions also threaten to...

• Bad to worse? Europe’s relief over US midterms tempered by prospect of Trump backlash (2026-11-04 13:14)

Follow the SCMP’s live coverage here After almost two years in which the transatlantic alliance verged on collapse, a Democratic landslide in the US midterm elections was welcomed in Europe on Wednesday, even if few believed it would be a panacea for ailing ties. The Democratic Party swept both chambers of the US Congress in a crushing rebuke of US President Donald Trump’s two-year record. For Europe, that period has led to a shattering of the post-war order and deep schisms in the Western...

• What is the one big thing that could stop Xi, Putin and Trump meeting at Apec? (2026-11-04 13:00)

With just a fortnight until the Apec summit in Shenzhen, preparations are reportedly under way for the first meeting between the leaders of China, Russia and the United States. If the talks go ahead, they could bolster Beijing’s diplomatic standing, although the different priorities of each power were likely to limit consensus and yield few, if any, concrete concessions, observers said. Officials from Beijing, Moscow, and Washington had been holding serious talks to arrange the first trilateral...

• Philippine police find child sex abuse material on devices linked to Thomas Markle (2026-11-04 12:54)

Philippine police said on Wednesday that three memory cards and a mobile phone turned over by the son of Meghan Markle’s estranged father contained child sexual abuse material. Last week, Philippine police said they were investigating a laptop found alongside images of child abuse at an alleged former residence of Thomas Markle, whose daughter is married to Britain’s Prince Harry. Philippine interior minister Jonvic Remulla said at the time the country planned to take “appropriate legal actions”...

• Singapore passes tougher anti-haze laws, fines to increase 10 times against offenders (2026-11-04 12:43)

Singapore’s parliament on Wednesday passed tougher penalties against companies responsible for forest fires in Indonesia, including curbs on related business dealings, as the city state doubles down on enforcement following one of its worst haze episodes in more than a decade. The amended Transboundary Pollution Haze Act will see penalties on such companies increase tenfold to a maximum fine of S$1 million (US$780,000) a day, capped at a total of S$20million. The Act has been invoked twice...

• UK foreign minister hints at formal slavery apology but says payouts ‘not feasible’ (2026-11-04 12:26)

Britain’s Foreign Secretary Ed Miliband has said it was “not feasible” for the country to pay reparations for slavery, after King Charles III expressed remorse amid calls for a formal apology and compensation. “It’s not the right answer. It’s not practical. It’s not feasible for us, but there are things we can work on cooperatively,” Miliband told the BBC in an interview aired on Wednesday. He added that London would not “shift our position on reparations”. Miliband also hinted that Britain...

• Hong Kong’s No 2 official credits government for success in university rankings (2026-11-04 12:00)

Hong Kong’s strong performance in the latest regional university rankings – with five institutions among Asia’s top 10 – is the result of sustained government investment and clear policy direction, the city’s No 2 official has said, as a global alliance of 23 universities eyes the Northern Metropolis for collaboration opportunities. Addressing leaders from more than 50 top universities across five continents at the World Class University Presidents Forum 2026 on Wednesday, Chief Secretary Eric...

• DeepSeek engineer defends push for open-source AI smarter than humans despite higher risks (2026-11-04 12:00)

DeepSeek is committed to open-source artificial intelligence to accelerate the arrival of artificial general intelligence (AGI), even if it heightens safety risks, a company engineer says, defying growing safety concerns from the US and scrutiny in China over whether the strategy poses national security risks. Speaking on Tuesday on an AI panel at the World Internet Conference (WIC) in Wuzhen, DeepSeek engineer Gao Xi said open-source development promoted shared innovations and technical...

• Medical watchdog member quits to represent Tin-yu’s father at her death inquest (2026-11-04 11:52)

A prominent patients’ rights advocate and lawyer has resigned from Hong Kong’s medical watchdog to represent the father of Chau Tin-yu at an inquest into her death, after she spent four years in a vegetative state following an alleged medical blunder. Alex Lam Chi-yau, chairman of Hong Kong Patients’ Voices and a lay member of the Medical Council, submitted his resignation to council chairwoman Professor Grace Tang Wai-king on Wednesday amid concerns about a conflict of interest. His resignation...

• Indonesia says Asean diplomacy ‘must not stop’ despite Singapore row (2026-11-04 11:48)

A senior Indonesian diplomat said on Wednesday that dialogue “must not stop” among Asean members, amid a diplomatic row between Jakarta and Singapore over transboundary haze. Ties between the Southeast Asian neighbours have been tense after wildfires in Indonesia blanketed the city state in toxic smog for months. Complaints from Singapore over the air quality were met with sharp rebukes from Indonesian officials. Despite a visit to Jakarta by Singapore’s Foreign Affairs Minister Vivian...

- In Asia, midterms spark worries about diplomatic uncertainty, economic pressure (2026-11-04 11:33)

Follow the SCMP’s live coverage here In the wake of Democrats’ sweeping victory in congressional elections, Asian countries are weighing how their ties with the US will shift under a lame-duck Trump administration. Observers expect the “blue wave” midterm results will push the Trump administration to heighten pressure on Washington’s Asian allies for greater US investment and increased defence cost-sharing. In South Korea, analysts have predicted that managing relations with Washington will...

- Education chief dismisses push for final-year university internships amid AI threat (2026-11-04 11:03)

Hong Kong’s education minister has shot down a suggestion to turn the final stretch of undergraduate degree programmes into an internship period to boost employability, amid a fall in entry-level jobs due to the rise of artificial intelligence (AI). Secretary for Education Christine Choi Yuk-lin said on Wednesday that university courses should not be changed solely to meet manpower needs or be based on single indicators such as labour market supply and demand data. She was responding to lawmaker...

- Lawyer dismisses rumours of Malaysia’s Najib settling US$12.3 million fine (2026-11-04 11:00)

Lawyers for Malaysia’s jailed former prime minister Najib Razak on Wednesday dismissed speculation about his imminent transfer to house arrest, as his former ruling party struggles to raise the 50 million ringgit (US$12.3 million) fine needed to bring him home. The rumours came as Najib’s United Malays National Organisation (Umno) seeks to build on recent electoral victories, with analysts saying his return to house arrest could give the party a boost among supporters ahead of the next general...

- Roll-out of HK$5m anti-terrorism bollards in Causeway Bay draws mixed reactions (2026-11-04 10:58)

The installation of anti-ram bollards costing HK$5 million (US$637,230) has begun at a busy crossing in Hong Kong’s Causeway Bay to prevent vehicles from mounting crowded pavements, sparking debate over whether the safety barriers justify the price tag. By Wednesday afternoon, workers had installed four fixed bollards along the pavement outside the landmark Sogo department store, while construction continued on the ground behind temporary barriers. Officials said the bollards and crash barriers...

• Hongkongers to draft end-of-life treatment refusals online from next year (2026-11-04 10:45)

Hongkongers will be able to create advance medical directives electronically, setting out which life-sustaining treatments they do not wish to receive when terminally ill on the city's eHealth record platform as early as next year, authorities have said. In a written reply to lawmakers on Wednesday, Secretary for Labour and Welfare Chris Sun Yuk-han said the electronic service for advance medical directives, which currently exists only in paper form, would be rolled out "in phases". After...

• Legal body's new office boosts Hong Kong's role as exchange hub, ex-minister says (2026-11-04 10:41)

The opening of an international legal body's first overseas office in Hong Kong reflects the city's importance as a hub for legal exchange, underpinned by its broad legal framework and strong ties to mainland China, a former justice minister has said. Teresa Cheng Yeuk-wah, secretary general for the International Organisation for Mediation (IOMed) and the city's former secretary for justice, said on Wednesday that the opening of the International Institute for the Unification of Private Law...

• Yachts, jewels and jets: Hong Kong's luxury expo connects brands with new customers (2026-11-04 10:31)

Hong Kong's first luxury expo is more than a showcase, offering international brands opportunities to find partners and develop business, the city's financial chief has said, while exhibitors said bringing different sectors under one roof could help them reach new customers. The inaugural Festival of Connoisseurs, organised by Informa Markets, is the first exhibition supported by the government's HK$100 million (US$12.7 million) initiative to attract high-quality, large-scale international...

• Jakarta wants Russia not to recruit Indonesians in its war. Should Prabowo call Putin? (2026-11-04 10:30)

Indonesia has called on Russia to stop recruiting its citizens to fight in Ukraine, with analysts saying the appeal may only be ineffective if President Prabowo Subianto directly pressures his Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin on the issue. On Sunday, Indonesia's Ministry of Foreign Affairs spokeswoman Yvonne Mewengkang said: "The Indonesian government asked the Russian government to take all necessary steps to ensure that no Indonesians will be recruited into the Russian military or any other...

• Indonesian military helicopter on wildfire mission crashes off Borneo, killing 1 (2026-11-04 10:26)

An Indonesian military helicopter carrying eight people on a firefighting mission crashed in waters off Borneo island on Wednesday, killing a crew member, the army said. The Southeast Asian archipelago has for months been struggling to control wildfires that have burned through large swathes of Sumatra, Borneo and Papua islands, causing choking haze that drifted to neighbouring Malaysia, East Timor and Singapore. The helicopter took off on Wednesday morning from Seruyan district in Borneo's...

- US midterm takeaways: Trump's blame game, Elon's space lasers and the rest of the world (2026-11-04 10:00)

Follow the SCMP's live coverage here Democrats won control of both chambers of the US Congress in Tuesday's midterm elections, dealing a heavy blow to President Donald Trump as voters vented frustration over rising costs and the Iran war. With Democrats set to take over Congress in January, they will have the power to block Trump's agenda and investigate his administration. Under these conditions, the president is expected to face a far more constrained final two years in office, with...

- Abandoned by parents after cancer diagnosis, Chinese woman dies after solo battle (2026-11-04 10:00)

A Chinese influencer who became known for bravely battling bone cancer after her parents abandoned her following her diagnosis has died, prompting widespread mourning online. On October 27, the account of anti-cancer influencer Miracle Xia Xia posted an obituary announcing that she had died in a Shanghai hospital. The video shows Xia Xia choosing her own memorial portrait, turning it black and white, and typing her own eulogy on her phone. She apologised to her followers for becoming a...

- Blow for Netanyahu as Israeli election body rejects claims of Arab party fraud (2026-11-04 09:24)

Israeli electoral authorities on Wednesday rejected allegations promoted by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu of fraud by Arab parties, who could hold the key to removing him from power after a divisive vote. President Isaac Herzog will at noon officially receive the results of the October 27 election as he decides whether to give Netanyahu or his rival, Gadi Eisenkot, the first chance to form a government, with neither commanding enough votes alone. The Central Elections Committee said it had...

- Trump suffers midterms trouncing weeks before Xi meeting (2026-11-04 09:24)

Democrats won control of both houses of Congress in midterm elections as US voters punished President Donald Trump over inflation, corruption and rising healthcare costs. The party was on track for at least 54 Senate seats after upset wins in long-standing Republican strongholds including South Carolina, Texas and Kansas. In the House of Representatives, Democrats were set to pick up dozens of seats and gain a double-figure majority. A collapse in Trump's approval ratings amid record petrol and...

