Executive Summary

Indonesia experienced a dynamic security landscape from June 20-27, 2026, marked by significant internal and external developments. A major cyberattack on the Temporary National Data Center (PDNS 2) in Surabaya disrupted critical government services, highlighting severe cybersecurity vulnerabilities, while widespread anti-government protests erupted in Surabaya and Jakarta over fuel price hikes and government policies. Militarily, Indonesia continued its defense modernization efforts, with ongoing discussions for Su-35 fighter acquisitions and the formal intent to procure MSAM-II missile systems. Diplomatically, Indonesia actively engaged in multilateral exercises like RIMPAC 2026 and strengthened bilateral security cooperation with nations such as Pakistan and South Korea, underscoring its commitment to regional stability and a non-aligned foreign policy. The period also saw tragic fatalities during military reserve component training, prompting calls for immediate review and independent investigation.

Key Security Developments

- Fatalities in Reserve Component Training

Four participants tragically died during the 30-day basic military training conducted under Indonesia's Defence Ministry's reserve component program between June 20 and June 26, 2026. Incidents included a death from heat stroke in Balikpapan, East Kalimantan, cardiac arrest in Baturaja, South Sumatra, and health complications and breathing difficulties in Jakarta. Rights group Amnesty International Indonesia has called for an immediate halt to the program and an independent investigation into the shortcomings that contributed to these deaths.

- RIMPAC 2026 Participation

The Indonesian Navy (TNI AL) deployed 35 personnel from the Marine Corps to Hawaii, United States, arriving on June 24, 2026, to participate in the 30th Rim of the Pacific (RIMPAC) multilateral exercise. This participation aims to strengthen Indonesia's military ties with partner countries, enhance personnel capacity, and broaden professional knowledge in a prestigious international setting.

- Readiness for Gaza Peacekeeping Mission

Indonesia's military announced that up to 8,000 troops are expected to be ready by the end of June 2026 for a potential deployment in a humanitarian and peace mission to Gaza. This deployment is part of the U.S.-backed International Stabilization Force (ISF), with Indonesia entrusted with the position of Deputy Operations Commander, under the clear national caveat that Indonesian forces will not participate in offensive combat operations.

- Strengthening Naval Ties with Pakistan

On June 25, 2026, the Indonesian Navy and the Pakistan Navy agreed to deepen military cooperation and strengthen bilateral ties during discussions held in Surabaya, East Java. The talks focused on enhancing maritime security and defense collaboration amidst evolving strategic challenges in regional waters, marking an opportunity to exchange views on the maritime strategic environment.

- Counter-terrorism Partnership with South Korea

Indonesia's National Counterterrorism Agency (BNPT) and South Korea's National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) formalized a shared commitment through a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) signed on June 18, 2026. This agreement aims to step up cooperation in tackling terrorism risks, strengthen coordination, and exchange knowledge and experience in counterterrorism efforts to safeguard peace and stability in the Indo-Pacific region.

- Regional Security Discussions with Australia

Indonesia and Australia engaged in discussions to strengthen regional security at the 21st DGICM + Australia Consultation, held in Siem Reap, Cambodia, from June 22-25, 2026. Key agendas included secure information sharing, immigration data interoperability, cyber resilience, and operational cooperation against online scams and transnational crime.

- Anti-Government Protests in Surabaya

On June 26, 2026, approximately 100 people gathered near a government building in Surabaya to protest President Prabowo Subianto's policies, specifically a fuel price hike and the free meals scheme. Some demonstrators hurled rocks towards police and set fire to rubbish, leading to dozens of arrests, with similar protests having occurred in Jakarta earlier in the month.

- Major Cyberattack on National Data Center

On June 20, 2026, the Temporary National Data Center (PDNS) 2 in Surabaya was hit by a ransomware attack identified as Brain Cipher, a variant of LockBit 3.0. This incident severely disrupted critical government services, including immigration, and the attackers demanded an $8 million ransom, which the Indonesian government has refused to pay.

- Continued Discussions on Su-35 Fighter Acquisition

Russia and Indonesia are continuing discussions regarding the probable delivery of Su-35 fighters. This development follows Indonesia's official withdrawal in February 2026 from the program for the supply of F-15IDN fighters from the United States, indicating a potential shift in defense procurement strategy.

- MSAM-II Missile System Letter of Intent

Indonesia issued a Letter of Intent (LOI) on May 18, 2026 (publicly known on June 8, 2026), to LIG Defense & Aerospace, indicating its intention to procure two fully operational medium-range surface-to-air missile batteries (MSAM-II Cheongung II). This acquisition aims to establish layered defensive envelopes against aerodynamic and ballistic threats, enhancing Indonesia's air defense capabilities.

- North Natuna Sea Maritime Security

On June 10, 2026, Natuna's local government and the Indonesian Navy strengthened coordination to safeguard fishermen following reports of suspected foreign fishing vessels operating in the North Natuna Sea, an area bordering Malaysia and Vietnam. This initiative aims to address concerns about foreign vessels impacting local catches and to improve communication support for fishermen at sea.

- Drug Trafficking Networks Dismantled

Indonesia's anti-narcotics agency, in collaboration with the military and police, dismantled 59 drug trafficking networks, including seven international syndicates, over the past year. This comprehensive law enforcement crackdown, highlighted in a statement on June 27, 2026, intercepted over 200 tons of illegal narcotics with an estimated street value of 29 trillion rupiah.