• Ex-HKEX vice-president and mother charged over alleged confidential data access (2026-11-04 09:01)

A former vice-president of the Hong Kong stock exchange's operator and his mother have been charged by the city's corruption watchdog over allegedly accessing confidential information of listed companies, which yielded more than HK$500,000 (US$63,720) in investment profits. Geoffrey Tong Po-hang, 39, former vice-president of Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing (HKEX), and his mother Leung Yiu-chun, 68, appeared in Eastern Court for mention on Wednesday afternoon. They jointly face one count of...

• Australian PM Albanese takes swipe at ex-UK leader Liz Truss over backpacker visa rules (2026-11-04 08:43)

Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese on Wednesday took aim at former UK leader Liz Truss and the thousands of British backpackers flocking to cities like Sydney, as the government seeks to tweak visa rules and ease pressure on the local job market. Truss, who lasted just 49 days in office before being forced to resign in 2022, called the travel arrangement "a major achievement of our trade deal with Australia and hard fought!" "Young Brits no longer have to do farm work as part of their...

• As US-Iran war shows, China's influence can't secure its line to Gulf oil (2026-11-04 08:30)

China is becoming increasingly important to the Gulf's economic future. Yet the Gulf remains capable of disrupting China's own. That is the contradiction exposed by the US-Iran war. Beijing's importance as an energy customer, investor and technology partner has grown, but its ability to guarantee the maritime routes connecting the Middle East to East Asia remains limited. The next contest in global energy will concern not only who produces and consumes it, but who can preserve access when...

• Taiwan flags massive PLA naval mobilisation, spike in air sorties (2026-11-04 08:26)

Taiwan expressed concern on Tuesday over more than 100 People's Liberation Army naval vessels and mainland Chinese coastguard ships sailing across the western Pacific, including the Liaoning strike group conducting drills in the Philippine Sea. The maritime deployment overlapped with a sharp spike in PLA aerial activity near the island. Taiwan's defence ministry reported 49 sorties of PLA aircraft in the 24 hours to 6am on Tuesday, marking the highest single-day total this year. The number...

• 'Fake democracy' or a plus for Beijing? Chinese internet users on the US midterms (2026-11-04 07:11)

Follow the SCMP's live coverage here Chinese social media users have voiced mixed views on the US midterm elections, criticising American politics while debating the implications of President Donald Trump's political future for China. Held on Tuesday, the midterm elections saw Democrats win control of both chambers of the US Congress, taking the House ofRepresentatives and the Senate from the Republicans. Democrats reached the 218-seatthreshold needed for a House majority and also secured...

• Indonesia's Prabowo sacks chief of staff as wiretap scandal tests alliance with Widodo (2026-11-04 07:02)

In one of the biggest scandals to hit the Indonesian National Police (Polri), President Prabowo Subianto on Wednesday sacked his chief of staff, former national police chief Listyo Sigit Prabowo, after his arrest for allegedly wiretapping the president, cabinet ministers, politicians and journalists. The government raised the stakes on Wednesday when presidential spokesman Prasetyo Hadi addressed reporters in Jakarta, warning that the surveillance could amount to "treason" and endanger state...

• Tencent unveils Hy4 as open-weight AI race with DeepSeek, Z.ai, Alibaba heats up (2026-11-04 07:01)

Chinese tech giant Tencent Holdings has rolled out its latest flagship artificial intelligence model, Hy4, seeking to challenge top open-weight rivals with enhanced agentic capabilities built to power its enterprise software ecosystem. Released on Wednesday, the large language model (LLM) introduced visual understanding for the first time. Hy4 could process images, analyse complex charts and conduct visual mathematical reasoning, according to the Shenzhen-based company. Tencent said the release...

• US midterm shift could squeeze China on AI, but bring clarity to bilateral talks (2026-11-04 06:49)

Follow the SCMP's live coverage here Beijing has vowed to continue working with Washington towards a "constructive relationship of strategic stability" following the Democrats' sweeping victory in the US midterm elections on Wednesday. But analysts said a Democratic-controlled US Congress would ramp up pressure on Beijing over Taiwan, artificial intelligence (AI) and export controls, though it might also eliminate uncertainties in negotiations. When asked by reporters about the results on...

• Malaysia's debut Hyrox fitness event in beer sponsorship row (2026-11-04 06:25)

Organisers of Malaysia's first Hyrox fitness competition agreed on Wednesday to exclude the event from a partnership with beer brand Carlsberg after Muslim entrants threatened to pull out and authorities warned they would withhold approval over the alcohol sponsorship. The tie-up had angered some participants who said it conflicted with both their faith and the event's promotion of fitness, highlighting tensions over alcohol marketing in Muslim-majority Malaysia. "We understand why this has...

• Operator should lose tender marks in future over meter glitch, experts say (2026-11-04 06:12)

Hong Kong authorities should waive related fines and introduce a penalty mechanism for the city's parking meter operator after a four-hour outage disabled about half of all meters, an industry expert and a lawmaker have suggested. They also called for clearer refund terms for Octopus card users on Wednesday, a day after the government promised to issue refunds to affected drivers. A back-end glitch cut off communication with about 11,000 parking meters from 8.20am to 12.15pm on Tuesday. The...

- 'I wasn't on the ballot': Trump deflects blame as Democrats on track to control Congress (2026-11-04 05:48)

Follow the SCMP's live coverage here In what appears to be an early attempt to distance himself from the Democrats' historic gains, US President Donald Trump has sought to shift attention away from his party's performance in the midterm elections, taking to social media to remind voters that he "wasn't on the ballot". "I wasn't on the Ballot and if I was, we would have won IN A LANDSLIDE! Thank you for your attention to this matter," Trump wrote as early results showed Democratic gains in places...

- John Lee begins Beijing, Shanghai trip to deepen mainland economic ties (2026-11-04 05:33)

Hong Kong's leader has begun a four-day visit to Beijing and Shanghai to deepen economic ties with the mainland, calling for closer collaboration on finance and innovation and technology (I&T), and pledging to help Chinese enterprises expand overseas. Speaking at the annual Beijing-Hong Kong Economic Cooperation Symposium on Wednesday, Chief Executive John Lee Ka-chiu said the Northern Metropolis would create a new platform for the two cities to cooperate on research and innovation. The...

- US voters unleash blue wave, handing Congress to Democrats and rebuking Trump (2026-11-04 05:33)

Follow the SCMP's live coverage here After weeks of insults, fearmongering and eye-popping spending on advertising, Americans settled down to vote on Tuesday, unleashing a blue wave that saw Democrats projected to take the House and the Senate, in a sharp rebuke to US President Donald Trump and his controversial governing style. In a stunning development, the Associated Press also projected that Democrat James Talarico won the Texas US Senate election, defeating Republican nominee Ken Paxton and...

- Chinese firms' third-quarter dividend growth lags global average amid market slump (2026-11-04 05:31)

Chinese listed firms' third-quarter dividend payments lag behind the global average, according to a report by Capital Group, throwing doubt over the effectiveness of Beijing's ongoing stock market stabilisation plans. In China, dividends only rose 5.3 per cent on a core basis in the third-quarter, compared with global growth of 7.5 per cent, according to the Dividend Watch report released by Capital Group on Wednesday. Globally, 88 per cent of companies in the Capital Group index increased...

• Why North Korea's Kim sees no need for another Trump 'photo-op summit' (2026-11-04 05:14)

Kim Jong-un's powerful sister on Wednesday rejected holding any further talks with the United States, days after the FBI accused North Korea of stealing more than US$6 billion from a cryptocurrency exchange and Washington launched a new round of sanctions aimed at Pyongyang. Analysts say the latest developments have all but killed off the chances of another Trump-Kim summit, despite the US president's continued warm words for North Korea's supreme leader and apparent openness to meeting him...

• Crash landing for K-dramas? Waning output threatens genre's future (2026-11-04 05:14)

Twelve South Korean industry groups urged the government on Wednesday to invest in and support production of Korean television dramas, known as K-dramas, warning that the country's production base risked collapse. K-dramas have been hugely popular globally, but the number produced has fallen about 30 per cent from 141 titles in 2022, according to the Korea Drama Production Association. Three domestic broadcast networks cut drama output from 91 titles in 2012 to 32 in 2023, and some...

• Frequently labelled as communists, who are the Democratic Socialists of America? (2026-11-04 03:41)

Follow the SCMP's live coverage here For years, the Democratic Socialists of America (DSA) had little influence over the machinery of the Democratic Party. That is beginning to change. The organisation has more than doubled its membership since 2024, reaching roughly 120,000, while growing numbers of DSA-backed candidates are positioning to expand its presence in Congress from two members to as many as seven. The breakthrough came in New York, where Zohran Mamdani's victory in the 2025 mayoral...

• Malaysian police arrest woman over viral shopping mall brawl (2026-11-04 02:52)

Malaysian police have arrested a 25-year-old woman who allegedly caused a disturbance by assaulting visitors at a shopping centre in Kuala Lumpur, with the suspect admitting her involvement in the incident. Dang Wangi OCPD Assistant Commissioner Ahmad Azwan Amin Nordin said the local woman was arrested at about 5.40pm on Tuesday in Bandar Sri Damansara to assist in investigations. "Initial investigations found that the suspect admitted to being involved in the incident," he said in a statement...

• Chinese woman invites late ex-husband's mother to live with her 12 years after divorce (2026-11-04 02:00)

A woman from central China has moved many online after inviting her ex-mother-in-law to live with her following the deaths of her ex-husband and ex-father-in-law. Lin, from Henan province, recently flew more than 1,000km to Guangdong province in southern China to bring her ex-mother-in-law to live with her, despite having divorced her ex-husband 12 years ago. Linmade the decision after her ex-father-in-law died of an illness in 2024 and her ex-husband diedlast year. Lin’s ex-mother-in-law,...

• Chinese scientists discover thickening ground ice in parts of warming Tibet (2026-11-04 02:00)

The Tibetan Plateau, home to the world’s largest expanse of alpine permafrost, is warming at about twice the global average but, counter-intuitively,researchers have found that ice in parts of the Tibet autonomous region is actually thickening. A team from Peking University found that shallow ground ice has unexpectedly increased over the past 20 years, affecting more than a third of the plateau’s permafrost, a phenomenon driven largely by natural climate factors. The authors noted that the...

• Will US midterm results lead to disruption in Washington’s ties with China? (2026-11-04 01:35)

Follow the SCMP’s live coverage here The United States’ midterm elections are unlikely to deliver a “disruptive” shock to relations between Beijing and Washington despite potential volatility over the issue of Taiwan, according to a prominent Chinese expert in US studies. Chen Dongxiao, president of the Shanghai Institutes for International Studies, said any shift in the make-up of the US Congress would mainly complicate President Donald Trump’s domestic agenda. The impact on foreign policy...

• Baidu’s new AI simulator gives robotaxis a crash course in rare road hazards (2026-11-04 01:30)

For autonomous vehicles, the hardest lessons to learn are the ones that can test the skills of even the most experienced human drivers: an errant cyclist darting through a red light, or an animal bolting into oncoming traffic from behind a corner. The Chinese tech giant Baidu has developed a new AI-driven simulator to prepare its Apollo robotaxis for just such rare but high-stakes road hazards, as the firm looks to gain an edge in the fast-growing self-driving taxi market. The system, Apollo...

• Praised as heroes, stung by criticism: firefighters torn over Tai Po blaze report (2026-11-04 00:30)

After spending 12 gruelling hours battling the Tai Po inferno, frontline firefighter Ah Fai* could not have imagined that, barely a year later, his department would find itself under the harsh glare of public scrutiny. The trauma of that night is still raw. He remembers burning debris from the bamboo scaffolding raining down from above, blocking one of the main entrances of Wang Fuk Court. “Our colleagues simply had no chance of getting in,” he said. Those who eventually breached the towers were...

• China training Solomon Islands police to use water cannons under security pact (2026-11-04 00:00)

China is helping to train Solomon Islands police to use water cannons as part of an ongoing security partnership that is viewed with scepticism by the West. The Chinese embassy said on Tuesday that six officers from the Royal Solomon Islands Police Force took part in a week-long training exercise, without giving dates. The programme helped familiarise officers with the use of crowd control vehicles and different scenarios in which they may be used, the embassy said. The programme cultivated a...

• Vietnam surpasses Indonesia on per-person GDP. Is Thailand next? (2026-11-04 00:00)

Vietnam's average economic output per person is set to overtake Indonesia's, according to the International Monetary Fund. Gross domestic product per capita, which provides a snapshot of a country's standard of living, is projected to rise 8.9 per cent to US$5,259 in Vietnam this year – nearly double the figure a decade earlier and overtaking Indonesia's US$5,153. This would also rank Vietnam fifth among members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, behind Singapore, Brunei, Malaysia...

• US midterms: what happened while Asia slept, and when to expect results (2026-11-03 23:57)

Polls began closing across the United States on Tuesday evening in midterm elections that will decide whether US President Donald Trump's Republicans keep control of Congress, after a day of voting disrupted by floods and machine glitches but largely free of the problems many had feared. The first polls closed at 6pm Eastern Time (7am Hong Kong time), with most states following over the next several hours. The last state to close polls will be Alaska, at 1am Eastern Time (2pm Hong Kong time)....

• Trump says US close to trade deal with Canada, Carney says work remains (2026-11-03 23:42)

US President Donald Trump said on Tuesday the United States was close to making a trade deal with Canada, but Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney said work remained to be done and that Washington had dropped some demands. "Canada is very good, we're going to make a deal with Canada very soon. We're going to make a great deal," Trump said in an interview with Fox News. Canada and the US have slapped billions of dollars in tariffs on each other in recent months. The imposition of tariffs on...

• Spain's transport minister resigns after train crash that killed 69 (2026-11-03 21:55)

Spain's transport minister handed in his resignation on Tuesday following a train crash that killed 69 people last week, one of the worst railway disasters in Europe this century. Oscar Puente, who had earlier pledged to work "tirelessly" to restore confidence in the world's second-largest high-speed rail network, also said he was withdrawing from the country's coming general election. Last week's crash, along with another disaster earlier this year, have overshadowed campaigning for the...

• China's new nightmare: a Japanese containment arc in the Indo-Pacific (2026-11-03 21:30)

Just weeks after US President Donald Trump and Chinese President Xi Jinping invoked their countries' World War II alliance at the White House, Keen Sword 27 turned symbolism into hardware. The 11-day exercise, which wrapped up on October 29, deployed US Marine NMESIS anti-ship launchers and MADIS air-defence systems to Yonaguni – Japan's westernmost island, just 110km (70 miles) from Taiwan. Japan mobilised its new Type 25 missile, with a reported 1,000km range, from Kumamoto for the system's...

• Greenland ratifies Trump deal despite questions about value (2026-11-03 19:24)

Greenland's parliament on Tuesday ratified the Arctic island's security agreement struck earlier this year with US President Donald Trump, although some opposition party members questioned the deal's economic value. The US, Denmark and Greenland in September signed the agreement, aimed at ending tensions after Trump's repeated threats to take control of the strategically located and mineral-rich island, a self-governing Danish territory. The deal expands the US military's role in Greenland,...

• Fake bomb threats on flights and cruise ship cause travel disruption in Europe (2026-11-03 19:04)

At least seven flights and a cruise ship in Europe received bomb threats on Tuesday, causing disruption at airports although no devices were discovered. At least two flights to Warsaw, two to Sofia, two to Rome and one to Murcia airport in Spain were subjected to the threats on Tuesday, and another flight to Sofia had been threatened a day earlier. An airport in Warsaw was briefly shut, and the Italian Air Force accompanied one of the flights to Rome while an Israel-bound cruise ship was...

• China accuses Philippine politicians of 'intolerable' conduct as tensions rise (2026-11-03 18:42)

Amid continuously escalating tensions, Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi on Tuesday accused a handful of Philippine politicians of "egregious, irrational and intolerable" conduct, urging Manila to rein in their anti-China rhetoric, state media reported. Wang made the remarks duringa phone conversation with Philippine Foreign Minister Theresa Lazaro, as China-Philippinesrelations were currently facing what he described as “malicious interference”, according toXinhua. “Some Philippine...

• UK’s King Charles calls slavery ‘monstrous injustice’, as PM mulls apology (2026-11-03 18:08)

King Charles called the transatlantic slave trade “a monstrous injustice” on Tuesday, opening a Commonwealth summit in which UK leader Andy Burnham is holding talks about apologising for Britain’s role in slavery. The monarch told the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting in Antigua and Barbuda that slavery “still casts a shadow over these islands and other members” of the 56-nation group, many of which are former British colonies. “As I have said before, that shameful chapter of history is...

• Trump axes US$3.8b annual military aid for Israel: ‘they no longer need it’ (2026-11-03 15:33)

US President Donald Trump said on Tuesday that Washington was ending a 10-year security aid deal with Israel that allowed US$3.8 billion in annual aid to its ally until 2028. Trump said Israel was “fine” with him ending the aid, which began in 2019 and was signed under his predecessor, Barack Obama, three years earlier. “We’ll help Israel if they need it,” he added in an interview on US current affairs show Fox and Friends, saying that he had agreed with Israel’s Prime Minister Benjamin...

• Indonesian police arrest 3 for tapping Prabowo’s phone (2026-11-03 14:46)

Indonesian authorities have arrested three people for allegedly tapping President Prabowo Subianto’s phone, according to police on Tuesday, with media reports suggesting one of the suspects may be a senior official. Prabowo, who took office in 2024, has come under increasing pressure for his government’s handling of the economy and destructive wildfires in the Southeast Asian archipelago. Top detective Asep Safrudin identified the suspects only by their initials, LSP, ASN, and EH, and said they...

• Hong Kong BN(O) visa holders exempt from UK’s proposed 10-year settlement wait (2026-11-03 14:27)

Hongkongers moving to the United Kingdom under the British National (Overseas) visa scheme will be exempt from plans to double the qualifying period for settlement to 10 years, according to an official announcement. But they will still face stricter English-language requirements and tighter rules on criminal records, alongside existing conditions such as completing five years of continuous residence and passing the Life in the UK test. British Home Secretary Shabana Mahmood on Monday outlined...

• Spanish police open manslaughter inquiry after footballer dies from on-pitch clash (2026-11-03 14:20)

Spanish police have opened an investigation into possible involuntary manslaughter after a soccer player died following an on-field collision with the opposing team's goalkeeper in a second-division match. Tenerife forward Jesus de Miguel died after he suffered cardiac arrest from the on-field collision, his club said on Tuesday. He was 30. De Miguel was challenging for the ball near midfield on Monday when he was struck in the chest by the onrushing Andorra goalkeeper Jesus Owono during added...

• Israel deepens Somaliland ties with first ambassador, testing Horn of Africa balance (2026-11-03 14:00)

Last week, Somaliland, a breakaway region that declared independence from Somalia in 1991, welcomed its first ambassador from Israel. Diplomat Michael Lotem presented his credentials in Hargeisa, while officials laid the cornerstone for an Israeli embassy. The ceremony, announced by Israel's foreign ministry on Sunday, formalised a relationship that began with mutual recognition in December. Somalia, the African Union, Arab states and China strongly oppose the move, reaffirming Somaliland as...

Central Military Commission (CMC), pledged to deepen military cooperation and strategiccoordination with Russia during the meeting at the Diaoyutai State Guesthouse. He was electedto the Politburo last week at a key Communist Party...

• In Israel, Arab lawmakers key to unseating Netanyahu amid divided opposition (2026-11-03 13:32)

The Israeli opposition bloc led by Gadi Eisenkot pledged on Tuesday to form a government quickly to oust Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu but remained unclear on how, with divisions over whether to ally with Arab lawmakers. Meeting for the first time since an election a week ago brought an inconclusive result, the five opposition party heads consulted on strategy at a hotel in Herzliya, the tech industry hub north of Tel Aviv where former military chief Eisenkot lives. In a joint statement, the...

• Hong Kong set for first taste of autumn as a strong northeast monsoon approaches (2026-11-03 13:28)

Hong Kong could be in store for its first real taste of autumn early next week, with temperatures forecast to dip below 20 degrees Celsius (50 Fahrenheit) as a strong northeast monsoon approaches the Guangdong coast. The Hong Kong Observatory said the monsoon would bring windy conditions to the region over the weekend, with offshore areas and high ground expected to experience strong winds at times on Saturday. Temperatures across southern China were expected to fall between early and midweek...

• Indian navy frees hijacked Iranian fishing crew off Somalia (2026-11-03 13:12)

Indian naval forces freed an Iranian fishing boat and its crew of 20 hijacked off Somalia after an operation lasting more than 48 hours, India’s Defence Ministry said on Tuesday. The rescue of the Azini was completed on Monday in the Arabian Sea, more than 3,000km (1,860 miles) from Mumbai, Indian Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said. An official with the Puntland Maritime Police Force said Indian forces disarmed 12 suspected Somali pirates, confiscated their mobile phones and released them. He...

• Chinese court hears US$53.5 billion Covid defamation case against US state of Missouri (2026-11-03 13:00)

A Chinese court has begun hearings in a defamation case filed by authorities and institutes in Beijing and Wuhan against the US state of Missouri over accusations tied to Covid-19. In a notice on Monday, the Wuhan Intermediate People’s Court said it held a hearing on Friday and legal proceedings were continuing. The case was jointly filed on April 30, 2025 by the Wuhan government in Hubei province, the Chinese Academy of Sciences and its subordinate entity, the Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV),...

• German tourist missing in Indonesia’s Bali after landslide amid rainy season (2026-11-03 12:35)

A German tourist was among two men still missing on Tuesday after a landslide struck a glamping resort on the island of Bali in Indonesia. Heavy rains on Sunday afternoon caused the landslide, which struck the Eco Park Pelaga Glamping Retreat in Petang district at around 11pm, The Bali Times reported. Three tents collapsed while a fourth fell into the Tukad Yeh Kilap River and was swept away by the currents. The 4-hectare (10-acre) property, which houses 25 tents, sits on a steep cliff beside...

• The new Canada is much like the old one (2026-11-03 12:30)

I came of age in Canada during the Pierre Trudeau years – the Trudeau whom Canadians actually respect – as a high school student from Hong Kong. Back then, Canadian politics meant deliberate independence from the United States. Some Canadians today, especially younger ones, seem amazed that Prime Minister Mark Carney, a Liberal like Trudeau, is charting foreign, defence and economic policies more independent of the US while moving closer to Europe. That is because they grew up in a US-led global...