Geopolitical Impact and Regional Dynamics

Indonesia's security developments during this period reflect a complex and increasingly active diplomatic and defense posture amidst a shifting global order. President Prabowo Subianto's administration has pursued a strategy of strengthening ties with a diverse range of countries, including France, the United States, Russia, and Middle Eastern nations, while reaffirming ASEAN centrality. This "diplomacy of resilience" aims to navigate a fraying world order and diversify supply chains, as exemplified by the metals downstreaming pact with Switzerland, which cited geopolitical developments as a reason for seeking non-traditional partners.

In the South China Sea, Indonesia continues to assert its position, pushing for the completion and signing of a Code of Conduct (CoC) by the end of 2026 to manage behavior and prevent escalation. However, China's "grey-zone tactics" in the North Natuna Sea, involving civilian activities and maritime law enforcement, continue to test Indonesia's sovereignty and its long-held stance of not being a party to the dispute. Recent reports of Indonesia reaching an "important common understanding on joint development in areas of overlapping claims" with China could signal a nuanced shift in Jakarta's approach, potentially undermining its traditional position.

The Strait of Malacca has gained elevated geopolitical importance, particularly since early 2026, due to the destabilization of the Strait of Hormuz. Indonesia's partial control over this vital maritime chokepoint positions it as a significant player in global trade and energy transit. The ongoing efforts with Malaysia to build an integrated security framework for the Malacca Strait, focusing on real-time intelligence sharing and coordinated regulation, underscore the region's recognition of its strategic value and the need for a unified response to complex challenges like illicit trade and underwater surveillance. Indonesia's participation in the US-led RIMPAC 2026 exercise and its readiness to contribute to the US-backed International Stabilization Force in Gaza demonstrate its continued engagement with Western security initiatives, even as it maintains defense discussions with Russia. This balancing act highlights Indonesia's commitment to a non-aligned hedging posture, seeking to maximize its strategic maneuvering space while avoiding exclusive alliances.

Military and Defense Analysis

Indonesia's military and defense posture during this period reflects a concerted effort towards modernization and capability development, driven by an acknowledgment of global geopolitical uncertainty. President Prabowo Subianto has consistently emphasized the need to strengthen defense capabilities as a deterrent, stating that Indonesia has no interests other than protecting its own territory.

Recent defense acquisitions are central to this modernization. While Indonesia officially withdrew from the F-15IDN fighter program with the United States in February 2026, discussions with Russia for the probable delivery of Su-35 fighters are ongoing. This indicates a diversification in its procurement sources. Furthermore, Indonesia issued a Letter of Intent (LOI) in May 2026 for the acquisition of the MSAM-II Cheongung II medium-range surface-to-air missile system from South Korea. This system is intended to create layered interception zones, significantly enhancing Indonesia's air defense against both aerodynamic and ballistic threats. The country has also received batches of French-made Rafale jets, with additional deliveries in May 2026, further bolstering its air force capabilities.

In terms of force posture, the Indonesian Marine Corps' participation in the RIMPAC 2026 exercise in Hawaii demonstrates an ongoing commitment to enhancing interoperability with international partners and improving personnel capacity through multilateral drills. Domestically, the readiness of up to 8,000 Indonesian troops for a potential humanitarian and peace mission in Gaza, where Indonesia is slated to serve as Deputy Operations Commander, highlights its capacity for international peacekeeping operations. However, the recent fatalities during military reserve component training in various locations, including Balikpapan, Baturaja, and Jakarta, raise serious concerns about training protocols, health screening, and participant welfare, prompting calls for a comprehensive review and independent investigation. These incidents underscore the importance of balancing rapid force expansion and modernization with robust safety and oversight mechanisms.

Outlook and Forecast

In the short term (1-3 months), Indonesia is likely to continue its active diplomatic engagement, particularly in regional forums concerning maritime security and counter-terrorism. The push for a Code of Conduct in the South China Sea will remain a key diplomatic priority, with Indonesia seeking to finalize the agreement by year-end. Domestically, the fallout from the cyberattack on the National Data Center will necessitate urgent action to bolster cybersecurity infrastructure and potentially accelerate the passage of comprehensive cybersecurity legislation. The ongoing protests against government policies, particularly fuel price hikes, indicate a persistent risk of social unrest, which authorities will need to manage carefully.

Critical flashpoints and risk areas include the North Natuna Sea, where continued suspected foreign fishing vessel incursions and China's "grey-zone tactics" could lead to increased maritime tensions. The effectiveness of the government's response to the recent cyberattack and its ability to prevent future breaches will be a critical indicator of national security resilience. Furthermore, the public and political reaction to the fatalities during military training will determine the future of such reserve component programs and could impact public trust in defense institutions. The potential deployment of Indonesian peacekeepers to Gaza, while a humanitarian effort, also carries inherent risks in a volatile conflict zone.

Indicators to monitor include the progress of the Cybersecurity and Cyber Resilience (KKS) Bill in the House of Representatives, the outcomes of the Defence Ministry's review of military training programs, and any further diplomatic or military actions in response to South China Sea developments. The implementation of defense acquisition plans, such as the MSAM-II missile system, and the finalization of fighter jet deals will also be crucial indicators of Indonesia's long-term defense modernization trajectory. Strategically, Indonesia should prioritize a multi-pronged approach: investing heavily in cybersecurity infrastructure and human capital, enhancing maritime domain awareness and enforcement capabilities in its Exclusive Economic Zone, and maintaining a balanced, non-aligned foreign policy that allows for cooperation with diverse partners while firmly asserting national interests. Ensuring transparency and accountability in all defense and security operations, particularly military training, will be vital for maintaining public confidence and internal stability.