• South Korea revokes Unification Church leader’s bail after secret visits exposed (2026-11-03 12:24)

A South Korean court revoked the Unification Church leader’s bail in a bribery case on Tuesday after footage emerged of her visiting the secretive movement’s headquarters in breach of release conditions. Han Hak-ja, 83, was sentenced to two years in prison in August for providing luxury items, including a designer handbag, to former first lady Kim Keon-hee while her husband Yoon Suk-yeol was president, in an attempt to secure policy favours. She was granted bail two months later on health...

Open source is the only viable path to creating a sustainable artificial intelligence industry, Alibaba Group Holding chairman Joe Tsai said on Tuesday, as the Chinese technology giant doubles down on its open-source AI strategy. Speaking at the opening ceremony of the annual World Internet Conference Wuzhen Summit in eastern China’s Zhejiang province, Tsai pointed to a growing convergence around open ecosystems among domestic tech companies, as surging AI demand rubs up against persistent...

• China tests wave-piercing stealth trimaran as unconventional naval fleet grows (2026-11-03 12:00)

China appears to be testing a stealthy new trimaran at sea, according to a photograph circulating on social media, in what could be a further effort to develop unconventional naval platforms. The image first emerged on Weibo on Sunday and appears to show a vessel featuring an inverted wave-piercing bow, three-hull design and angular superstructure surfaces that could be intended to reduce its radar signature. The vessel, which is fitted with a prominent antenna mast and multiple dome-shaped...

• 5 Hong Kong universities in Asia's top 10, with 3 in top 5 after more than a decade (2026-11-03 12:00)

Five Hong Kong universities have been ranked among Asia's top 10, with three of them in the top five for the first time after more than a decade and the University of Hong Kong (HKU) retaining its No 1 spot, according to an annual UK survey. Meanwhile, three universities in mainland China were ranked in the top 10. Peking University held on to second place, Tsinghua University leapt from ninth to third and Fudan University dropped from fifth to sixth, giving the mainland two universities in the...

• Indonesia under mounting pressure to scrap VAT on sanitary pads amid rising living costs (2026-11-03 11:40)

The Indonesian government is facing mounting pressure to scrap the value-added tax (VAT) on sanitary pads and other menstrual hygiene products, with critics arguing it adds to the financial burden for women from low-income families already struggling to buy basic necessities. While the 11 per cent tax on such products is not new, the issue has gained traction amid public anger over rising living costs. Students took to the streets of Jakarta last week to protest against the government's handling...

• Why a midterm mauling for Trump will not bring Asia trade relief (2026-11-03 11:30)

Since returning to the White House in January last year, US President Donald Trump has upended the global trading order with his scattergun approach to tariffs and launched a war on Iran that sent oil prices soaring. On Tuesday, American voters hurting from nagging inflation and the high cost of living that have defined Trump's second term have the opportunity to deliver their verdict on his Republican Party in the midterm elections. Polls suggest that the Republicans, who currently control both...

• Mind-controlled drone-flying at Hong Kong's Being Human Festival among varied programme (2026-11-03 11:15)

Think you can steer a drone using nothing more than your own concentrated thoughts? It may sound like science fiction, but mind-controlled drone-flying is one of the free activities the public can take part in at the upcoming Being Human Festival in Hong Kong. Running from November 5 to 15, the festival is the first Hong Kong edition of the UK's national festival of the humanities, which was founded in 2014. Organised by the University of Hong Kong (HKU)'s Faculty of Arts under the theme...

• Beijing offers to boost China-Pakistan corridor safety as terror threat grows (2026-11-03 11:00)

China has pledged to work with Pakistan to advance "high-level security cooperation" and ensure the safety of a joint flagship infrastructure project that has become a target for terrorists. That was the message Liu Haixing, head of the Communist Party's International Department, conveyed in talks with Pakistan defence forces chief Asim Munir and PrimeMinister Shehbaz Sharif on Monday, as part of his first official visit to the South Asian countrysince taking office just over a year ago. In...

• China-US AI investment gap narrower than figures suggest: report (2026-11-03 11:00)

The AI investment race between China and the US is closer than headline figures suggest, even though the technology is expected to make a greater contribution to economic growth in America, according to a Chinese think tank. The findings come as artificial intelligence becomes a focal point of technological competition between Beijing and Washington, with investment levels, computing power and the commercial applications of AI all under greater scrutiny. According to a report released recently...

• Journalists may need judicial review to access land records under new rules (2026-11-03 10:39)

Hong Kong journalists will have to rely on judicial review if the government refuses to provide land records in future, with authorities pledging to simplify applications and deliver records in as little as one to two working days. Officials made the pledge on Tuesday as lawmakers raised concerns over possible restrictions on media access during the first meeting of a Legislative Council subcommittee examining eight pieces of subsidiary legislation for the proposed land record search arrangement...

• Chinese University of Hong Kong to offer free AI dementia screening to 2,700 seniors (2026-11-03 10:37)

The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) will launch its first free, district-based dementia screening programme next year, using artificial intelligence (AI)-powered retinal imaging to detect early signs of cognitive decline in 2,700 older residents within two years. The programme will be implemented in Wong Tai Sin, which has one of the highest proportion of elderly residents among Hong Kong’s 18 districts. Participants identified as being at risk will be paired with volunteers to receive...

• Spanish police dismantle Madrid housing protest camp ahead of snap election (2026-11-03 10:28)

Police on Tuesday dismantled a sprawling tent camp in Madrid which had spearheaded protests over Spain’s housing crisis for more than a month and prompted early elections, police and activists said. Officers closed off much of the Spanish capital’s emblematic Puerta del Sol square on Tuesday morning as municipal cleaning staff swept away remaining debris, tents and tarpaulin. The Madrid camp sprang up in September, after Spain’s chronic housing crisis burst into the centre of public debate...

• Hong Kong homeowners prompt government rethink on proxy vote proposals (2026-11-03 10:04)

Hong Kong homeowners' pushback against proposals to limit proxy votes and restrict meeting attendance to relatives has prompted authorities to study alternatives to resolve estate management issues behind the deadly Tai Po fire. In a paper submitted to the Legislative Council on Tuesday, the Home and Youth Affairs Bureau revealed the findings of its month-long public consultation on amendments to the Building Management Ordinance, part of proposed reforms after the Wang Fuk Court fire that...

- Home-swapping holidays surge among China retirees to travel affordably, foster connections (2026-11-03 10:00)

A growing number of Chinese retirees are embracing home-swapping holidays, exchanging keys with strangers to travel on a budget and expand their social circles. The concept dates back to European teachers in the 1950s and gained global popularity through the 2006 film The Holiday. In China, it emerged among young people in 2023 amid soaring hotel prices. During China's National Day holiday in October, average per-person travel spending reportedly fell to about 894 yuan (US$135) per trip, a...

- China's HQ series intercepts 2 new missile types as PLA tests weapon platform (2026-11-03 10:00)

A People's Liberation Army air defence unit has for the first time intercepted two new types of missile simultaneously during a drill – including one that made a sudden change of direction, according to state television. The CCTV report on Monday said it was a rapid response operation by the ground-based Shenwei Missile Battalion – under the PLA Central Theatre Command Air Force – which is equipped with Hongqing surface-to-air missiles. It did not disclose the type of missiles intercepted or any...

- What is it? PNG says it's an artillery shell. China says it's a wine bottle (2026-11-03 09:59)

China's embassy in Papua New Guinea has disputed reports that a suspected Chinese-made artillery shell was found in a shipping container in Port Moresby, saying the object was instead a shell-shaped wine bottle. The embassy said in a social media post on Tuesday it was awaiting the official findings of an investigation by the Royal Papua New Guinea Constabulary (RPNGC). It cited an on-site verification by a company involved in the case, which said the object was a wine bottle. "It poses no...

- Mid-air helicopter collision on Nepal's Everest kills Indian tourist (2026-11-03 09:52)

An Indian tourist was killed and a New Zealand national injured when two helicopters collided and crashed while attempting to land in Nepal's Everest region on Tuesday, police said. There are few roads in the Himalayas, and helicopters are widely used to transport tourists, climbers and supplies, as well as carry out emergency evacuations. Nepal's challenging terrain and rapidly changing weather make aviation operations particularly hazardous. The small helicopters operated by Fishtail Air and...

• Fake ‘students’ at Indonesia police rally raise questions over efforts to counter dissent (2026-11-03 09:21)

A rally organised by Jakarta police to promote national unity has instead raised questions about whether the Indonesian government is using public events to blunt dissent, with questions raised over the identities of some participants after one admitted in a television interview that he had been paid to attend while posing as a university student. The controversy has fuelled criticism of what analysts describe as an intensifying effort to drown out opposing voices, while drawing attention to the...

• Japanese voters yearn for ‘strong politician’ like Trump, but without his showmanship (2026-11-03 09:15)

A new public opinion poll released on the eve of the US midterm elections indicates that while few Japanese favour President Donald Trump’s policies, most say they wish Japan had a “strong” head of state who could make difficult decisions. Analysts suggest that while many Japanese believe a strong leader will stand up for the nation on the world stage and not shy away from bold policies, this does not mean they want someone with the bombast, showmanship and arrogance associated with...

• Hong Kong seeks to balance finance growth against cyber risks (2026-11-03 09:01)

Chinese Vice-Premier He Lifeng said that building Hong Kong “remains a key strategy for China” as he outlined four ways for the city to boost its long-term prospects and support the country’s development. The city should strengthen its role as a centre for international finance and the offshore yuan market, promote high-quality economic and social development, support technological innovation and align with China’s 15th five-year plan, he said in a video address to the Global Financial Leaders’...

• ‘At some point it’s going to be too much’: global financiers grapple with AI risks (2026-11-03 09:00)

The artificial intelligence boom is creating an unprecedented demand for capital and infrastructure, raising questions about whether debt markets, power grids and corporate productivity can keep pace with the technology’s expansion, executives of global asset management firms warned at a Hong Kong summit. Investment in AI infrastructure could reach US$10 trillion over the next five years, approaching the size of the US$12 trillion US bond market, said Emmanuel Roman, CEO of Pimco. “At some point...

• Hong Kong records 15th straight quarter of growth as GDP rises 5.2% (2026-11-03 08:59)

Hong Kong’s economy grew by 5.2 per cent year on year in the third quarter, marking its 15th consecutive quarter of expansion, while retail sales rose by 6.4 per cent in September. For the first three quarters combined, the economy expanded by 5.1 per cent, its fastest growth for the period in five years, advance estimates released by the Census and Statistics Department on Tuesday showed. This compared with increases of 4.2 per cent in the second quarter and 5.9per cent in the first. On a...

• Singapore hit-and-run: organiser of fund for orphaned boy vows transparency (2026-11-03 08:50)

An organiser behind a fundraiser for a boy whose parents died in an alleged hit-and-run accident in Singapore has vowed transparency, thanking donors for their “overwhelming” kindness amid debate over the campaign’s authenticity. Farah Diyanah Razid, who identified herself as a family member of the victims on the crowdfunding platform Give.Asia, said all contributions collected through the drive were intended solely for the child’s welfare and future. The clarification came after social media...

• 2 Pakistani police officers guarding polio workers killed by suspected militants (2026-11-03 08:45)

Suspected militants riding a motorcycle shot and killed two police officers assigned to protect polio workers during a door-to-door vaccination campaign on Tuesday in northwestern Pakistan, officials said. The drive-by shooting in Mohmand, a district in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province that borders Afghanistan, also wounded a third officer. The police officers were travelling to a nearby village to guard vaccination teams when they came under fire, police officer Ayaz Khan said. The attackers fled...

• How Hong Kong can turn 30,000 youth placements into lasting careers (2026-11-03 08:30)

Hong Kong will launch a 30,000-place youth employment and internship programme in the first quarter of 2027. Before applications open, the government should decide what it is buying: a temporary increase in headcount or a durable increase in professional capability. The distinction matters because the entry-level labour market is already changing. According to an annual survey by Baptist University, the starting-pay advantage of bachelor’s degree holders over sub-degree graduates narrowed by 17...

• 2½ years' jail for Hong Kong district councillor who had sex with 13-year-old girl in 2011 (2026-11-03 05:46)

A Hong Kong district councillor has been sentenced to two years and six months in jail for having unlawful sex with a 13-year-old girl 15 years ago, with a judge noting he had shown no remorse towards a victim he claimed to have loved. District Court Judge Stanley Chan Kwong-chi on Tuesday noted that Sei Chun-hing, a 39-year-old Yuen Long District Council member, was aware of the "red line" of sex with a minor when they started dating in October 2010. At the time, she was 13 and Sei 23. Chan...

• Malaysia's halal chicken scandal exposes hygiene breaches at filthy plant (2026-11-03 04:40)

Malaysia's halal safeguards are under scrutiny after filthy conditions and suspected slaughtering breaches at a chicken plant sparked demands to explain how it ignored warnings and operated for years without certification. The hygiene failures at the Puchong facility came to light after authorities seized more than 6.5 tonnes of chicken during a raid last week. The factory, which processes more than 40,000 chickens daily and supplies businesses across the Klang Valley in Kuala Lumpur, is accused...

• US strikes Iran's Qeshm Island ahead of midterms as Trump says deal 'could happen' (2026-11-03 04:39)

The United States has attacked an Iranian island in the Strait of Hormuz, the latest in a series of covert, limited strikes ahead of the US midterm elections, as President Donald Trump signalled progress in talks with Tehran. Iran's Qeshm Island was struck on Monday, The Wall Street Journal reported, citing US officials, some of whom framed the strikes as defensive and aimed at deterring Tehran's attacks on commercial ships in the critical chokepoint. Iranian media reported that five blasts were...

• Beijing removes Hong Kong housing chief Winnie Ho after Tai Po fire resignation (2026-11-03 04:19)

Beijing has formally removed Hong Kong's housing chief, Winnie Ho Wing-yin, from her post, after she resigned last week to take political responsibility for the deadly Tai Po fire. According to the state-run Xinhua News Agency, the State Council removed Ho from office on Tuesday on the recommendation of Chief Executive John Lee Ka-chiu. The announcement gave no reason for the decision and did not name a successor. In a government statement, Lee said Ho had indicated she would "shoulder the...

• Xi Jinping meets foreign leaders: tracker, October 2026 (2026-11-03 04:19)

Chinese President Xi Jinping met four foreign leaders in October – two each from Africa and Europe – with the month dominated by the Communist Party Central Committee's fifth plenum. The pace will probably pick up in November. Xi has already met Oman's SultanHaitham bin Tariq, and he will host an Apec summit on November 18–19. The Shenzhen eventwill probably feature talks with US President Donald Trump, Russian President Vladimir Putinand other regional leaders.

- 'Speak last': China's fifth plenum moves to rein in party leaders (2026-11-03 03:59)

A key document endorsed by the Communist Party proposed stronger oversight of principal leaders below the central level, barring them from demanding personal allegiance from their leadership teams – a demand that is only for the top leaders. The proposal is part of a 17,000-word resolution approved at the fifth plenum of the 20th Central Committee, the full text of which was published by state news agency Xinhua on Sunday. The four-day plenum last week emphasised internal governance, discipline...

- New York state reports first measles-linked death in over 30 years (2026-11-03 03:55)

The New York State Department of Health said on Monday that a child in Lewis County had died in connection with an ongoing measles outbreak, marking the state's first known measles-associated death in more than 30 years. Last month, Governor Kathy Hochul declared a State Disaster Emergency in response to the measles outbreak across areas of New York and neighbouring states. "The Department has offered resources to Lewis County to assist with community outreach and support local vaccination...

- Tokenised gold bar to advance Hong Kong's ambitions as digital, metal trading hub (2026-11-03 03:54)

Hong Kong's plan to start an interbank tokenised gold transaction project marks a crucial step in its quest to make itself a key global hub for the precious metal, according to analysts. The city planned to launch a gold token representing a standard 400-ounce gold bar, referencing HAU, Hong Kong's ticker for gold prices launched earlier this year, said Secretary for Financial Services and the Treasury Christopher Hui Ching-yu during the annual Fintech Week event on Monday. He said the effort...

- Hong Kong will 'rethink playbook', offer stability amid global shifts: John Lee (2026-11-03 03:31)

Hong Kong is rewriting its economic playbook amid intensifying geopolitical tensions and the rapid advancement of artificial intelligence (AI), and is pivoting towards commodity trading, fintech and green finance, the city's leader has said, while pledging to provide stability for investors. Addressing the annual Global Financial Leaders' Investment Summit on Tuesday, Chief Executive John Lee Ka-chiu also said the city's first five-year plan was a long-term road map that provided market...

- South Korea rushes to reissue passports to President Lee, wife after data leak (2026-11-03 03:00)

South Korea's foreign ministry said on Tuesday it was taking steps to reissue passports for all 168 people affected by an online leak of sensitive personal information, including President Lee Jae Myung and first lady Kim Hea-kyung, as police investigate how the data was exposed. "The foreign ministry is swiftly taking measures to ensure the smooth reissuance of passports for all affected individuals, including the president and first lady," ministry spokesman Park Doo-soon said during a...

- Man, 61, arrested for allegedly spiking drink of Japanese DJ at Hong Kong nightclub (2026-11-03 02:53)

A 61-year-old Hong Kong man has been arrested for allegedly spiking the drink of Japanese disc jockey Mao Hamasaki at a Tsim Sha Tsui nightclub over the weekend, leaving her in intensive care. The police on Tuesday said that after investigations by the Yau Tsim crime squad, officers arrested the suspect in Central on Monday in relation to an alleged drugging attempt at PP Club on Mody Road the previous day. The man has been detained and is being investigated for allegedly administering poison...

- Learjet may have broken up before crashing in Florida, investigators say (2026-11-03 02:46)

The National Transportation Safety Board said on Monday a Learjet 60 that crashed on Sunday in a residential area in Palm Beach County, Florida, killing all nine people on board, may have broken up before hitting the ground at high speed. The private Bombardier-made jet had taken off from Austin, Texas, and was headed to the Bahamas. Heavy rainfall and thunderstorms were occurring in the area where it went down. Nasa Administrator Jared Isaacman, posting on X, highlighted the harrowing...

- Chinese delivery driver divorces American teacher he married 4 months after love confession (2026-11-03 02:00)

A food delivery driver from northeastern China, whose whirlwind marriage to an American teacher captivated social media, has announced their divorce. Liu Hao, 28, from Liaoning province, met Hannah Harris, 31, an English teacher from Alabama, in November 2024 after delivering food to her flat. Charmed by Liu, who greeted her in the lift with the simple English phrase "Hello, I love you," Harris soon bonded with him over their shared love of food, sport and pets. The relationship progressed...

- Is Sara Duterte's impeachment case being sped up due to Filipinos' 'growing impatience'? (2026-11-03 02:00)

The impeachment trial of Philippine Vice-President Sara Duterte-Carpio may soon draw to a close after the prosecution decided to drop several of her charges, a move that legal experts have said is intended to speed up the trial and secure a conviction by focusing on the strongest evidence against her. Beyond the trial, the decision could have significant political implications for the 2028 presidential race, with a swift verdict potentially removing a strong candidate, according to analysts. On...

• Hong Kong's malls must evolve into green sanctuaries to stay relevant (2026-11-03 01:30)

Retail is making a comeback in Hong Kong. Deloitte China reported an encouraging HK$203 billion (US$25.9 billion) in sales volume in the first half of 2026, beating expectations. Accordingly, they forecast the retail market to reach HK$412 billion by the end of this year. A retail revival should directly translate into reduced vacancies for the city's bricks-and-mortar stores. However, while high street vacancies dropped to 9.1 per cent, the lowest since 2020, vacancies in prime shopping centres...

• Australia jails Singaporean tourist for fatally driving over man who stole backpack (2026-11-03 01:20)

A 29-year-old Singaporean man was sentenced to five years and nine months' jail in Australia on Monday after he killed a man who stole a backpack from his rental car. Lincoln Ng Jing Kai chased the man in a car and knocked him off his e-bike before driving over him. He was originally charged with murder, but pleaded guilty to manslaughter in August after prosecutors agreed to accept the lesser charge. Sentencing him, Judge Terence Palmer said Ng's actions "involved an element of taking the law...

• China's Communist Party plenum targets passive 'nice' guys in anti-corruption push (2026-11-03 01:00)

China's ruling Communist Party has pledged to target "old nice persons" within its ranks as it steps up its anti-corruption drive ahead of a major leadership reshuffle next year. Rendered in Chinese as lao hao ren, the term refers to unprincipled, conflict-averse officials who turn a blind eye to misconduct to protect their own careers and social standing. A resolution adopted at the close of the party's 20th Central Committee's fifth plenum last week signalled a crackdown on this culture of...

• First Northern Metropolis Marathon trips up as runners hit out at poor arrangements (2026-11-03 00:30)

Water shortages, gruelling course conditions and a lengthy post-race walk marred Hong Kong's inaugural Northern Metropolis Marathon on Sunday, participants have said, prompting calls for organisers to overhaul arrangements if the event is to return. As the city seeks to establish itself as a premier hub for mega-events, experts warned the problems went beyond teething issues. They urged organisers to ensure they had the professional expertise required to host similar events in future. Organised...

• OpenAI executive urges caution in China-US AI talks, warns of distillation threats (2026-11-03 00:03)

A top OpenAI executive said on Monday that Washington needs to be "clear-eyed" and "aware" about sharing information with Beijing during coming talks on artificial intelligence

(AI), while also warning about the threat posed by alleged Chinese distillation attacks. “Be veryclear-eyed. Be very aware of what information you are able to expect in return for what you aresharing, and start to build a foundation,” said Caroline Zier, OpenAI’s deputy lead fornational security, during a discussion at...

- North Korea’s low-cost drone push exposes South Korea’s red tape trap (2026-11-03 00:00)

North Korea is rapidly advancing its drone warfare capabilities by drawing lessons from the Russia-Ukraine war, even as South Korea’s efforts to keep pace remain bogged down by procurement delays and bureaucratic red tape, observers warn. They also caution that cryptocurrency theft has become a crucial source of funding for Pyongyang’s weapons programmes, following US Federal Bureau of Investigation allegations that North Korean state-backed hackers stole more than US$6 billion from Binance, the...

- As sales slow, carmakers in China turn to overt marketing tactics and face controversy (2026-11-03 00:00)

Chinese carmakers’ marketing tactics are under the spotlight after a controversy surrounding a comment by an Xpeng employee drew harsh criticism from middle-aged consumers. The incident comes as regulators step up quality checks on the reliability of automotive companies, according to industry officials and analysts. During a live-streamed new model launch ceremony on October 15, an Xpeng product manager used the term “Lao Deng” – a slang term referring to middle-aged people who appear to be...

- US midterm elections 2026: all you need to know (2026-11-03 00:00)

Americans go to the polls on Tuesday, November 3, in midterm elections that could reshape the final two years of Donald Trump’s second term as president. Control of both chambers of Congress is in play, along with 36 governorships. Polls suggest Democrats go into the vote with an advantage, but the outcome will hinge on a few dozen closely fought races. More than 100 million people are expected to vote if turnout matches the 2022 midterms. By October 12, a record US$3.8 billion had been spent on...

- Sister of North Korea’s Kim slams FBI’s Binance hack allegations as ‘grave’ provocation (2026-11-02 23:40)

North Korea on Tuesday slammed the FBI’s allegations that Pyongyang was behind the theft of US$6 billion from cryptocurrency platform Binance, with Kim Jong-un’s powerful sister labelling it a “grave political provocation”. Kim Yo-jong, in a statement released on Tuesday by the KCNA state news agency, said the FBI’s claim was “absurd rhetoric and nothing new”, given earlier US allegations that North Korea was behind last year’s major hack of Bybit. “It is a grave political provocation against...

• Trump's approval rating is near a career low ahead of elections, poll finds (2026-11-02 23:11)

US President Donald Trump's approval rating held near a career low as a broad swathe of the US electorate saw their vote in Tuesday's congressional midterm elections as a way to oppose the Republican president, according to a Reuters/Ipsos poll completed on Monday. The poll results underscore Republican vulnerabilities brought on by a surge in fuel prices since Trump launched a war on Iran in February. Voters in the nationwide poll said they preferred Democrats over Republicans - 46 per cent to...

• Netanyahu is pressing Trump to attack Iran after US midterm elections, officials say (2026-11-02 22:16)

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu is pushing for another wave of strikes on Iran after Tuesday's midterm elections in the United States, according to two regional officials and a third person familiar with the matter. A return to full-scale war with Iran could help Netanyahu to form an emergency government after he and his far-right allies lost their parliamentary majority in last week's elections. US President Donald Trump has alternated between threatening major strikes while pushing...

• Will 'strategic stability' with China go out the window if Trump loses the midterms? (2026-11-02 22:00)

US President Donald Trump is likely to continue on a path of trying to stabilise ties with Beijing – even if the Democrats flip the House of Representatives, according to analysts. But they said if the Republicans lost control of the House in this week's midterm elections, the framework of "strategic stability" agreed to by Washington and Beijing could be put to the test. One Chinese academic warned that other Republicans could pose the biggest risk to Sino-American ties in Trump's final two...

• US judge dismisses Trump administration's Harvard race data admissions case (2026-11-02 21:49)

A federal judge on Monday dismissed a lawsuit by US President Donald Trump's administration seeking to force Harvard University to turn over records for an investigation into whether it continues to consider race in its student admissions process. US District Judge Myong Joun in Boston rejected the US Department of Justice's lawsuit, which Harvard contends was filed as part of a broader campaign by the Republican president's administration against the Ivy League school. The judge stressed that...

• Long delays for Hong Kong court cases demand urgent action (2026-11-02 21:30)

Justice delayed, it is often said, is justice denied. If that is true, many court users in Hong Kong are being failed by the system. Those involved in criminal cases at the Court of First Instance must wait 358 days on average for the hearing, the judiciary revealed last week. The figure for the District Court is 354 days, way above the court's 100-day target. This is a cause of concern.

The glacial process has prompted the Law Society to call for drastic measures. Justin YuenHoi-ying, chairman...

• US midterm elections: Trump ends campaign, calls Democrats ‘most dangerous ever’ (2026-11-02 21:29)

US President Donald Trump ended the midterm campaign season on Monday by calling the Democratic Party’s candidates the “most extreme and dangerous” in American history, the day before voters decide which party controls Congress. Speaking at the Lincoln Memorial Reflecting Pool in Washington, which reopened after a renovation by his administration, Trump called the elections “the most important midterm, I believe, in our lifetime”. “These are the most dangerous candidates ever put up,” he...

• As AI solves maths puzzles faster than humans, mathematicians face uncertain future (2026-11-02 20:31)

Artificial intelligence (AI) is now solving maths puzzles that have long stumped humans, prompting mathematicians around the world, including in China, to ponder not only whether machines will replace them, but also what achievement and research in their field will mean in the future. In early October, OpenAI released manuscripts showing progress on 372 categories of mathematical problems, including many which have long defied solutions. This week, the American AI firm announced three further...

• Lindsay Clancy back in court in bid to dismiss charges she killed her 3 young children (2026-11-02 20:14)

Lindsay Clancy returned to court on Monday in a bid to dismiss the charges that she murdered her three young children. The hearing on Monday was the second time the Massachusetts mother has been in court since her trial ended with a deadlocked jury in September after jurors were unable to agree on a verdict. Its focus was a motion from the defence to dismiss the charges on double jeopardy grounds. The proceedings grew heated as defence lawyer Kevin Reddington urged the judge to investigate the...

• Russia bombs aid centre and shelter in southern Ukraine, killing 24, authorities say (2026-11-02 19:06)

At least 24 people have been killed in a Russian air strike in Ukraine’s Zaporizhzhia region, civil defence authorities said on Monday. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky wrote on social media that another five people were injured in the attack on a school distributing humanitarian aid in Komyshuvakha. Zelensky described the strike as an “utterly horrific Russian attack”, saying the settlement had been hit several times by aerial bombs over the course of the day. Zelensky said Russia had...

• UK exempts carers from plan to impose long delays on migrants seeking residence (2026-11-02 18:21)

Britain watered down plans on Monday to impose long delays on immigrants seeking to receive permanent residence, announcing exemptions for hundreds of thousands of care workers to defuse a political outcry within the governing Labour Party. The government had announced plans last year to require lower-skilled workers to wait 10 to 15 years to receive permanent residence, up from five years previously. But under the plans unveiled on Monday, it said hundreds of thousands of workers in the care...

- Trump administration asks Supreme Court to set aside 20,000 disputed California ballots (2026-11-02 17:57)

On the eve of the US midterm elections, the Trump administration asked the Supreme Court on Monday to temporarily block California from counting mail-in ballots from more than 20,000 registered voters who federal officials allege are probably non-US citizens. Escalating a legal fight that could affect thousands of voters, the Justice Department filed the emergency request as it seeks to prevent counting the disputed ballots until each voter's citizenship status can be verified. A federal appeal...

- Martha Stewart sorry for 'insensitive' homeless Halloween costume post on social media (2026-11-02 17:03)

American lifestyle guru Martha Stewart has apologised for an "insensitive and not funny" Halloween costume after she appeared to dress up as a homeless person. "It's hard to admit when you've really screwed up," the billionaire, 85, wrote on Instagram after she deleted a photo of herself in ripped jeans, a torn jumper and a dirtied face. Stewart also held a clipboard that read "I Am Hungry Help Me!!" Social media users quickly slammed her as out of touch. "I know many people are suffering...

- Mother, 72, on trial in France over 1980s torture killing of 4-year-old daughter (2026-11-02 16:33)

A 72-year-old woman on Monday went on trial in France accused of torturing her four-year-old daughter to death in the 1980s, after a DNA match reopened the cold case. The main defendant walked briskly, head dropped and face hidden with a scarf, as she left the courtroom in the town of Blois at lunchtime, pursued by child rights activists crying "shame" and calling for justice. Her husband, a 74-year-old from whom she is now separated, earlier struggled up the courthouse's steps with a cane,...

- US Postal Service in sprint to deliver millions of ballots by Tuesday (2026-11-02 15:59)

From longer hours and extra staffing to special lines in its branches, the US Postal Service (USPS) is taking an array of special actions to make sure mail-in ballots for the midterm elections are counted on Tuesday. This year more than ever, the pressure is on the USPS to deliver. President Donald Trump ordered the agency to write rules that would bar it from delivering ballots if the states did not agree to turn over lists of eligible voters and some voters have expressed concern about...

• Northern Metropolis land clearance linked to surge in stray animals, study finds (2026-11-02 15:24)

Over 40 per cent of stray animals taken in by shelters in Hong Kong in the first half of the year came from the Northern Metropolis development area, a study has found, with volunteers warning that more than 1,000 face abandonment as land resumption accelerates. The Animal Welfare Advocacy Alliance, which released the findings on Monday, called for a review of euthanasia policies, the relaunch of a “trap-neuter-resettlement” programme, and the introduction of a positive duty of care for...

• Belgian government on the brink after budget talks collapse (2026-11-02 15:09)

Belgium’s King Philippe sought on Monday to defuse a political crisis after overnight budget talks collapsed, prompting Prime Minister Bart De Wever to offer his resignation. De Wever tendered his resignation during a 90-minute meeting with the king on Monday morning after coalition parties failed to break months of deadlock over next year’s budget. The Royal Palace said the king would consider De Wever’s offer but would also consult the leaders of the other coalition parties from Tuesday. “In...

• How Xi Jinping and Communist Party elders shaped key plenum document addressing wrongdoing (2026-11-02 15:00)

Retired cadres were consulted during the eight-month drafting of a landmark document on building China’s Communist Party endorsed at a major political meeting in Beijing last week, according to state media. A detailed account published by Xinhua on Monday gave a behind-the-scenes look into how the 20th Central Committee finalised its resolution on “persevering with full and rigorous party self-governance”, adopted at the fifth plenum, which ended on Thursday. The 17,000-Chinese character,...

• Japan weighs US$500 billion defence spending plan: sources (2026-11-02 14:45)

Japan’s government and ruling coalition are considering nearly doubling defence spending over the next five years as part of Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi’s push to strengthen the country’s military capabilities, according to two people familiar with the matter. If adopted, defence build-up spending for the five years from April 2027 would be set at 70 trillion to 80 trillion yen (US$457 billion to US$508 billion), up about 1.8 times from the roughly 43 trillion yen allocated under the...

• Supermarket fridges in Europe hit by new cyberattack: ‘everything is destroyed’ (2026-11-02 14:18)

A hacking attack on European supermarkets spread across the continent on Monday, hitting fridges and freezers from Sweden to Belgium and forcing stores to throw away food in an incident that echoed a similar attack in France last month. The attack, which raised temperatures in refrigerator and freezer units at dozens of stores, hit supermarket groups

Ahold Delhaize and Colruyt in Belgium and Luxembourg, as well as Swedish grocers ICA andCoop. Furniture-to-meatballs retailer Ikea also saw at...

• Asean seeks to sign FTA with EU. Can Singapore help resolve the Myanmar hurdle? (2026-11-02 13:30)

Singapore is pitching itself as a bridge between the European Union (EU) and Asean, as the two blocs continue their protracted discussions to seal a free trade agreement (FTA). However, Myanmar's political uncertainty is a major hurdle towards an EU-Asean FTA, and Singapore will have to play a key role to break the deadlock when it assumes the chairmanship of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations next year, according to an analyst. At a joint press conference with German Chancellor...

• China's EDA champion buys start-up to address weak link, support Huawei's Tau Scaling Law (2026-11-02 13:30)

Empyrean Technology, China's top provider of electronic design automation (EDA) tools, plans to acquire a majority stake in a domestic start-up, reinforcing Beijing's drive for tech self-sufficiency and bolstering support for Huawei Technologies' semiconductor ambitions. The Beijing-based firm said in a Shenzhen Stock Exchange filing on Sunday that it would acquire a 50.38 per cent stake in Easy-Logic Technology for 218.8 million yuan (US$33 million). Once completed, the start-up would be...

- Blogger may have revealed how many Z-10ME helicopters Pakistan bought from China (2026-11-02 13:05)

Pakistan's contract to buy Chinese Z-10ME attack helicopters covers 30 airframes, according to an image circulating on Chinese social media. The image was shared by a prominent military blogger on Sunday and marks the first time a concrete number for Pakistan's fleet of the helicopters has surfaced since Islamabad officially inducted them into service in August last year. In the post, the blogger known as Sashoujian said that on July 11 China National Aero-Technology Import and Export...

- China's fifth plenum: cadre promotion rules overhauled, focusing on problem-solving (2026-11-02 13:00)

China's ruling Communist Party has overhauled its personnel process in its search for clean and battle-tested cadres ahead of next year's major leadership reshuffle. New rules were included in a resolution adopted at the 20th Central Committee's fifth plenum last Thursday and published by state news agency Xinhua on Sunday. Analysts said that as provincial and ministerial reshuffles begin ahead of the 21st party congress, the fifth plenum sent a clear message: Beijing wants proven crisis...

• Laos banks on wind energy to power renewables push (2026-11-02 12:35)

Rising from verdant ridge lines of southern Laos, 133 Chinese-built wind turbines help power Vietnam’s surging growth and represent part of a regional rush to diversify energy sources. “The view is beautiful. They’re bigger than trees,” 23-year-old Toukta Phonsala said inside her wooden stilt house in Dak Wai village, her baby bouncing on her lap. Hydroelectric dams have proliferated across Southeast Asia in recent years, but production drops off in the dry season and critics lament the...

• Finland and Norway’s call to Putin tests European unity over Russia (2026-11-02 12:30)

When Finnish President Alexander Stubb and Norwegian Prime Minister Jonas Gahr Store called Russian President Vladimir Putin on October 27, they took an unusual diplomatic step at a time when direct high-level contact between European governments and Moscow has been limited. The call, initiated by the two Nordic leaders ahead of renewed peace negotiations, also drew criticism from Denmark over the lack of broader European coordination. The call did not signal a change in Finland or Norway’s...

• Raising the bar: Taiwan trims draft exemptions to add thousands to armed forces (2026-11-02 12:19)

Taiwan is tightening its military service exemption rules in a sweeping overhaul expected to halve the exemption rate and add thousands of conscripts to the armed forces each year as the island grapples with persistent manpower shortages. Under the revised standards, which took effect last week, men will generally be exempt on weight grounds only if their body mass index (BMI) exceeds 45, while the height threshold for exemption has been lowered to 144cm (4.7 feet). Rules covering hypertension...

• As UN peacekeeping mission in Western Sahara ends, refugees cling to hopes of return (2026-11-02 12:15)

At 51, Binina Mohamed is as old as the conflict that drove her from the Western Sahara region into a refugee camp in southern Algeria, where she has spent her life among tens of thousands of others facing a similar fate. The confrontation over her native land, often described as Africa’s longest-running territorial dispute, was brought back into focus this weekend by a UN Security Council row that led to the end of a decades-old peacekeeping mission there. The Western Sahara conflict pits...

The first person convicted in Hong Kong under the Beijing-imposed national security law and three others jailed in related high-profile cases have been released early, the South China Morning Post has learned. Sources said Tong Ying-kit, who was sentenced in July 2021 to nine years in prison for inciting secession and engaging in terrorist activities, had been granted early release. The news emerged three years after Tong expressed regret in an official television documentary produced by the...

- Talks are the only way out, China tells Iran as US threat hangs over Middle East (2026-11-02 11:45)

China's top diplomat has again stressed the need for a political settlement to strife in the Middle East, telling a senior Iranian official in Beijing on Monday that armed conflict was not the way out. "As conflicts in the Middle East drag on and risk further spillover, dialogue and negotiation remain the only viable path forward," Wang Yi told Ali Bagheri Kani, deputy secretary of Iran's Supreme National Security Council. "All parties should ⋯ focus on a political settlement in a rational and...

- Meta says it met Hong Kong privacy watchdog over AI-enabled glasses concerns (2026-11-02 11:39)

Meta Platforms has confirmed it discussed privacy concerns surrounding smart glasses with Hong Kong's privacy watchdog, as the US tech giant's AI-enabled eyewear goes on sale in the city amid mounting international scrutiny. The company briefed Hong Kong media on Monday, days after the Office of the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data (PCPD) warned that smart glasses could enable covert recording, excessive collection of personal data, and the processing of sensitive information through...

- China's CXMT defends bet on risky new DRAM architecture to circumvent US chip curbs (2026-11-02 11:30)

Chinese memory chip giant ChangXin Memory Technologies (CXMT) is pressing ahead with an alternative chip architecture that US rival Micron Technology has chosen to bypass, highlighting an industry divide over how best to pack more data onto silicon under cost and geopolitical constraints. The Hefei-based company planned to send customers samples of its first server-grade dynamic random-access memory (DRAM) product built on the $4F^2$ architecture by the end of this year, according to a summary of...

- French school protests resume on smaller scale as holidays end (2026-11-02 11:13)

French student protests resumed on Monday on a much smaller scale than in past weeks as pupils returned from a two-week break, with youngsters trying to blockade a few high schools in Paris, Marseille and Rennes, French media reported. By 0830 GMT some 41 high schools – about 1 per cent of those nationwide – were blockaded, the Education Ministry said. Hundreds of France's more than 3,000 high schools were blockaded in the weeks before the break. The protests, which began in the Paris suburbs...

• Japan launches new national agency to boost disaster response (2026-11-02 10:47)

Japan on Monday launched a new national agency focused on disaster management with the goal of making the country better prepared should there be a megaquake along the Pacific coast or in Tokyo, or an eruption of Mount Fuji. More than 350 workers at the National Disaster Management Agency will oversee preparedness, emergency response and reconstruction efforts. The agency is not being created in anticipation of any specific calamity, but rather is meant to fill a gap amid worries about whether...

• Turkey signed US-led Artemis Accords. Its moon rovers will hitch a ride with China (2026-11-02 10:14)

Turkey has signed America's rule book for the moon, but its first ride to the lunar south pole – the icy region both Washington and Beijing are racing to reach – will probably come from China. A team of more than 120 students and professors at Middle East Technical University (METU) in Ankara has built prototypes of two AI-powered rovers for Chang'e-8, a Chinese mission originally planned for 2028. Turkey is not part of the International Lunar Research Station, a base China plans to build on the...

• Hong Kong police arrest man after hit-and-run at checkpoint sparks 10-hour hunt (2026-11-02 10:10)

Hong Kong police arrested a man on suspicion of furious driving after a 10-hour manhunt sparked by a hit-and-run crash at a cross-boundary checkpoint in the early hours of Monday. Police said a car hit a barrier gate at the Hong Kong-Zhuhai-Macau Bridge checkpoint at 1.17am. The incident was classified as a damage-only traffic accident and a hit-and-run. Officers located the car near Hoi Wing Road in Tuen Mun's Castle Peak area at about 10.30am and gave chase, intercepting it on Hoi Wong Road at...

• Beijing doubles down on Type 071 amphibious warships, signalling a Taiwan focus (2026-11-02 10:06)

Beijing is accelerating production of its Type 071 amphibious transport docks by expanding construction to a second shipyard, potentially strengthening its ability to move troops and military equipment across the Taiwan Strait in a conflict. The expansion comes amid long-standing United States assessments that Beijing lacks enough landing ships and logistical support for a large-scale assault on Taiwan, suggesting the People's Liberation Army (PLA) may be moving to address a significant...

• How Hong Kong's fintech strategy is progressing – and where growth still lags (2026-11-02 10:00)

Hong Kong has touted rapid progress in the first year of its five-year fintech strategy, pledging to double down on artificial intelligence and tokenisation even as many initiatives face the challenge of achieving commercial scale. Tokenisation, for instance, had moved from the sandbox "into the real world", said Eddie Yue Wai-man, chief executive of the Hong Kong Monetary Authority (HKMA), at the city's annual FinTech Week conference on Monday. Hong Kong had authorised 17 tokenised public funds...

• Millions in China moved by student who quit school to care for seriously ill mother (2026-11-02 09:55)

Millions of people in China were moved by the story of a secondary school graduate who put off university to care for her seriously ill mother – and of the classmates who donated their treasured collections to help her. Cao Feng, a graduating student at Yuwang Secondary School in central China's Anhui province, recently decided to give up her place at university so she could care for her mother, who is hospitalised in Shanghai. Cao's mother, Cuiping, 47, has generalised myasthenia gravis, a...

• India offers Asean counterterrorism lessons, but will one size fit all? (2026-11-02 09:38)

As India seeks to expand its security cooperation with Southeast Asia by sharing its battle-tested counterterrorism expertise, defence analysts say its experience would only partly meet Asean's needs given the differences in threat perception and domestic priorities. Indian Defence Minister Rajnath Singh made the offer at the Asean Defence Ministers' Meeting-Plus (ADMM-Plus) in Cebu on Thursday. Citing Operation Sindoor as an example of India's counterterrorism capabilities, he offered to share...

• China and Oman unite in Mideast peace call on sultan's 'historic' Beijing visit (2026-11-02 09:20)

China and Oman have called for a peaceful resolution and full ceasefire between the US and Iran, stressing that safe passage through the Strait of Hormuz must be restored. The call came during talks in Beijing on Monday between Chinese President Xi Jinping and Oman's Sultan Haitham bin Tariq. In their joint statement, Beijing and Muscat encouraged the United States and Iran to resume dialogue and reach a "comprehensive agreement that includes the nuclear issue". The two sides also affirmed that...

• Beijing launches US$15b asset swap to support China's markets after sell-off (2026-11-02 09:15)

China's central bank announced on Monday it would start a fresh round of a swap facility that would channel about US$15 billion into the struggling onshore stock market, after its worst monthly sell-off in a decade dealt a heavy blow to investor confidence and threatened to add new risks to the country’s financial system. The People’s Bank of China will start theone-year swap on Tuesday. The facility allowed institutional investors to exchange illiquid assetsfor liquid ones with the central...

• Beijing urges Hong Kong to bring in more governance talent with integrity, competence (2026-11-02 09:11)

Beijing’s office overseeing Hong Kong affairs has called on the city to improve its systems for nurturing, appointing and managing governance talent as a way to bring in more personnel with integrity and competence into the governing team. In a commentary, the theoretical study group of the State Council’s Hong Kong and Macau Affairs Office (HKMAO) stressed that the city would only enjoy more room to open up and develop when national security was firmly safeguarded. It urged greater attention to...

• The Apec moment Hong Kong needs to seize (2026-11-02 08:30)

The first Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (Apec) forum finance ministers’ meeting to be held in Hong Kong focused on openness, cooperation and resilience. These themes go to the heart of a question confronting the city: as globalisation becomes more difficult and the rules and security boundaries governing international markets grow more complex, what can Hong Kong still offer cross-border commerce? Globalisation is not over. Capital still seeks opportunities overseas, while technology,...

• As BYD and Geely hit sales highs, pressure mounts on China’s smaller carmakers (2026-11-02 08:00)

China’s two largest carmakers, BYD and Geely Auto, recorded their strongest monthly sales of the year in October, bucking a downward trend in the world’s largest automotive market as smaller rivals come under increasing pressure to turn a profit. Shenzhen-based electric vehicle (EV) giant BYD handed over 490,168 cars to customers at home and abroad last month, up 11 per cent year on year, while Hangzhou-headquartered Geely delivered 310,183 petrol and electric cars worldwide in the same period,...

• Japanese ex-adult film actress recalls ‘terror’ after alleged drugging in Hong Kong (2026-11-02 07:53)

Former Japanese adult film actress Mao Hamasaki has spoken out about the “terror” and “harm” of drugs after fighting for her life when she consumed a suspected spiked drink while performing as a disc jockey in Hong Kong on Sunday. Hamasaki, who is recovering in hospital, wrote in Japanese on her social media X account that she would be examined by a psychiatrist on Monday afternoon. “And if all goes well, I should be able to be discharged,” she said. “My consciousness is completely clear, and I...

• Tempers fray as thousands of Bangladeshi garment workers protest for pay rise (2026-11-02 07:29)

Thousands of Bangladeshi garment workers blocked a major highway and clashed with police on Monday, demanding a monthly minimum wage more than double their current pay, as protests spread across industrial hubs. The South Asian nation of 170 million people is the world's second-biggest garment exporter behind China, manufacturing clothes for some of the largest international brands. Hundreds of workers in Gazipur, north of the capital Dhaka, blocked the Dhaka-Tangail highway, vandalising several...

• China touts AI milestone: models generate more tokens than used in training (2026-11-02 07:00)

For the first time, the amount of inference data generated by artificial intelligence systems in China has surpassed the amount of data used to train those systems, according to a new government-backed report, illustrating how the country is increasingly adopting AI at scale. The report released on Saturday by the China Centre for Information Industry Development (CCID), which operates under China's Ministry of Industry and Information Technology (MIIT), cited recent official data showing that...

• Iran warns new war with US could last longer as Trump threatens ‘the hammer’ (2026-11-02 05:58)

Iran warned on Sunday that any renewed war with the United States could last longer than the previous round of fighting, after US President Donald Trump said he still had to “take care” of more targets. Diplomatic efforts to end the Middle East war have been punctuated by repeated threats from the United States and Israel to resume bombardments as they hold crucial elections. “A potential future war could last longer than [the] previous conflict, and the American president would not be in a...

• Launch of global legal body’s office in Hong Kong seals city’s law hub status: John Lee (2026-11-02 05:48)

The opening of the first regional office of an international legal body in Hong Kong will cement the city’s position as a global law hub, support its drive to attract global organisations and talent while deepening regional cooperation in legal issues, Chief Executive John Lee Ka-chiu has said. Lee’s remarks came as the International Institute for the Unification of Private Law (Unidroit), an independent intergovernmental body that aims to modernise and coordinate cross-border private law,...

• How South Korea can play pivotal role in Philippines’ military modernisation drive (2026-11-02 05:41)

The Philippines’ military modernisation drive could offer South Korea an opportunity to transform its role as a major arms supplier into a deeper defence partnership, analysts say. This prospect gained fresh momentum after Philippine Defence Secretary Gilberto Teodoro Jnr and his South Korean counterpart, Kang Shin-chul, agreed to deepen cooperation in military modernisation, defence technology and joint training on the sidelines of an Asean security summit in Cebu last week. Teodoro reaffirmed...

• New renovation body will draw legitimate contractors back to market, sector says (2026-11-02 05:31)

Hong Kong’s new renovation monitoring body will encourage legitimate consultants and contractors previously plagued by intimidation from bid-rigging syndicates to return to the market, industry representatives have said, potentially lowering costs for homeowners in the long run. Renovation and construction sector players said on Monday that the new Building Maintenance Support and Services Council, headed by Financial Secretary Paul Chan Mo-po, would heighten scrutiny of the tendering process,...

• Malaysian police probe viral video of father slapping woman who allegedly hit his children (2026-11-02 04:32)

Malaysian police have launched an investigation into a fight at a shopping centre in Kuala Lumpur after a viral video showed a man slapping a woman who allegedly assaulted his two young children. While police have not officially identified the venue, social media users claim the incident took place at the Ombak KLCC shopping centre. The 35-second clip circulating on social media shows a heated argument between the pair after the man confronted the woman over her actions. The altercation turns...

• Police armed with assault rifles patrol Sydney in Australian first after Bondi attack (2026-11-02 04:20)

A new police unit armed with military assault rifles has begun patrolling the streets of Sydney, in an Australian-first measure set up in response to the Bondi Beach attack last December. The Armed Response Command (ARC) would deploy at major events, crowded public spaces, sporting venues and places of worship to conduct "high visibility" patrols, New South Wales state police said. The move comes after two men opened fire on a Jewish celebration at the famous beach, killing 15 people in an...

• To fly or not to fly: Chinese mechanic reports short-lived GE engine blades in Boeing 787 (2026-11-02 04:00)

A Chinese aviation specialist has reported that some high-pressure turbine blades in US-made GE Aerospace engines powering Boeing 787 aircraft have suffered unexpectedly early damage, leaving airlines with a difficult choice: replace the engines or continue flying under strict inspection requirements. The findings raise questions about the reliability of American aerospace products amid growing scrutiny of US manufacturing quality. According to the study, cracks can develop in some blades within...

• 2 cleaning firm executives charged for taking HK$75 million in bribes from supplier (2026-11-02 03:37)

Hong Kong's corruption watchdog has charged two former senior executives of a Hong Kong-listed cleaning company with allegedly accepting more than HK$75 million (US$9.6 million) in bribes linked to the procurement of cleaning vehicles and their maintenance services. William Fung Chi-wang, 54, former director of Johnson Cleaning Services Company and former chief executive of its parent firm, and Jimmy Lee Sai-leung, 57, the company's ex-general manager, were charged last Friday with one count of...

• Indian royals carve out new calling decades after losing their thrones (2026-11-02 03:01)

In a sprawling palace in western India, the "queen" or Maharani of Baroda welcomes guests with fragrant rose petals, presenting torchlit dances of Hindu myths. Dressed in glittering finery, Radhikaraje Gaekwad is a queen in name only, a modern businesswoman presiding over a world her ancestors once ruled. "The key has been that we have adapted," the 48-year-old said in her vast Lakshmi Vilas Palace, describing how India's former royals have found new roles, from cultural ambassadors to...

• Exhausted Chinese working mums book solo hotel stays to escape childcare and sleep (2026-11-02 02:25)

Across China, a growing number of middle-aged working mothers are quietly checking into hotel rooms alone, desperate to get a few hours of uninterrupted sleep. Caught between demanding daytime jobs and an exhausting "second shift" of housework and parenting, many women see these solo hotel stays as their only real escape, according to multiple mainland reports. One 34-year-old mother, who lives with her husband, in-laws, and kindergarten-age daughter, shared on RedNote that she had no personal...

• In South Korea, Lee's overseas trips fuel familiar battle over presidential perks (2026-11-02 02:12)

President Lee Jae Myung's overseas trips have again drawn attention to South Korea's shifting political standards, adding to a familiar cycle of disputes over presidential golf and the presidential plane whenever power passes between conservative and liberal administrations. The controversies centre on taxpayer money and the public's attitudes towards presidential privilege, with governing parties defending certain activities as necessary for diplomacy or official duties and the opposition...

• What can Cambridge teach Hong Kong about building university towns? (2026-11-02 02:00)

Strong government-industry partnership and interdisciplinary education are what make a university town financially viable and successful, the head of a University of Cambridge college has said, sharing the UK's experience as Hong Kong develops its Northern Metropolis plan. In an interview with the South China Morning Post, Professor Girish Menon, president of Lucy Cavendish College, said Hong Kong's cosmopolitan character made it "best placed" to place young people at the heart of its university...

• Apec China summit: from traffic curbs to tree planting, Shenzhen's plans enter final phase (2026-11-02 02:00)

Construction workers have been working late into the night in downtown Shenzhen as the city makes its final preparations for the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation summit in two weeks' time. On a weekday night, a South China Morning Post reporter saw at least 50 construction workers gathered at an intersection about 1km (just over half a mile) from the Apec venues in the central district of Futian, laying down pebbles and planting trees along the pavements. The main road that leads up to the...

Michael Mann, the acclaimed director of crime classics Heat and Collateral, accidentally shot himself at a gun range in Los Angeles, resulting in minor injuries, a statement released on Sunday said. "On Saturday, at a gun range, a weapon accidentally discharged while holstered resulting in a superficial injury to film director Michael Mann. He was treated and is being released," a representative of the filmmaker said in a statement. The Los Angeles Police Department confirmed that they had...

• Why reforms alone won't prevent a repeat of Tai Po fire (2026-11-02 01:30)

In the end, it was Winnie Ho Wing-yin, housing secretary at the time of the Wang Fuk Court fire in Tai Po, who took the rap. Her resignation came after weeks of talk within political circles suggesting that bureau chiefs would not have to bear responsibility for the tragedy that killed 168 people and displaced 1,984 families. These suggestions were met with shock. Some spoke out against such talk, including Andrew Fung Wai-kwong, former information coordinator for the Chief Executive's Office,...

• Has Hong Kong's IPO boom hit a wall – or is a year-end rush still to come? (2026-11-02 01:00)

Hong Kong's initial public offering (IPO) momentum has cooled sharply in the fourth quarter amid market volatility and tighter regulatory scrutiny, but industry players say a year-end rush of listings could still help the city secure a top-three global ranking for 2026. The market has slowed significantly since October, with only three new listings, all of which closed below their offer prices on debut. Two other IPO candidates shelved their listings after completing procedures, testing Hong...

• North Korean hackers behind Japan's massive GMO data leak, investigation finds (2026-11-02 00:58)

An analysis by Japan's GMO Internet Group found that a North Korea-linked hacking group was likely behind the cyberattack on the company last month, sources close to the matter said, citing characteristics of the malware used and other traces left by the perpetrators. The company appears to have already reported the matter to the government and will now focus on determining the full circumstances. Kyodo News, working with security experts, also found that five IP addresses used to access a...

Top university research, cross-border data exchanges and access to mainland China's large market have attracted Japanese firm Rohto Pharmaceutical to conduct clinical trials in Hong Kong, making it the first company from the country to partner with the city's government under a flagship investment initiative. Rohto, known for its over-the-counter eye care and skincare products, is among the latest batch of 18 firms recruited by the Office for Attracting Strategic Enterprises (OASES), a...

• Will losing US midterms see Trump double down or signal beginning of the end? (2026-11-02 00:00)

Tuesday's US midterm election is both hugely consequential and not so consequential even as the world waits to see the American voters' verdict on Donald Trump's presidency – and the impact that verdict will have on his temperament, plans and possible petulant response, analysts and former government officials said. On the one hand, an expected strong showing by opposition Democrats could bring more Congressional scrutiny over some of the most unconventional, maximalist and disruptive policies...

• Humans vs AI art: why game studios hire Southeast Asian talent (2026-11-02 00:00)
